CASE OPENS FOR OAK BAY FRANCHISE

Authority Is Asked From House to Empower Operation of Veterans Company Buses

DECLARES OPPONENTS LOST OPPORTUNITY

District Council Joins With Transportation Company in Application for Bill

APPROVAL of the private bills committee of the Legislature to a private bill to authorize and empower the Corporation of the District of Oak Bay to enter into an agreement, dated January 16, 1930, with the Veterans' Sightseeing & Transportation Company, Limited, giving the Veterans' company the exclusive franchise for seven years to operate motor buses in Oak Bay, with the option of a renewal for another five years, provided the agreement is carried out to the entire satisfaction of the Oak Bay Council, was sought by the Oak Bay Council and the Veterans' Company at the session of the private bills committee yesterday.

Reeve Ernest C. Hayward and other members of the Oak Bay Council expressed themselves as being strongly in support of the bill. They stated that it was only after every endeavor, but without success, had been made to induce the B.C. Electric Railway Company to extend transportation facilities to the outlying portions of the municipality, that the Oak Bay Council decided to enter negotiations with other companies willing to provide such a service.

Submission of the case on behalf of Oak Bay municipality and the Veterans' Sightseeing & Transportation Company occupied the entire session. The committee will convene again at 10 a.m. today, when the B.C. Electric Railway Company will present to the committee reasons for its opposition to the passage of the bill.

Mr. H. A. Maclean, K.C., and Mr. E. H. M. Foot are counsel for the Veterans' Sightseeing & Trans-

Confidence Is Still Felt Conference Will Succeed Though Hard Task Remains

By EDWARD PRICE BELL
(Copyright, 1930, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service.)

LONDON, Feb. 25.—Success, not failure, still may be regarded as the probable outcome of the Five-Power Naval Conference here. In The Daily Colonist of January 16, I reported "calm assurance that work of lasting international value will be accomplished marks the expressions of the ablest observers in London."

Four days later I wrote, "Determination that difficulties of no sort shall defeat the purpose of Great Britain, Japan and America to achieve important results clearly lies at the back of the minds of the official representatives of those countries." And on February 14, "All the deeper forces at the conference continue to warrant confidence in a favorable issue of the delicate and difficult discussions."

VICISSITUDES EXPERIENCED

Those statements are at least as true today as they were when cabled. Vicissitudes have intervened. Not a little bluffing has run its course. First words have been spoken, and spoken generally with every appearance of finality. There has been some "fury" in high official quarters here and there. Some it possibly was genuine; a good deal of it probably was rather theatric. Anyhow, last, not first, are what will determine the issue at St. James' Palace.

Believe Curse Of Pharaoh to Still Be Busy

(Associated Press)

LONDON, Feb. 25.—Two more deaths which the superstitious were inclined to associate with the opening of Tut-Ankh-Amen's tomb were attracting attention here today.

As a hearse was bearing the body of the late Lord Westbury to a crematorium today, it knocked down and killed an eight-year-old boy, Joseph Gree. Lord Westbury had committed suicide Saturday and his act was ascribed by many to the curse of the Pharaohs. His son, Hon. Richard Bethell, died last November after serving as secretary to Hon. Howard Carter, who opened the tomb.

The other death today was that of Edgar Steele, fifty-seven, a worker in the British Museum who cared for some of the relics from the Tombs of Luxor.

A museum official scouted the suggestion that there was anything sinister in Steele's death, however, and Hon. Mr. Carter declared that the curse is nothing but a myth.

Poultry Carlots Handled by Pool Total Thousand

EDMONTON, Alta., Feb. 25.—A total of 1,056 carlots of eggs and poultry were handled by the Canadian Poultry Pool during 1929, according to a report delivered by Mr. W. A. Landreth, of Winnipeg, president and managing director, at the annual conference of the executive drawn from the four Western provinces now in session here. The total comprised 820 cars of eggs; 166 of dressed poultry, and sixty-one of live poultry.

A shipment of sixteen carlots of eggs was sent via Panama Canal last September to the British market, where they were favorably pointed out.

HIGHWAYS BILL MOVES FORWARD

Opposition Leader Fears Government Takes Too Much Power Regarding Highways

BLANKET POWER DEPRECATED

The bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to highways and the traffic thereon passed committee stage in the House yesterday. The only speaker on the bill was Mr. T. D. Pattullo, Leader of the Opposition and former Minister of Lands.

The Leader of the Opposition gave credit to Hon. N. S. Lougheed for an attempt to solve the situation with regard to the highways of the province.

He intimated that he would not have so much objection to the bill if he had more confidence in the Government. His chief criticism was that the Government was taking power to create all kinds of arterial highways. It was going to take more money from the munici-

Pool Officials Decline to State Result Of British Visit

By GUY RHOADES
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—Officials of the Canadian Wheat Pool, returning here today on the liner Aquitania, were noncommittal when questioned with regard to the outcome of the conferences held in Great Britain with Government officials and representatives of the millers.

Mr. A. J. McPhail, president of the Canadian Pool, and Mr. W. A. McLeod, publicity director, landed on a day when the markets of North America were scenes of turbulent trading with wheat prices first dropping sensationally and then rallying before the close.

They had been to Great Britain at the invitation of Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, who on his recent tour of Canada suggested conferences over the situation confronting Canadian growers through the failure of European buyers to take Canadian wheat at prevailing prices.

"We have no doubt as to the ultimate outcome," Mr. McPhail said. "The market will right itself."

Both pool officials said they found British millers still preferred Canadian wheat and were prepared to pay more than for wheat from other sources.

Mr. McPhail, however, was not prepared to say what differential in price would start the movement of Canadian grain across the Atlantic in quantities to relieve the Canadian situation.

Freedom From Inheritance Tax Draws Capital

HUNDREDS of people, probably thousands, have converted their properties in other states into cash and have brought the cash to Florida for investment because of the freedom from taxes on incomes and inheritances in this state, and the liability to such taxation in other states. In 1924, the amount of foreign capital invested in Georgia was $9,000,000, in North Carolina $19,000,000, and in Florida $450,000,000.

This citation indicates how much greater is the trend of capital to Florida by comparison with two of the more progressive Southern states. The difficulty of securing safe-deposit boxes at the banks also tends to show that much in capital and securities is in the state, eventually to become evident, as new residents establish domicile and realize refuge from the tax ferret.—Jacksonville Times-Union.

CONFERENCE MUST INCUR MORE DELAY

Result of French Vote and Overthrow of Premier Chautemps Prevent Proceedings Continuing

DELEGATIONS FEAR WHAT MAY HAPPEN

(Associated Press)

LONDON, Feb. 25.—Adjournment of the London Naval Conference for another week was expected tonight to be the immediate result of the fall of the Chautemps Cabinet in France.

The defeat was a blow to the hopes for speedy renewal for negotiations, but Conference leaders were fully prepared for it and will proceed along the lines Prime Minister MacDonald and Colonel Henry L. Stimson, of the United States, planned in their week-end conference at Stanmore.

Under their plan, the Prime Minister will summon the chief delegates to London—to Downing Street on Thursday, for consideration of the situation.

GREAT INTEREST SHOWN

The chief delegates of the various nations awaited the vote of the French Chamber with as much interest tonight as if it were on a major political issue in their own countries.

The first reaction after the result was learned was to minimize the disappointment of further delay as much as possible. It is Mr. MacDonald's sincere belief that another

Phoney Money Is Found as Police Arrest Russian

PRINCE GEORGE, Feb. 25.—Nicoli Martynowicz, a Russian-Pole, was given a preliminary hearing and committed for trial on a charge of having in his possession a forged Dominion of Canada note for one dollar. According to the evidence, he was working on a process of taking negatives of notes by the use of lysol. He was picked up by the police leaving Prince George for the coast, and it is stated that his capture was due chiefly to the money in his possession having the same strong smell of lysol as that on negatives of a bank note that were found and turned over to the police.

An unclaimed suitcase taken off the train on its arrival in Prince Rupert is said to have contained a complete burglar's outfit and a couple of loaded revolvers and ammunition.

MR. FOWLER SELECTED AS CLUB'S HEAD

Officers Are Appointed for Canadian Club of Victoria at Annual Meeting

PATRIOTIC WORK ACCOMPLISHED

New President Stresses National Responsibility —Appeal for Boy Scouts

"I FEEL that the presidency of the Canadian Club is one of the highest honors which it is possible for any community to offer to one man," said Mr. P. B. Fowler, who was re-elected president of the Victoria Canadian Club at the annual meeting of that organization, held in the Empress Hotel last night.

"The Canadian Club," continued Mr. Fowler, who was received with prolonged applause," occupies an unique position. It is neither political nor local in character, but exists purely for the purpose of fostering the national spirit and of disseminating knowledge. It marks the point where cultural life meets the business life of Canada.

"We are inclined to look upon the makers of Canada as belonging to the past, but this is not so; history is being made today and the historian of the days to come will blend the makers of Canada in the past with those of today into the finished product of Canada of the future.

"The widespread organization, the Canadian Club, has a part to play in this, and an important one, as the love of the land and our pride in Canada are fundamental to the maintenance and growth of a national spirit—not a Maritime national spirit—not an Ontario, Prairie or British Columbia national spirit, but the whole of Canada from Atlantic to Pacific interfused in one all-embracing nationalism."

COMPROMISE FOR DRUGLESS MEN EXPECTED

Proposal for Unregistered Practitioners Expected on Basis of Ontario Measure

ENERGETIC LOBBY IS CONDUCTED

The drugless healers gained a new advantage in their struggle with the registered physicians yesterday as the probability grew that the unregistered practitioners' request for legal recognition and right of self-regulation would be referred to a small committee.

This outcome was foreshadowed as the corridors of the Parliament Buildings swarmed with members of the Medical Liberty League and hundreds of letters bombarded the legislators individually in protest against rejection of the Drugless Physicians Bill by the private bills committee last week.

While the private bills committee met again and decided it could not reopen the question unless instructed to do so by the House itself,

Plan to Halt Marriage of Alien Races

THE member for Cowichan-Newcastle, Mr. C. F. Davie, has on various occasions in the Legislature brought in legislation affecting the Orientals within the province.

He proposes at the present session of the Legislature to strike against mixed marriages between whites and Orientals.

He proposes to introduce this idea by amendment of the Marriage Act, now before the House. He will seek to amend the section dealing with the regulations respecting the issuing of marriage licences so that no licence to marry shall be issued for marriage between a white person and a person of the Chinese or Japanese race.

SPEECH DEBATE QUICKLY ENDED WITH NO VOTE

Address in Reply Passed by Federal House Without Division in Unusually Short Time

NO AMENDMENT IS MADE TO ADDRESS

(Canadian Press)

OTTAWA, Feb. 25.—Without division, and after less than two days' debate, the motion for an Address in Reply to the Speech from the Throne passed the House of Commons a few minutes before 6 o'clock this evening. The end of the debate came swiftly. Yesterday saw leaders of the great parties joined in strenuous debate; today, a sparsely filled chamber listened languidly to a half dozen speeches which occupied only the afternoon sitting.

The final speaker of the debate, Mr. H. J. Barber, Conservative member for Fraser Valley, sat down shortly before the 6 o'clock recess. No one rose to continue. Mr. Speaker put the motion to the House, and it carried without a vote demanded. Then the Commons adjourned until tomorrow. It was an abrupt termination to the debate which sometimes occupies more than a week of the time of Parliament.

DIVERSIFIED SPEECHES

Today speeches came from different quarters in the House. Mr. J. C. Brady, Conservative member for Skeena, voiced criticism of the Government from various angles. He was followed by Mr. Henri Bourassa, Independent member for

Think Plane Is Angel Down Out Of High Heaven

By CHARLES LYNCH
(Copyright, 1930, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service.)

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 25.—One alarmed Eskimo at Chesterfield Inlet, in Arctic Canada, mistook a large airplane for an angel coming to announce the end of the world. Staff Sergeant M. A. Joyce, of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, in charge of that northerly post, has related in a report to his superiors in Ottawa. Other inhabitants of the isolated place entertained various conceptions of the nature of the droning creature, but all were scared out of their wits until the plane made a harmless landing.

"The natives were greatly frightened at the sight and sound of the airplane, which arrived with three prospectors," Staff Sergeant Joyce states. "Some of them were so horrified that they ran for their tents and buried their heads in bedding. One Eskimo decided that it was a sort of demon bird and wanted to shoot at it."

Excitement died down only when the Eskimos found that the plane was not going to land on either them or their tents.

EXCEPTIONAL OPPORTUNITY AWAITS CITY

President of Pacific Northwest Real Estate Association Visits Victoria

VICTORIA'S SPECIAL CLAIMS EMPHASIZED

A plea to Victorians to capitalize the attributes of culture and refinement here, as well as scenic attractions, in the effort to harvest the tourist crop, was voiced last evening by Mr. W. A. Irwin, president of the Pacific Northwest Real Estate Association, who arrived here yesterday with Mr. T. G. Fay, executive secretary, to address the Victoria Real Estate Board today. Speaking to The Colonist last evening, Mr. Irwin said: "After an investigation of the realty situation in Spokane, Portland, Seattle, Tacoma, and other smaller cities, I am satisfied that a result of the Stock Exchange collapse will be to induce capital to invest in real estate, and to strengthen the realization that realty is a safer investment than indiscriminate purchase of stocks."

After alluding to the large building programme in Seattle and elsewhere in the Pacific Northwest, Mr. Irwin continued that he was justified, with forty years of varied experience behind him, to look for-

Dollar Wheat Reported on Two'Changes

(Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Feb. 25.—Wheat prices crashed down below the dollar mark today in a panicky drop, five cents below yesterday's figures, and then as sensationally rebounded in the last hour of trading to finish at 5-8c decline to 5-8c advance.

The midsession prices were the lowest for this season and below any offers at this time of year in many seasons. March futures dropped as low at 98 3-4 cents a bushel, and May sold down to $1.02 3-4.

Final quotations were: March, $1.04 1-4; May, $1.08 1-2 to $1.08 7-8; July, $1.10 1-8 to $1.10 1-2, and September, $1.13 1-2 to $1.13 3-4.

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 25.—Wheat futures broke under $1.00 a bushel here today as values collapsed on the nation's grain exchanges. May wheat sold down to 97 cents a bushel, after closing yesterday at $1.01. July touched 99 cents.

Man Is Shot Near Hilliers and Police Are Investigating

NANAIMO, B.C., Feb. 25.—Archie Hamilton, aged sixty-seven, is dead with a bullet hole through his head, and Peter Smith, aged fifty-five, is being held by local police as a material witness in connection with the affair.

The shooting took place early today at Smith's cabin, near Hilliers, on the Nanaimo-Alberni highway, and first intimation of it reached nearby residents when Smith appeared at a neighbor's house at 7 o'clock this morning and said that Hamilton had shot himself and that Nanaimo police had better be notified.

Smith told police he had gone to bed Monday night and had left Hamilton sitting in a chair in another room. At 2 o'clock, he said, he was awakened by a shot. He investigated and found Hamilton lying on the floor.

He thought Hamilton was drunk, however, and dragged him outside into the air, after which he returned to bed. On arising at 7 o'clock he saw blood on the floor and, upon examination, discovered that Hamilton was dead.

Other evidence gathered by police tended to show there had been a party at Smith's place on Monday evening. Hamilton was one of the guests. An inquest will be held tomorrow.

PREMIER OF FRANCE SOON REPUDIATED

M. Chautemps Goes Down to Defeat on First Occasion He Faces Chamber of Deputies

PRESIDENT HAS TO SEEK ANOTHER MAN

Exciting Scenes Are Witnessed in House and Lobbies and on Street as Vote Is Taken

(Associated Press)

PARIS, Feb. 25.—France's new left wing Government met defeat today at its first appearance before the Chamber of Deputies amid a bitter attack from the Opposition.

Premier Camille Chautemps, despite his pleas that it was important for France to send a delegation back to the London Naval Conference quickly, was beaten on the crucial vote of confidence by a margin of fifteen votes, 292 to 277. These are the official figures that will be promulgated in the official journal tomorrow, and were established about two hours after the vote was taken.

NOT GIVEN CHANCE

For the third time in the history of the Third Republic, the Chamber refused to give the incoming Ministry a chance and after cheering former Premier Tardieu on his entrance, taunted M. Chautemps for having caused the downfall of his predecessor in order to give the Radical-Socialist party a chance to get Governmental portfolios.

The general opinion in Paris tonight was that M. Andre Tardieu or M. Aristide Briand would be called by President Doumergue to form a new Government.

M. Briand, however, already has made known his disinclination to

MINISTERIAL SALARIES SHOW WIDE RANGE

Question Is Sent On to B.C. Conference of United Church Without Comment

GREAT DISPARITY IN EMOLUMENTS

A resolution looking toward a nearer approach to equality in ministers' salaries as the policy of the United Church of Canada was presented at the first session of the Presbytery of Victoria, which opened yesterday morning at First United Church. The sponsor of this rather radical suggestion was Rev. H. A. Ireland, pastor of Wilkinson Road Church, who made a plea that the spirit of brotherhood which should prevail in the Christian church be expressed in lessening the present spread between the minimum and maximum salaries that ministers received.

The attempt to more nearly equalize ministerial remuneration was the logical sequence, according to Mr. Ireland, of the stand taken by the General Council of the United Church in the matter of

Fraser River Is Now Alive With Hair Seal Swarm

VANCOUVER, Feb. 25.—The Fraser River sandheads are alive with hair seals, according to small boat operators who frequent those waters. The number is much greater than usual at this stage of the year, it is declared. The seals are apparently hunting the big salmon, and going well. The salmon are even going up into the grass of the shallows to escape, it is said.

It is reported the salmon are beginning to move, though one of the most famous of the fishermen of the Vancouver Merchants' Exchange spent all last week on English Bay, and caught nothing but a single trout. He blames the absence of fish to the presence of aeroplanes, declaring that the fish do not like the staccato roar of the engines. Water being a better conductor of sound than air, the roar of the plane engines, says the fisherman, is so magnified to the fish that they leave the neighborhood. Not even a spinning spoon will lure them back.

MR. FOWLER SELECTED AS CLUB'S HEAD

EXECUTIVE'S REPORT

Mr. F. H. Sehl, secretary of the Victoria branch, then read the following report of the executive committee:

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

The executive committee reported: Fifteen luncheons and dinner meetings were held during the year, and the following guests entertained:

March 20—Major Desmond Chapman-Huston.

April 2—L. B. Franklin (Australia), and F. Milner (New Zealand); delegates to National Council of Education.

April 4—Major D. L. McKeand, of Department of Interior, Ottawa.

April 11—Professor A. K. Chanda, of India; delegate to National Council of Education.

April 26—Sir William Clark (dinner).

May 16—Basil Allen (dinner).

July 8—W. Herbert Garrison.

August 7—Hon. Herbert Marler (dinner).

August 20—Hon. Jean Knight, Minister of France in Canada.

September 5—Right Hon. Winston Churchill.

September 24—Sir John Sandeman Allen.

September 27—The Bishop of Winchester.

November 13—Hon. Colonel J. L. Ralston, Minister of Militia and Defence.

December 2—L. J. Burpee, delegate to Kyoto conference.

1930—

January 24—Dr. J. S. Plaskett.

"In addition to the above, the members of the club were the guests of Professor and Mrs. Straight, superintendent of the Dominion Experimental Farm, on August 19, when the Hon. Dr. Motherwell was the guest of the day. This proved to be an exceptionally enjoyable gathering, where luncheon was served out in the open on a perfect Summer's day.

"Your committee deprecates the indifferent attendance at some of the luncheons and wishes to assure the members that the speaker committee exercises great care in issuing invitations only to such prospective guests as it is evident, from information obtained, will have a real message to impart to the members. Extensive efforts, sometimes amounting almost to coercion, are made to secure the acceptance of a particularly prominent guest.

INCREASE IN MEMBERSHIP

"The paid-up membership at the end of the year is 817, exclusive of honorary members, as compared with 721 at the end of last year, and with 605 at the end of the previous year. One hundred and fifty-five new members were elected during the year just closed.

"The co-operation of the whole membership is solicited in the efforts of the committee to bring the membership to our objective of one thousand during the next three months.

"An invitation was also extended to the following distinguished travelers, but acceptance could not, for various reasons, be secured, either on account of arrangement of itineraries, lack of time or sickness: the late Sir James Aikens, Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba; Lord Weir; Mr. G. R. Stevens, Canadian Trade Commissioner from Capetown; Sir John Aird; Sir Arthur Duckham; Sir Rabindra Nath Tagore; Hon. Alfred Sze, Chinese Minister to United States; His Excellency the Governor-General, Lord Willingdon; H.R.H. the Duke of Gloucester; Right Hon. Arthur Meighen; Hon. Phillip Roy; the late Hon. James A. Robb; Hon. T. R. Bavin, Premier of New South Wales; Earl of Cromer; Lord Hanworth; Right Hon. L. C. M. S. Amery; Sir Henry Thornton, president Canadian National Railways; Sir E. W. Beatty, president C.P.R.; Lord Hailsham; Sir John Martin Harvey; Hon. Iyemasa Tokugawa, Japanese Minister to Canada; General Jan Smuts; Hon. R. B. Bennett; Colonel Withers, and Hon. Chief Justice Anglin.

VISIT OF MR. G. SPRY

"Mr. Graham Spry, national secretary of the Association of Canadian Clubs, paid a visit to this city and held a meeting with the executive, outlining the work accomplished at the national office, and telling of plans for the future.

"Mr. Spry observed that three years ago there were fifty-three branches of the Canadian Club, and now there were one hundred and nine with some five hundred meetings a year. A great deal of success was due to the central executive, who give their time and services voluntarily. The idea of the central executive was to unite all units of the club into a homogeneous whole, while retaining autonomy of individual clubs. The association derives its existence and income from separate clubs. There should be an ideal of development of a Canadian national spirit of unanimity throughout Canada.

"He referred to speakers' itineraries, particularly for the smaller clubs. One of the great works of the central executive was to keep in existence the smaller clubs. One-half of the speakers at Nanaimo were provided by the association.

"Mr. Spry said that there were very few clubs in a strategic position such as Victoria enjoys. They aim to provide at least four speakers per annum to each club, and efforts were being made to select speakers to represent different opinions of sections of Canada.

"In latter years there has been a marked increase in sympathy of French-Canadians toward the Canadian Club movement. Mr. Spry said he had lived with a French-Canadian family for a time to get the atmosphere and build up contacts. About 75 or 80 per cent of the two thousand members of the Canadian Club of Quebec are French-Canadian. Mr. Spry pointed out that the association has succeeded where many others had failed in convincing French-Canadians of sincerity and goodwill. He also pointed out that the province of Quebec had been brought into the Canadian Club movement.

QUESTION OF STUDY GROUP

"Mr. Spry said that efforts were being made to convert the large number of Ukrainians in the Prairie provinces into Canadian citizens. He also referred to the Ukrainian Canadian Club at Calgary, which is composed entirely of Ukrainians.

"He also pointed out that the revenue of the association comes entirely from the clubs, and that the budget has been reduced $2,000 this year—from $18,000 to $16,000. A financial statement from September 1, 1928, to September 11, 1929, was read by Mr. Spry.

"The question as to whether a study group should be sponsored by this club on the question of Pacific Relations, was discussed. There are study groups in Ottawa, Winnipeg and Montreal of 'Canadian Institute of International Affairs,' and the same group also compose the 'Institute of Pacific Relations.'

"The sad and sudden demise of our president, Mr. Mark W. Graham, in July last, came as a great shock to the club. His heart was in his work as president in the same measure as he had, with his many good qualities, devoted himself so unsparingly and with such zeal to so many varied philanthropic projects promoted for the good of the community. We also regret to record the deaths of Mr. A. F. Beasley, Rev. Gilbert Cook, Mr. J. D. Clark, Mr. J. Hebden Gillespie, Mr. R. E. Hose, Mr. C. Dubois Mason, Mr. A. Montizambert, Mr. S. Maclure, Mr. W. Fleet Robertson, Mr. E. U. Reid, Mr. F. H. Schofield, Mr. A. E. Starr, Mr. George F. Watson, Mr. Alfred Reid, Mr. W. Harboard.

"The executive wishes to acknowledge the great assistance received from Mr. F. A. Pauline, the Agent-General for British Columbia in London, who has at all times, whenever called upon by the speakers' committee, exerted himself greatly to secure the acceptance of invitations extended by him on our behalf, to prominent persons planning a trip to Canada.

"The thanks of the executive is also tendered to the newspapers for their ready willingness to bring to the notice of the members forthcoming functions, and also for the full reports of the meetings; to the Empress Hotel management for excellent service and co-operation; to Mr. Fowler for the use of the board room of the Canadian Bank of Commerce for committee meetings; to Mr. John Cochrane for efficient handling of sale of lunch tickets, and to Mr. George McCandless for his services as auditor of the accounts."

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

The election of officers was as follows: Honorary president, His Honor Lieutenant-Governor R. R. Bruce; president, Mr. P. B. Fowler; first vice-president, Mr. W. H. M. Haldane; second vice-president, Dr. M. W. Thomas; literary secretary, Mr. Fred McGregor; secretary, Mr. F. H. Sehl; treasurer, Mr. C. W. Pangman; auditor, Mr. George McCandless; executive, Messrs. K. Ferguson, J. Cochrane, J. R. Bunn, A. D. MacFarlane, Brooke Stephenson, R. A. B. Wootton, Byron Johnson and Alfred Carmichael.

The financial report, as read by Mr. Sehl, showed a balance in hand of $1,115.36.

Captain Ravenhill spoke on behalf of the Boy Scout movement. The main difficulty which faced the organization in Victoria, he said, was that of retaining the co-operation of boys over fourteen years of age. The new headquarters on Johnson Street, however, would provide some place in which boys of this age would find many of those things which appealed to them.

He concluded by urging the Canadian Club to interest the business men of Victoria in something which he described as "the greatest Canadianizing movement which is going on at the present time."

LITERARY REPORT

Mr. F. McGregor, literary secretary of the club, presented the following report:

LITERARY SECRETARY

The report of Mr. F. M. McGregor, literary secretary, was as follows:

"Following our custom of the past several years, and with a view of the importance of keeping before the school children the value of Canadian citizenship by encouraging a thorough study of the history of Canada, the club again offered prizes to the pupils obtaining the highest marks in Canadian history. On May 9 last, our late president, Mr. Mark Graham, accompanied by Messrs. Joseph Patrick, W. H. Haldane, and Atwell King, made the presentations at the following schools: Monterey, Margaret Jenkins, Sir James Douglas, South Park.

"Dr. M. W. Thomas and Kenneth Ferguson made the presentations at the Quadra, North Ward, Victoria West and Esquimalt schools, and Alderman William Straith, Colonel Wilby and Rev. J. Hood conducted the presentation ceremonies at the Oaklands, George Jay and Boys' Central schools.

The winners of the prizes in the Municipality of Saanich and Sidney received their presentations at the hands of Colonel Wilby and Mr. B. C. Nicholas.

"Last year was the first occasion on which the club presented prizes in the adjacent municipalities and Sidney, and from letters we have received and from verbal reports of principals of the schools, our actions were very greatly appreciated. It is intended to continue this work in the outside municipalities, and, as funds permit, to extend it still further afield.

"The following is a list of pupils to whom the prizes were presented, the leader in each case receiving four books: "The Far West Coast," by Denton; "The Early History of British Columbia," by McKelvie; "Flint and Feathers," by Pauline Johnson; and "The Romance of British Columbia," by Anstey. Oaklands School, Dorothy Freeman; South Park School, William Winston Edwards; Sir James Douglas School, Marjorie Morris; Margaret Jenkins School, Betty Schwarz; Victoria West School, Elroy Carl Gonnason; North Ward School, Harold Haikala, Quadra School, Henry MacLachlan; George Jay School, Jack Parnall; Boys' Central School, Gordon Bowes; Girls' Central School, Mary Alexis; Lampson Street School, Kathleen McIntyre; Monterey School, Jack Moloney; Gordon Head School, Russell C. Twining; Sidney Public School, Trevor Page.

On Friday, November 1, our president, P. B. Fowler, accompanied by Past President Kenneth Ferguson, attended the presentation ceremony in the High School auditorium, when our club's prize was presented jointly with that given by Miss K. Agnew, to the winners in Canadian history of Victoria College. This was divided equally between Miss Viola Davis and James Gibson, who tied for first place.

As the work which we have been doing in this connection has been so greatly appreciated and is so helpful in developing a true Canadian spirit, we would recommend that the incoming executive be authorized to secure prizes for the leaders in Canadian history in 1930.

SCHOOL PRIZES

Mr. B. C. Nicholas advanced a proposal that it would not be asking too much of the club to subscribe the sum of $100 every year for scholarships in Victoria College. His suggestion was endorsed, and it was further decided that the donation to entrance schools during the coming year should not exceed the sum of $100.

Mr. J. Cochrane thanked Mr. Fowler for his work during his past term of office, and congratulated him upon his re-election. Mr. Haldane and Dr. Thomas also thanked the meeting for electing them to the positions of vice-presidents.

week of delay can be weathered without disastrous effects—that, in fact, it may result in no loss, as was proved by the last week, when much valuable technical work was accomplished by the experts.

The question worrying the delegation is whether the French political situation can be stabilized within a week, and whether, after that interval, the return of the French delegation to London can be definitely counted upon. If it is not stabilized, the ultimate effect of the French party turmoil on the Naval parley is a subject that even those closest to high Conference circles would not dare to speculate upon tonight.

EXCEPTIONAL OPPORTUNITY AWAITS CITY

ward with reason in confidence this year.

CHARACTER OF REALTORS

He had come to Victoria, the president said, to encourage the realty men to carry on their programme to raise the standard of ethics in the ranks of real estate men, and to encourage the legislatures to establish licensing systems to compel the licensing of realtors, and to introduce examinations to ascertain that the members understood the fundamental principles which underlie the real estate business, and the appreciation of it as an exact science.

PROPERTY OWNERS' DIVISIONS

Real estate in Canada and the United States had become a great basic industry, and it was an object through the local boards and the state, provincial, and the national boards to bring about the establishment of property owners' divisions in conjunction with the boards for the purpose of working in harmony towards fair taxation of real estate, now carrying an excessive burden in comparison with other securities. They must convince the legislatures that real estate was entitled to relief from an intolerable burden presented by present conditions of taxation.

SOUVENIR OF 1897

Remarking that he had been a visitor to Victoria since 1895, he mentioned, as he produced a satin-lined programme of the Diamond Jubilee celebration of 1897 here, that he had watched the city carefully since the time when it was in the throes of the Klondike excitement. Then, Victoria was a city of about 18,000 people. He believed that with the suburbs it was now counted about 65,000. That, said Mr. Irwin, showed slow but substantial progress; but he might ask whether it was commensurate with the great natural attractions of the city, and compared with the remarkable growth of its neighbors.

CAPITALIZE ASSETS

"Do you," he proceeded, "capitalize your atmosphere of culture and refinement enough? The scenic attractions are well known, but are you doing enough yet to impress the distinctive character of the city? I am going to offer to your real estate board, when I speak to them tomorrow, my aid in this regard. I was glad to read the report of your publicity bureau the other day. But the tourist crop is valuable—more valuable, perhaps, than we sometimes think—and there is no justification for Victorians hiding their light under a bushel. There is another claim, too, and I say it after visiting every part of the United States, and that is the respect for law that visitors see here. That is an attainment which is rarer than perhaps you think. Therefore I wish Victoria well, and stand ready to help it at any time."

And these last words may not be spoken for a considerable time yet. France is the key factor in one respect. She can defeat the five-power treaty if she elects to do so. Will she? I doubt it, though the question is very uncertain. It is sometimes extremely difficult for the French to change their minds.

UNCOMFORTABLE POSITION

However, France's position, if she prevented the conclusion of a five-power treaty, obviously would not be a comfortable one—she would stand alone—and we have yet to hear from M. Aristide Briand. Perhaps the greatest void at the conference has been the absence of his magic voice for peace.

One regrets to report that certain French arguments in London have been out of harmony with the omniateral or universal inspiration of the conference. Prime Minister MacDonald and President Hoover hoped above all else that the five powers would strive to find a common standpoint from which they could view their problems in the interests of civiazation as a whole. Some of the French here—I will not say all—have been arguing with the British that the latter are making a fundamental political mistake in drawing away from Europe in the direction of America.

They have begged Great Britain to consider herself an integral and inseparable part of European economy and even have declared that America cannot be trusted to co-operate with Europe in any crisis. They have represented Great Britain's alleged partiality for America—of which, incidentally, there has been none—as a kind of "treason" to the European system.

FRENCH FRIENDLINESS

On the other hand, the French have been exceedingly friendly to the United States. Reminders have been frequent of revolutionary times and what France did for the United States then. They have been assured that nobody trusts them more than do the French. The French repugnance to all forms of militarism has been urgent and assurance given that nothing else is quite so far from French intentions as is the purpose or desire to build up a land, air and naval force discordant with current peace efforts and disturbing to the peace of mind of France's world neighbors.

None of this argument has been taken amiss by the Americans. Neither has it by the British. It has been judged to be not sinister, but merely indicative of the French idea of how France's interests are to be defended most effectively at the conference. She might as well be told now that nothing she or anyone else can do will break the solidarity of Great Britain and America for reduced armaments and an unswerving pursuit of peace. These two great powers at last understand each other, and in no secret aspect of this understanding is there any shadow of a threat to any other country. Their rapprochement is solely a rapprochement of order and justice in the world.

KEY FACTORS

As France is the key factor touching the possible five power treaty, so Japan is the key power touching a possible three power treaty. Japan is also the key power touching a possible four power treaty, or at least, I believe so, for Italy from the first has been a leader in sane counsels in London. Will Japan reduce those claims which have in them navy expanding rather than navy reducing potentialities? I think she will. I think there will be a compromise and one which will send the Japanese delegates back to Tokyo abundantly prepared to meet their Government and their people. In the first place, they had no business to work up in Japan a strong preconference public opinion for seventy per cent or no per cent of naval strength of America. They should have kept themselves free as negotiators as did the other deligations. But that tactical mistake scarcely will prove fatal.

Supposing the Japanese left London with reason to believe that because they had been accommodating in the naval business, America might consider wiping out that stigma to Japan which is in her anti-Asiatic Immigration Laws—in that case would not the Japanese Government and people welcome their delegates home with enthusiasm? Mr. Charles Evan Hughes, it will be remembered, was in favor of this, and Mr. Hughes stands high with President Hoover and Secretary of State Stimson

Eczema Itched Badly. Face Disfigured. Healed by Cuticura.

"Eczema first appeared on my forehead in pimple-like form. Later it spread from my forehead towards my nose and gradually my whole face became affected. It itched and burned badly at times, and when I scratched it caused eruptions. After a while the pimples would dry up and then new ones would come in their place. My face was disfigured. The trouble lasted over a year.

LISTER WATER ADVANCE IS UNDER FIRE

Provision of Money for Water Supply Comes Under Discussion in House

ACTION DEFENDED AS IMPERATIVE

For a considerable time yesterday in the Legislaure the academic question was discussed of whether the money loaned to the Lister Water Board by the Land Settlement Board was regular or irregular. The matter came up in committee on the bill to amend the Land Settlement Act, which has a clause to validate the loaning of the $65,000 to the Lister Water Board. The fact that the validating of the advance of the money was being sought indicated that there was some doubt as to the regularity of the course taken.

Early in the debate on this subject the Leader of the Opposition made it clear that he had no objection to the use of the money in the carrying out of this work if it were obtained regularly. He, however, developed a strong disposition to criticize the Comptroller-General believing that he had authorized the use made of the funds, a statement which was later shown to be in error.

It was made clear from the statement of the Prime Minister and other members of the Government that the getting of water on the area was essential to the interests of the country, and that no time was to be lost in getting it done, with the result that some thirty families came on the lands on which the former Government had "wasted" over $800,000, according to Dr. Tolmie.

CAMP LISTER CONDITIONS

Mr. Pattullo asked a series of questions of the Minister of Agriculture regarding the situation at Camp Lister. Mr. Atkinson gave the information that there were some 6,993 acres in the whole area. Within the area served by the Lister Waterworks were 2,695 acres. There were 1,274 acres of this improved and supplied with water. There were about forty-four settlers in the area in twenty-acre lots.

To Mr. Pattullo the minister said that there were some 1,800 acres liable for the loan for water, which was in the hands of the Government.

Mr. Atkinson gave the information that on the authority of the Deputy Attorney-General it had been found that the money could be obtained from the funds of the Land Settlement Board.

Mr. A. M. Manson would not say that the Government got 100 cents on the dollar value on the expenditures of over $800,000 on the Camp Lister area, but he explained that in the getting of money for expenditures there were certain ways only open to obtaining them.

Hon. W. C. Shelly pointed out that the Land Settlement Board had its own account, and the Provincial Treasury had not this year advanced a single dollar to it.

A TECHNICALITY

Hon. W. A. McKenzie pointed out that the legal department had advised that there was the authority. While there was no doubt the authority existed as far as Crown lands were concerned, there had been some technicality as to whether it would apply to alienated lands. There was 60 per cent of the lands affected, however, which were Crown lands.

The Minister of Mines said that there was nothing to hide in the matter. It was true there was a little technicality, but suppose it were admitted that the act was illegal, they were now trying to clear this up by validating the payment.

The whole matter was one in which the Opposition was afraid that the present Government was cleaning up a jumble which the former Government had brought about.

Colonel F. Lister reviewed the situation. The settlers on the land were returned soldiers, and were in need of the water. The contract was let by the cost plus system, so that the settlers who needed employment would get some benefit out of the work. This was done, and Mr. Green, the contractor, had given work to none but actual settlers, which had been a benefit to them.

Dr. Tolmie, in appealing for the passing of the bill, asked if the House did not think it was good business on the part of the Minister of Agriculture to adopt the course he did, and have immediate action in connection with the work.

The bill passed committee.

SOVIET FAILS TO SUBDUE PEASANTS

Many Jailed for Killing Cattle but Sabotage Continues to Be Practised in Some Parts

By CARROLL BINDER

(Copyright, 1930, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service.)

MOSCOW, U.S.S.R., Feb. 25.—Drastic punishment is being administered to peasants held responsible for the slaughter of live stock or for negligence in safeguarding rural property.

The president of the village Soviet and the chairman of the committee at Obukhovo have been sentenced to three years in prison and thirty-nine accomplices have been fined from ten rubles to 100 rubles ($5 to $50) for the slaughter of forty-one village cattle. Two kulaks of well-to-do peasants of Kaluga have been imprisoned for eight years each on the charge of exterminating cattle.

Even kolhoses, or collective farms, are guilty of allowing the sorely needed live stock to perish of cold and neglect, while other kolhoses are eating their animals. Only 1,000 pigs remain in Tumin, which had tens of thousands at the beginning of winter. In Sebastapol the number of cows has been reduced seventeen per cent and sheep and goats thirty-six per cent since November.

DESTROYING ORCHARDS

Disgruntled kulaks have destroyed fruit orchards in the north Caucasus and others fed glass to large flocks of sheep.

Such sabotage is deemed treasonable when the Soviet Union is feverishly seeking to collectivize all agriculture.

Expropriation of the kulaks is proceeding, but recently the Soviet press reported several projects for colonizing these pariahs on stretches of poorer outlying lands, with the requirement to produce a fixed amount for the Government with a limited supply of loans, animals and tools.

A new taxation decree today provides even heavier levies on the kulaks of the regions still uncollectivized. The amounts are fixed by local officials according to the estimated wealth of the individual.

Brothers Served Country

WITH full naval honors, the funeral of the late Commander George P. Clarke, R.C.N., took place last Friday at Southampton, England. Commander G. P. Clarke, who died very suddenly after a three days' illness, was the last surviving son of Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Clarke, of 1024 Pendergast Street, and is shown at the right-hand side of the above picture, which was taken during the war, the last time the brothers met together. Reading from left to right, they are Commander William Howard Clarke, R.N., Corporal Bertram Harold Clarke and Commander George P. Clarke. His several years' connection with the Esquimalt Naval Station, among all ranks of which he was very popular, made Commander G. P. Clarke and his wife well known here, and their many friends here were looking forward to their return next year with the completion of the new Canadian ships, the construction of which he had been watching for the Federal Government.

A native of Devonport, England, he received his early education at Keyham College, Devonport, and served on several ships, including the Niobe, before he was given land duty with the Canadian Naval Department.

Empire Free Trade Party Speaks in Two Voices and Differs in Both of Them

By THOMAS T. CHAMPION

Canadian Press Staff Correspondent.

LONDON, Feb. 25.—The Empire Free Trade forces accord a mixed reception to the statement of Conservative policy by Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin yesterday. Lord Rothermere's Daily Mail ignores entirely the Baldwin statement. The Conservative leader's name is not even mentioned in today's Mail. But Lord Beaverbrook's Express prints the statement fully and appends a long editorial.

Mr. Baldwin declared in effect that Empire free trade was the ultimate ideal of the Conservative party, but at the present was an impossibility. He asserted political leaders in the Dominions had rejected the theory. He deplored the creation of the United Empire party as tending only to split the anti-Labor forces.

Lord Beaverbrook's newspaper is willing enough to discuss Mr. Baldwin's general assertion that Empire free trade is impossible, but it avoids dealing with the more definite assertion of the Conservative leader that "the Dominions will not have it, they have said so in the clearest terms."

The Manchester Guardian, great country Liberal organ, continued today to declare that the new party was a serious political factor. But it adds Lord Beaverbrook has insisted the party is an economic, not a political body. "How a party can run candidates for Parliament without being political is not apparent," The Guardian says.

The same critic points out that, on the other hand, Lord Rothermere, who is presumably an equally accredited spokesman for the Empire Free Trade forces, is laying increasing stress on the new party's political aspects.

That this is so is plain from today's Mail, which, across two columns, proclaims the united Empire party, in addition to its fiscal programme, stands for the creation of a popularly elected second chamber, ruthless economy in national and local expenditure, "no surrenders" in India; no extension of the dole or pensions and less bureaucratic interference with trade and manufacturers.

Appeal Is to Be Made in Case of Bowen Company

VANCOUVER, Feb. 25.—Notice of appeal to the Court of Appeal sitting here on March 4, has been filed on behalf of Alfred Daniel Bowen, aged sixty-five, from a conviction by Judge Cayley in County Court for publishing false statements relating to the affairs of Bowen Utilities Corporation Limited, of which he was president. Bowen was sentenced by His Honor to two years' imprisonment in New Westminster penitentiary.

Pending the outcome of the appeal, bail in the sum of $25,000 has been granted Bowen by Chief Justice Macdonald.

DEPUTY MINISTER TALKS HIGHWAYS

Mr. Patrick Phillip Tells Vancouver Board of B.C. Transportation and Road Extensions

VANCOUVER, Feb. 25.—Highway transportation in British Columbia and plans for future extensions were described by Mr. Patrick Philip, deputy minister of public works, in an address before the transportation bureau of the Board of Trade here today.

Efficient transportation depends entirely upon a system of good highways, Mr. Philip declared. In this connection relocation of roads, shortening distances and elimination of dangerous curves and grades were vital factors, he said.

Indicating the extent of the transportation problem in the province, Mr. Philip pointed out that $90,000,000 is invested in motor vehicles alone and $60,000,000 is expended annually in maintenance of these vehicles.

The cost per mile of operating an automobile was directly affected by road conditions, he claimed, and stated that a good smooth road surface will save $5,000,000 yearly to motor vehicle operators.

ROAD FINANCING

Local properties should not be taxed to finance a better road than local conditions demand, Mr. Philip declared in defining the road programme of the province. Primary roads were now planned with a width of thirty-four feet, he went on, and proper location, having regard to easy grades and safe curves, was an important consideration.

This is the problem of the engineers, he claimed, to locate trunk roads so that they will become permanent parts of a studied system of provincial highways, shortening distances and saving money.

"If we can save you money we will be able to take a little of it away from you later, and that's good business," he remarked.

Good habits are as hard to form as bad ones are to break.

EXEMPTION OF CHURCH SITES

STATUS OF METROPOLITAN INSTITUTE IS BEFORE MUNICIPAL COMMITTEE

Seeks Power to Control Unsightly Sign Boards Along Highways

Approval was given by the municipal committee of the Legislature yesterday to the request of the trustees of the Metropolitan United Church for an amendment to the existing legislation respecting the taxation of buildings for public worship.

Reeve William Crouch, of Saanich, spoke on behalf of the board of the Metropolitan Church, which seeks taxation exemption for the old Congregational Church on Quadra Street, which went to the Metropolitan Church under the terms of church union, and which the Metropolitan Church desires to rent to the Baptists.

The plea of the church for taxation exemption of the Quadra Street property was not opposed by the city of Victoria.

Reeve Crouch contended that as municipalities have the power to regulate the erection of houses and other buildings they should also have the power to regulate billboards. He said that overnight great hoardings were erected to shut out a beautiful view which had previously been enjoyed, and claimed that property depreciated as a result of these billboards, and they were becoming a nuisance.

Mr. H. S. Pringle, city solicitor of Victoria, told the committee that Victoria had wide powers in this regard, going so far as to prohibit billboards on private property.

COMPROMISE REACHED

A compromise has been reached by legal representatives of the Canadian National Railways and the Canadian Pacific Railway on the proposed increase in assessments of railroad track and poles, the committee of the Legislature was informed.

The desirability of an interprovincial agreement among Western provinces on mothers' pensions, care of the insane, indigents and infants was emphasized by Ald. H. Bridgeman, president of the union.

More tubercular cattle inspectors were necessary a resolution from the union said which gave credit for good work done by those now employed.

The old woman entered the room where her husband lay on his bed of sickness. She was trembling with indignation.

"What is the matter?" asked the old man.

"Why," she said, "I just went into the vicarage to tell them you weren't any better, and they wanted me to bring you a bottle of wine."

"Have you brought it?" asked the sick man, eagerly.

"No; not me, indeed! I heard the vicar's wife say it had been in the cellar since 1900, and when she offered it to me I just walked off without a word. We don't want the nasty stale stuff!"

UNIVERSITY ENDOWMENT LANDS

In the light of the fact that the University Endowment Lands at Point Grey are wholly unlikely ever to provide any moneys for university purposes it is time that the camouflage of a name for this area should be removed. In effect the Provincial Government, under the specious interpretation to the taxpayers that it was working out an endowment fund for the University of British Columbia, has been engaged in the policy of subdividing, improving and selling lots, and, incidentally, acting the role of benevolent godfather to private property owners. The report prepared on behalf of the present administration on what has been happening in connection with the Endowment Lands bears out what was suggested as wholly likely to happen. It made public, too, for the first time that Mr. A. N. Mouat, who was Comptroller-General at the time the endowment policy was being framed, warned the late Liberal Government against the venture, predicted the unlikelihood of any actual profits being derived, said that the Province would have to find moneys for sinking fund and interest on the investment, and, in short, showed that the so-called endowment would not prove an endowment at all. His report on the subject has been justified in every respect.

The Daykin report now shows the late Government to have been a very poor real estate agent. It has expended more on a subdivision for residential purposes than the province is ever likely to get back. In other words, it exercised that spendthrift zeal on the endowment lands which marked its course in other phases of policy. The situation is that there is little or no hope that any sums of money will be available out of the sale of the Point Grey lands for university endowment purposes. It is the taxpayers who must continue to foot the bill for capital expenditures and maintenance charges at the University of British Columbia. This is one of the legacies left to the present administration by the late Liberal Government. In respect to future financing of the university the Liberals proved themselves bankrupt in vision. Again and again during their term of office they were asked for a statement on the University Endowment Lands, but for reasons that have now become apparent, there was a policy of secrecy about the results being achieved.

The present Government is faced with a grave problem as to what course to pursue both in respect to the future of the endowment lands and in the matter of continued financing of the University of British Columbia. It is almost inconceivable that any administration should, in the face of expert advice, have pursued the course followed by the late Government in respect to the Point Grey lands. The only saving grace of the situation is that it should have been turned out of power. The situation disclosed in the Daykin report is part of the financial mess it has left in its wake. That report places the Opposition on the defensive in the Legislature. It will be interesting to follow the tergiversations that will be employed to explain away this evidence of a spendthrift zeal which, as practised by the late Government, more than anything else, led to the defeat of that administration.

WHEAT POOL TESTS

What must be admitted by all fair students of the present wheat situation is that the Canadian Wheat Pool is still on trial—it is an experiment, but not yet a success. This is the text of an article by James E. Boyle in The Grain Trade News, of Winnipeg. Mr. Boyle sees in the Wheat Pool an endeavor to follow in the "highly-centralized type of co-operation which has already proved a failure in the majority of cases where tried in the United States." The experimental character of the Pool is exemplified in the policy it is pursuing at the present time. It is engaged in an experiment in speculation on a colossal scale and it has roped in to its aid the Provincial Governments of the Prairie Provinces. Mr. Boyle applies six tests to the Pool's achievement to date. Briefly these are as follows:

The economies resulting in the handling of grain by co-operatives instead of the regular commercial dealers are very small. There have been cases where the co-operatives' costs have been higher than those of the commercial dealers. The latter represent the "survival of the fittest" under an open competitive system, which means the most service at the lowest cost. Secondly, the Pool has promised "orderly marketing." That term has yet to be defined. Mr. Boyle claims that all important studies of the subject show that the farmer makes more money by selling his wheat promptly after harvest, year by year, than he does by holding for higher prices in the Spring. Thirdly, the Pool promises to simplify the transportation problem, "by removing the heavy peak load of wheat movement immediately following harvest." This is done by paying the farmer farm storage and having him move his wheat to market in a more steady stream during a period of several months. What has happend is that whereas in non-Pool days 50 per cent of the crop moved to market in the first three months after harvest, the Pool directors' report for the 1928 crop shows that in September, October and November, 64.6 per cent of the crop was moved. The Pool directors express surprise at this because they have been trying to keep the wheat back by paying farm storage.

Fourthly, a promise was forthcoming from the Pool that the price of wheat would be stabilized. It has been unable to do this; on the contrary, fluctuations in prices have increased since pool marketing commenced. The average monthly fluctuations in cash wheat prices in Winnipeg were 5.7 cents per bushel in non-Pool days and 15.1 cents per bushel under Pool conditions. Fifthly, the Pool has claimed that it has elevated the wheat prices for the Canadian farmer. The contrary is the fact for there has been a gradual price decline, due, as Mr. Boyle points out, to natural world crop conditions beyond the control of any pool. The facts of the world crops and the Canadian wheat prices as published by the Canadian Wheat Pool are as follows:

	World Crop	No. 1 Northern
1924-1925	3,163,000,000	$1.66
1925-1926	3,472,000,000	1.45
1926-1927	3,449,000,000	1.45
1927-1928	3,652,000,000	1.42½
1928-1929	3,898,000,000	1.18½

Sixthly, a claim put forward by the Pool is that by marketing wheat throughout the twelve months it has secured for its members a price a few cents higher than that obtained by the non-Pool farmer. This claim is denied by the grain dealers. Quite a controversy has arisen on the subject and the facts of the situation appear to be that, as Mr. Boyle says, "when prices rose during the year the Pool won; when prices remained fairly constant or declined as the year advanced the Pool lost money for its members." The Pool is under the handicap of carrying charges in its gamble for higher prices by holding a crop. To carry wheat for eight months costs 14 cents a bushel, made up of interest, insurance and storage. Thus $1 wheat in September must sell for $1.14 in May the following year if the Pool is to break even. That fourteen cents is saved to the farmer who sells at once.

Since August last the wheat prices have been steadily on the decline. On August 1, 1929, the Winnipeg market quoted wheat at $1.736. On August 30 the price was $1.527. September closed at $1.435; October at $1.361; December at $1.417. In the last few weeks declines in prices have been rapid. At Winnipeg yesterday May wheat was quoted at $1.11½ per bushel.

ST. JAMES' PALACE

At St. James' Palace the representatives of the five great naval Powers have met to frame up an agreement to effect warship reduction. The delegates sit in Queen Anne's drawing-room. Before her day, and since, emissaries of other nations have gone as ambassadors to the Court of St. James. The King's Court is no longer resident there, but the name remains. At St. James' Palace the European Powers have met before. They assembled to talk of the peace of Europe in 1814, when peace seemed in sight; but Napoleon was even then meditating a return from Elba. It was only a broken peace that emanated from the Council Room. Nearly a hundred years went by before St. James' Palace again became the home of peacemakers. Peace was arranged there between Turkey and the Balkans after the war of 1912. The League of Nations' Council met there in 1920, and, in 1921, the German delegates to the European Peace Conference assembled in those historic precincts.

Memories, splendid and tragic, hang about the majestic room. Over the mantelpiece is a monogram "H. & A." entwined in a lover's knot. The initials are those of Henry VIII, who built St. James' Palace of Tudor brick, and of Anne Boleyn with whom he lived there; and from there this monarch sent her to her death on Tower Green. Down the great staircase stepped Charles I on the last morning of his life, when he went along the frosty Mall to the scaffold at Whitehall. When the Spanish Armada threatened England, Queen Elizabeth held a Council there with Drake and her admirals, and to the Council Chamber the Roman Catholic peers hurried in that emergency to offer their sovereign allegiance and all the help they could give to defend the shores of England with ships and men. That was in its day the greatest naval conference in England's history. It was at St. James' Palace that plans were laid for one of the momentous sea triumphs in British history.

AT A BOOK'S END

The pencil falls. Now farewell must be said
To these bright lovely ghosts, who for a space
Were cherished in my heart. I watch each face
Pass where I may not follow. All are fled,
And I, like one that lingers with the dead,
Wait in this empty room, till in their place
Come other men, whose story I may trace,
Till they, too, leave my heart uncomforted.
These are no shadows conjured in the mind,
Their radiant beauty from no fancy blown;
These are bright buds on an immortal stem,
Souls that see clearly where my eyes are blind,
Who know swift ardours I have never known,
And I am but the glass that mirrors them.

Note and Comment

Ye mariners of England

We are tempted to quote at least a complete verse of the blood-stirring poem of which the above is the first line, but second thoughts are often said to be best, for we are warned almost every day by newspaper commentators, pacifist orators and educationists who never let their angry passions rise that any individual who, or institution which, attempts to arouse patriotic emotions in the human breast is an enemy to the wholly imaginary complex organization known as the international human brotherhood.

Although we resisted the tempter in time and stopped after having written one line, we fear having exceeded the limit even at that, for we expect we shall be criticized for having gone too far. We have found out to our sorrow that our Scottish critics are scrutinizing every word we write and every sentiment we express. So we expect to receive at least one letter objecting to the line "Ye mariners of England!" when we should have revised and corrected the term and made it "Ye mariners of Great Britain!" And we doubt whether our position would be improved if we pointed out that the once popular poem was written by a Scot and that his name was Campbell! The Macdonalds will say that was just like the Campbells, who never were a great credit to their country anyway, and what a calamity it was that it was not the neck of the chief of the clan but the necks of all the members of the clan which felt the keen edge of the axe of the headsman.

And yet, though "the flag that braved a thousand years the battle and the breeze" is about to be struck for the first time as a salute to the pacifists, that will not be the end of the epic story, poem or drama. There is going to be a sequel to the tale of the sea. Not only is the British navy, by consent, about to be reduced to a condition of parity or inferiority. The British mercantile marine, which for a thousand years carried the flag on its staff into all the accessible waters of the world, also is threatened with relegation into an inferior position.

For, while we may abolish war by making speeches, passing resolutions and signing pacts, we cannot end competition in business and trade by any such comfortable methods. While the British people are too busy discussing abstract and altruistic subjects to permit their minds to be disturbed by thoughts of such sordid things as business and trade, their rivals are busy with their knitting. A few months ago there was a great deal of gossip about the construction of two great ocean steamships. In fact, it was announced that the keels of two such ships had been laid down, one on the Clyde, the other in Belfast. If the ambitious and enterprising Germans actually contemplated capturing the blue ribbon of the Atlantic from the twenty-year-old Mauretania, their triumph would be costly and brief. The Bremen is flying the blue ribbon of the Atlantic at her masthead and there is no ship under construction in British yards capable of challenging for possession of that bauble.

While British lines apparently have decided that "the game is not worth the candle" without Government assistance, Italy, France and the United States, with Government assistance, will soon be on the way with big ships actually under construction or in contemplation. The Bremen may not prove highly profitable to the Germans directly, but her performance is proving the value of advertising, for a British shipbuilder has announced that some valuable contracts have been diverted from British to German yards as a result of the demonstration of the capacity of the Germans as shipbuilders.

Thus it would appear that while pacifism is all very well in its place, it is out of place in business. The nations may scrap their warships, disband their armies and beat the swords and spears into agricultural implements, but they cannot exorcise the aggressive spirit of the people. It may be possible to alter the form of warfare, but warfare will persist until the end of time in some form. If the time has come "when there shall be no more war" in the old-fashioned sense of the term, that is because while war has not materially changed its form, it produces different results. It "does not pay."

* * *

In some of its manifestations the cult of pacifism may be a blessing. But when pacifism permeates the whole body of the people and the fibre of the nation and becomes manifest in business, it may prove a curse. The British workman who was once aggressive in his trade is secure in his position, for he can live upon the dole; but British business must be aggressive and fight if it hopes to maintain its position and to extend that position. It cannot live upon the dole. The war which was to end all wars has merely changed the form of warfare. The competition between the nations for business was never so keen in the history of the world as it is today. The Governments of all nations are adopting measures for the purpose of giving their people advantages in position. The Government of Great Britain is the only Government which seems to believe that its position is so advantageous that it cannot be improved.

NOT IN THE YEARS

It is not only what the years may bring
That makes men grave or gay,
For some greet care with sighing, while some sing
When angry skies are grey.

To all alike come rapture and despair,
And no man may evade
The fortunes which his fellow-being share,
For thus the Plan was laid.

Not what the years may bring, but how men greet
Their offerings; in what mood
Of rebel gloom or gallant cheer they meet
Time's dower, ill or good.

It is not life's dim arch or cloudless sky
That fashions destiny;
Not in the years, but in ourselves must lie
Defeat or victory.

No Agreement as To Wheat Gained With Pool Heads

(Canadian Press Cable)

LONDON, Feb. 25.—In the talks with the Canadian Wheat Pool officials and with representatives of the British millers, it had not been found possible to formulate a definite agreement, stated Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas in answer to questions in Parliament today.

He had every hope, however, that the conversations would lead to more regular exchange of Canadian wheat for British products, the minister added.

His resignation was accepted at a meeting of the board of governors of the university Monday night amid many expressions of regret.

The time used is Pacific Standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the tables, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tide-periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of lower low water.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Esquimalt drydock at any tide, add 18.9 feet to the height of high water as above given.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Bonsfeers drydock add 30 feet to the height of high water as above given.

THE NAVAL CONFERENCE

Sir, — "What is worth doing is worth doing well." This proverb should be the keynote of the Five Powers Naval Conference sitting at present in London.

The representatives of these five nations have met for several purposes: First, to reduce their navies to a certain extent; second, to promote better understanding between their respective countries; third, to bring about universal peace.

I certainly agree with Mr. R. Archibald in his letter of February 20 to The Daily Colonist, entitled "The French Viewpoint." France, or any other country represented in this conference, should not be signaled out to the public in such a manner as to create the impression that this certain country is hindering the advance of peace.

These nations are trying their best to accomplish peace and to cultivate a spirit of universal brotherhood. Maybe these high ideals and ambitions which we are striving for will take years, but I think such a precious gem as world peace is worth many years of labor and sacrifice.

AN "HONESTY WEEK"

Sir,—I see where some correspondent would ask all citizens to observe an "Honesty" week. That's a great idea; but after that week is over, what?

Would it not be as well to make it a year and let them get the habit?

My friend, I've often cheated you,
And lies did speak,
But now I'll be hones and true—
Just for a week.

DRUGLESS HEALERS

Sir,—Having noticed in the press that the Medical Association is appearing before the committee in the Legislature demanding that the application of these so-called drugless healers for a licence to continue their practices in this province, be denied, and that the sole right to the privilege of treating illness of human beings become the property of the Medical Association, I have a few remarks I am desirous of making.

Would it not be better if the Medical Association would honestly investigate the merits of these treatments that these drugless healers are practising and adopt in the medical profession any that has merit, and by so doing they, the drugless healers, would find so little practice left with them that their doors would soon close without legislation? I make this suggestion because there must be some merit in their treatments, otherwise patients would not be so anxious to spend their money unless they at least thought they were getting something for it; and if they could get the same treatments with the medical men, why would they leave?

If I might be pardoned for a personal reference, I would like to recite my own experience, and I think I have had one that has a direct bearing on the point at issue.

For over eighteen years my wife has suffered from a chronic attack of arthritis, and although I have spent several thousands of dollars going from one medical office to another or a large portion of this continent, the advice I have ever been able to get was that, frankly, nothing could be done for this form of disease. I carried this on for ten or twelve years before I finally gave the medical man up and started to look for help outside of their profession; but not until she became hopelessly crippled. This search finally resulted at last, I am pleased to say, in my being able to get such relief that the disease has been permanently corrected, and we have no longer any further fears of its continuance. But before this was accomplished she had arrived at a stage where she could no longer walk and has not done so for some three years now. Since that time I have been getting certain treatments for her from one of these drugless healers, and again I can positively state they have been of immense benefit, and are full of hopeful promise of complete recovery as far as being able to walk again is concerned. But along comes this monster organization known as the Medical Association, demanding that these treatments must cease, and we must return to them and get from them what they have not got to give; and the only alternative is to go home and remain a permanent invalid until death itself mercifully gives relief.

But what right have they or anyone else to condemn one of their fellow creatures to an invalid chair and not only take no relief to them, but even refuse to let anyone else do so? They are human beings even if they are medical wrecks. Is there no longer any human sympathy in this one-time honored profession? Those who have the care of such invalids on their hands will tell you one of the greatest tasks is to keep them from becoming discouraged. And what depths of despair will be theirs when they find this one remaining avenue of hope and relief closed to them! And all for what—money. Money made from trafficking in the infirmities of such invalids will do no man any good. I honestly believe I could place any single member of the Medical Association in a wheel chair, and inside of four years be successful in convincing him that there are other things in this world besides money. And then they have the nerve to come before the Legislature and seek to have a protecting licence thrown around their profession when the most striking and amazing thing I learnt in the many years I was going from one medical office to another was not the large amount they know about the ills of mankind and the proper methods of treating them, but the vast amount they do not know. If they were only masters of their own profession and could give the people what they need and are willing to pay for, it would be different. Then again, after going in and out of the office of one of these drugless healers for the last three years, I am convinced that by far the major portion of their patients are those who have been told by the medical men that they are past help as far as they are concerned. If this is true, why all the noise? I have learned this in life: if you can give the people what they want, no one can keep them away from you. Therefore, if those who are past medical help were taken away from these healers, there would be so few remaining, their doors would soon close anyway.

But, Mr. Editor, I hold no brief for any drugless healer, nor have I any quarrel with any individual member of the Medical Association, for like any other organization, there are some splendid fellows among their number, and I must say that here in Victoria, I am told, and verily believe that there are some members of the same Medical Association who are broad-minded enough and have enough human sympathy to send some of their patients who have become past help in their own hands to this same office where we are getting such beneficial results; but my quarrel is with this huge organization that says I can have no more treatments except from their own members who, in this particular case, have none to offer. I am seeking neither sympathy nor charity. All I want is the God-given right to take my own money and get treatment anywhere I can find it, especially when I am offering to take it from the medical men who either can't or won't give it to me. Why should I not have this right? Is there anything selfish or inhuman in this? I have tried the medical men for over ten years, and took anything and everything they had to offer; and, what is more, I don't owe them anything, as I have paid them every bill they ever sent me. And right now, to show I have no ill-will against any medical man, I will contract with any medical doctor in this city for the same treatments I am now receiving, and that are so full of hopeful promise to us; and further, I will contract for a period of two years ahead, if he should wish, showing how much confidence I have in the treatment I am getting. And before he starts I will give him a bank reference so that he can see whether or not I can pay him. Is this not fair enough?

I am mindful of the fact that by taking this firm stand in this public manner, I am likely to incur the ill-will of a powerful organization; but I have already made a social and a financial sacrifice for the last eighteen years, and if I should be called upon to make another, well, that will be that.

My only object in writing this letter, which is entirely voluntary and unsolicited by any person or organization is that I might help arouse public opinion to such an extent that they will bombard the press and the local members with their protests, so that something may be done to break the stranglehold of this huge organization before it gets any worse.

LAST RESPECTS PAID TO LATE MR. G. F. WATSON

Large Number of Citizens Prominent in Community Present at Funeral Service

FLORAL TRIBUTES TESTIFY ESTEEM

Many men and women prominently identified with the social and political life of Victoria and adjacent municipalities, gathered yesterday afternoon at the British Columbia Funeral Parlors, where funeral service for the late Councillor G. F. Watson was conducted by Rev. W. G. Wilson, D.D., of the First United Church. Among those paying their last respects were many associated with the musical organizations of Greater Victoria, paying last respects to one who had labored long and happily to promote the culture of music in Victoria and its environs. So numerous were the friends attending the service that the chapel proved all too small, many standing in the hallway and even out on the sidewalk.

Organizations with which the deceased had been actively identified occupied sections of the chapel reserved for them. These included the First Presbyterian Church Choir, the executive of the Victoria Music Festival and the Saanich Council, with Reeve Crouch, together with the police commissioners, Chief of Police Rankin and his men, School Inspector Paterson, Miss Ozard, principal of Gordon Head School, members of the school board, together with other employees of the municipality of Saanich, which the late Mr. Watson had served to good purpose as school trustee, councillor and reeve. Prominent Victoria citizens present included Mayor Anscomb and several members of the City Council.

During the service at the chapel, the following hymns were rendered: "From Every Stormy Wind That Blows" and "Love That Will Not Let Me Go," while the choir sang a favorite hymn of the departed, "Hark, Hark, My Soul, Angelic Voices Calling."

A wealth of floral pieces, in wreaths and sprays, covered the funeral carriage and filled a following cab, testifying to the high regard and esteem in which the late Mr. Watson was held by a wide circle of friends and acquaintances. The honorary pallbearers were: Messrs. R. Hayward, M.P.P., A. Stewart, W. Paterson, S. L. Saunders, G. McGregor and G. A. Buckley. The active pallbearers were: Messrs. W. F. Somers, G. A. Vantreight, Norman Bell, W. C. Fyfe, R. W. Mercer and Councillor L. C. Hagan. Leaving the funeral chapel, the cortege proceeded to Royal Oak Burial Park, where interment was made, Rev. Dr. Wilson performing the last rites at the graveside.

ICE JAM FLOODS EJECT FAMILIES

Much of Town of Dunnville, Ont., Under Water When Grand River Breaks Banks

(Canadian Press)

HAMILTON, Ont., Feb. 25.—The greater part of the town of Dunnville was under water today when an ice jam formed on the dam and the water in the Grand River rose so rapidly that householders were trapped and had to be removed from their homes in boats.

After the break at Cayuga, the torrent swept down, on Dunnville with relentless force and backed up behind the dam, covering a huge area.

With tracks covered and bridges menaced, train schedules in and out of Dunnville have been shut down, and boats are traveling up and down the streets where automobiles usually make their way.

Towards noon, it was reported that the water had reached its height and was gradually receding, the ice jam showing signs of giving way.

COMPULSORY POOLING

Okanagan Fruit Growers Will Distribute Costs of Crop Surplus

Amendments to the Produce Marketing Act to provide for compulsory pooling of Okanagan fruit, on demand by resolution of the Growers' and Shippers' Federation, were approved by the House agricultural committee yesterday.

The details of the pooling plan will be worked out by the federation, a body in which all growers, including independents, are represented.

The intention of the pooling scheme, as explained to the House committee, is to distribute over all growers the costs of the crop surplus and to distribute returns to the producers on a fair basis.

This proposal to give the Interior committee of direction the power to pool fruit and distribute the money received for it among all growers, according to their individual contributions, was recommended by the committee of direction itself, supported by many growers, but opposed by others.

The House agricultural committee finally decided to adopt the scheme in the belief that it was necessary to make the Produce Marketing Act a success.

Specific provision is made that the pooling system will not become effective without a vote of the Fruit Growers' Federation, representing the entire industry.

Tribute Paid to Public Work of Mr. G. F. Watson

Sincere tribute to the memory of the late Councillor George F. Watson, of Saanich, whose death occurred on Friday last, was paid by the municipal committee of the Legislature yesterday.

Members of the committee spoke of the active participation of Mr. Watson for many years in municipal affairs in the province and the valuable service he had rendered on the various municipal bodies in Saanich Municipality.

On the motion of Mr. Reginald Hayward, M.P.P., Victoria, seconded by Mayor A. Wells Gray, M.P.P., New Westminster, the following resolution of sympathy was passed by the committee:

"That this committee of the Legislature on municipal affairs, in meeting assembled on February 25, 1930, records its deep regret in the passing of Councillor George Fraser Watson, of Saanich, who for many years occupied the important positions of reeve, councilor, police commissioner and school trustee of that municipality, and who had often appeared before the municipal committee of the Legislature in the interests of the municipal residents of the province.

"That this resolution be entered on the minutes, and that copy of the same be sent to Mrs. Watson and her family expressing our hope that God will comfort them in their great bereavement."

CHURCH MATTERS ARE DISCUSSED

Presbytery of Island in Session Yesterday—Important Business for Today's Meeting

The presbytery of Victoria met in St. Andrew's Church on Tuesday evening, with representatives from all the city churches, as well as the other Presbyterian congregations on Vancouver Island. The moderator, Rev. H. P. S. Luttrell, presided, with Mr. Thomas Humphries as clerk. Considerable time was occupied in disposing of a large file of correspondence that had been received by the clerk since the last regular meeting. The chief item had reference to a remit from the General Assembly, as to whether ministers applying to be received from other churches would be referred to the board of education or dealt with by each local presbytery. The finding of the meeting last evening favored reference to the board of education.

The main business of the presbytery will be considered at today's sessions. Chief interest centres in the report of the missionary committee and the statistical report by the clerk. A delegation from the W.M.S., consisting of Mrs. J. Cotsford and Mrs. R. H. Brown, will present the report of that body at the meeting this afternoon.

"How did your article on perpetual motion turn out?"

"It's a success. Every time I send it out it comes back."

PREMATURE PUBLICATION CRITICIZED

Objection Is Taken to Endowment Lands Report Being Issued Ahead of Tabling in House

MR. PATTULLO LODGES PROTEST

Objection was taken by the leader of the Opposition yesterday in the House to the giving out of information by the Government, so that a report was published and on the streets of Vancouver hours before the information was available to the members, by the bringing down of documents in the House.

The matter came upon a question of privilege raised by Mr. T. D. Pattullo upon the opening of the Legislature yesterday afternoon. The point was with respect to the Daykin report on the University Endowment Lands tabled the day before in the House.

Mr. Pattullo urged that a summary of what was in Mr. Daykin's report was on the streets of Vancouver before the report was before the House.

The Government of the day might do what it wished. He objected to this practice of disregarding the rules. The age of chivalry semed to be past when duels were conducted with both men equally armed.

He objected to there being published and put on the streets information that was not before the House twenty-four hours before the report was tabled.

A report was presented the day before and then withdrawn.

Hon. F. P. Burden said he did not present the report, and then withdraw it. He took the report back on the advice of the clerk that it were better not to do it until the debate was concluded.

Mr. Pattullo contended the report was withdrawn, and the records showed this fact.

Hon. J. Hinchliffe explained that Mr. Pattullo was out of order in discussing this without a substantive motion.

Mr. Hinchcliffe said the Minister of Lands had a perfect right to have the contents of the report published where he liked. He and Mr. Burden were only following the rule observed. The Opposition had done so, and he told of the budget speech being in the hands of the members in the press before the speech was delivered.

Mr. Ian Mackenzie pointed out that the parallel was not correct, because copies of the budget were issued to all newspapers ahead of publication, subject to release.

Mounties Taking Course to Help Fight Smuggling

OTTAWA, Feb. 25.—Courses of instruction for noncommissioned officers and constables of Royal Canadian Mounted Police in methods of combating narcotic smuggling are expected to give good results, according to the report of the force tabled in the Commons. Eight men selected from other districts, have been taking the course in Vancouver, where, the report said, "the traffic is at its worst."

Ramifications of certain drug rings extend all over the country.

Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas Reports to House of Commons Shipment Will Commence in Spring

LONDON, Feb. 25.—In Parliament this afternoon Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, Lord Privy Seal, said he had the first definite information that an order of 40,000 tons of soft coal was to be shipped to Canada immediately the St. Lawrence River was open for navigation.

This was his answer to questions concerning the progress being made on the five steamers which, some time ago he said were to be built for the Canadian trade. Shipment of such an order, he intimated, meant the ships were to be utilized.

CO-OPERATION YET LACKING IN TRADING

President of Saskatchewan Farmers' Organization Laments True Joint Action Missing

COMPULSORY POOL TO BE DISCUSSED

(Canadian Press)

SASKATOON, Feb. 25.—Despite the highly organized status of pooling systems in Western Canada "we have little or no true co-operation," commented President George H. Williams, of Semans, Sask., speaking today to the United Farmers of Canada, Saskatchewan section. He stated that the present system was one of trade unionism, of producers banded together as a group of self-protection.

"If we are to reach true co-operation there must be a willingness on the part of producer and consumer alike to guarantee to each other a standard of living fitting to human beings—and profits must become a thing of the past," he said. "We must go through this trade-unionism - semi-co-operative - association transition, a close-knit band, on to the ideal of true co-operation, when and where we will find national and international groups of producers and consumers agreeing on exchanges in the interests of all."

POLITICAL ACTION

Beyond the presidential addresses of Mr. William and Mrs. Pearl Johnson, of Coleville, Saskatchewan, and the report of the board of directors, only routine matter was encountered at the opening session of the four-day meet. Consideration of the so-called compulsory wheat pool and of the advisability of taking political action is expected to be reached tomorrow, but debate on the question of taking political action is not entered as such on the meetings agenda.

While most of the districts of the provincial organization have passed resolutions favoring political action, it cannot be concluded that the organization will enter politics as a unit, Secretary Frank Ellason pointed out today. He stated that he had been misquoted in a report several days ago in that the United Farmers of Canada, Saskatchewan section, would "probably" enter politics.

COMPULSORY POOL

Forecast of discussion on the compulsory pooling idea was contained in the report of the board of directors. "In accordance with the mandate of the 1929 convention," the report said, "your board formulated an education programme favoring legislation which would cause all grain growers in Saskatchewan to be marketed through the wheat pool. We trust that this matter of securing control will be fully discussed by the delegates at this time and definite instructions be given your board with regard to how this campaign shall be carried on in the future."

Revaluation of the entire Canadian National Railways system should be requested by the U.F.C. of Saskatchewan, the directors' report suggested. "It is well-known that the system is overcapitalized. Great need exists for improvement in education matters," commented the report.

PREFERENCE INCREASES

Full support of the organization, the report mentioned, should be accorded a resolution to be introduced at the present parliamentary session demanding increase in British preference and lowering of tariff to such an extent that free trade with Great Britain will result within five years.

Radio should become a public utility, the directors' statement averred, "as a safeguard to our co-operative institution." Reference was made to stations "operated by persons in direct competition with the wheat pool."

CLUB WOMEN WILL HEAR LOCAL ARTIST

In view of the special interest aroused in Miss Emily Carr's work through the selection of some of her pictures for the collection of Canadian artists' paintings to be shown in Washington, D.C., and other leading Eastern American cities, an opportunity to see an exhibition of her work locally will be greatly appreciated by many Victoria people. Under the auspices of the Women's Canadian Club an exhibition of her pictures will be shown in the old picture gallery at the Crystal Garden on Tuesday, March 4, in connection with an address on "Modernistic Art," which she will give in the Crystal Garden concert room at 2:45 the same afternoon. In order that those who attend the lecture will more fully appreciate some of the references in her address it is recommended that members first visit the art collection.

Best Remedy for Cough Is Easily Mixed at Home

You'll never know how quickly a stubborn cough or chest cold can be conquered, until you try this famous recipe. It is used in millions of homes, because it gives more prompt, positive relief than anything else. It's no trouble at all to mix and costs but a trifle.

Into a 16 oz. bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to make 16 ounces. This saves two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough medicine, and gives you a purer, better remedy. It never spoils, and tastes good—children like it.

You can actually feel its penetrating, soothing action on the inflamed throat membranes. It is also absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. At the same time, it promptly loosens the germ-laden phlegm. This three-fold action explains why it brings such quick relief even in severe bronchial coughs which follow cold epidemics.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

Making His Pile By Dry Farming

(Canadian Press)

LETHBRIDGE, Alta.—That dry farming can be made profitable has been demonstrated by the experience of George Pereverizoff, who came to this district in 1918 with $500 cash and 14 horses. He paid up $11,000 for a half section within a few years and has since bought and paid for four additional sections. He now has three complete lines of farming machinery, including combines, all paid for; 500 head of sheep, fifty cattle and other stock. In three years he harvested 57,000 bushels of wheat.

Wedding Is Held in Saanich

A very pretty wedding took place yesterday afternoon at St. Stephen's Church, Mount Newton, when Rev. J. S. A. Bastin united in marriage Nita, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Hassell, of Kent, England, and Capt. Gerrard Wyllys, R.N. (retired), son of Dr. and Mrs. Wyllys, of Yarmouth, England. The church had been beautifully decorated by Mrs. Mann and Miss Wilkinson with masses of Spring flowers. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Frederick P. Hassell, of Duncan. She looked very charming in a gown of blue georgette and lace, and a grey hat trimmed with French flowers to match her gown. Her bouquet was of pale pink carnations and maidenhair fern. Mrs. Henry Mann was matron of honor and wore a becoming frock of gold crepe de Chine and hat to match. Viscount Colville was best man and the ushers were Major Wise and Mr. Hew Paterson.

Following the service a reception was held at Lord Colville's home, "Point Colville," where a large number of relatives and friends were received by the bride and groom. Mrs. Gale, Mrs. F. P. Hassell and Mrs. Hugh Leir, sister of the bride, assisted in receiving.

The out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Hassell, of Duncan; Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Leir, of Penticton, and Captain and Mrs. R. E. Barkley, of Westholme.

REPORTS TELL OF WORK OF CHAPTER

The annual meeting of the Margaret Rocke Robertson Chapter was held on Monday, in the I.O.D.E. rooms. The regent, Mrs. Genge, presided. The secretary reported a successful year's work and a splendid increase in membership. The chapter was reorganized in June, 1928, with ten members; today there are fifty members. At a very enjoyable tea given to the chapter by the first vice-regent, Mrs. Hermann Robertson, eighteen new members were enrolled and nine nominated.

The chapter has adopted the Hillside Guides. The war memorial appeal was met in full and donations given to soldiers' graves, secondary education, ex-service mental care, Christmas hampers, Travelers' Aid and League of Nations. The sunroom at the Royal Jubilee Hospital was visited and the curtains and cushions retrimmed; and at Christmas a wreath was placed under Mrs. Rocke Robertson's picture in the sunroom.

The treasurer's report was read, showing a balance in the general fund of $83.37. The educational secretary reported a substantial increase in the bursary trust fund (the chapter's special work); the fund has up to date $162.63. A library has been given to the Margaret Jenkins School; also a book on Armistice Day and a donation of $10.

SLEEP THOUGHTS

Miss Elaine Scribner Examines the "Stuff of Which Dreams Are Made"

That there are two classes of dreams, due to two different sets of causes, was the statement made by Elaine Scribner, theosophical lecturer, in an address last night on "Dreams and Premonitions," at Room 311 of the Pemberton Building.

"The fantastic, illogical dream is due to physical effects like the static over a radio," she said. "But there are dreams on record that have an origin above the physical. In answering the question 'Where do we go when we go to sleep?', the latest scientific conclusion is that sleep is the absence of the personality from the brain. When we awaken the personality returns to the brain. (Mind and brain being separate). According to theosophy, in all conditions of bodily inactivity, such as sleep (or death), man is released into higher realms, where he thinks and feels more keenly than before. Being linked with the Divine, as a spark to the flame, he is able to contact this higher consciousness, when unhampered by the limitation of the physical brain. Under suitable bodily conditions, flashes of such higher wisdom flow into the physical brain in the form of dreams.

"Thus, individuals have dreamed their own death or that of another with all the details exactly as they later occurred laid out before them. Abraham Lincoln, for three nights before his assassination, dreamed of his approaching death. Inventions, poems, and stories have been brought through in the form of dreams, as in the case of Robert Louis Stevenson, Coleridge and Harriet Beecher Stowe. Warning has been given in dreams, missing persons located, lost articles found, and distant tragedies, and past crimes brought to light.

"Dreams of the dead are often memories of actual experiences in this ethereal or 'astral' world above the physical," the speaker stated.

Friday evening, Miss Scribner will give methods for obtaining greater health, efficiency and power over environment, in a lecture on "How to Dominate the Subconscious Mind."

Increase Shown In Missionary Gifts of Church

An increase of almost $1,800 in the missionary givings of the United Church congregations on Vancouver Island, with a total of $25,442, was the report given by Rev. Hugh Nixon, the convener of the maintenance and missionary fund of the Presbytery of Victoria, at last evening's session at First United Church. This was about 90 per cent of the allocation of $28,000 which had been aimed at, and gives this presbytery second place in the seven presbyteries of the province.

Special mention was made of the generosity of Sidney, St. Andrew's; Nanaimo, First Church; Metropolitan, and Fairfield and Belmont Avenue, Victoria; Qualicum, Wilkinson Road and Ganges Harbor. The contributions of the local churches were listed as follows: Belmont, $282; Centennial, $680; Esquimalt, $132; Chinese Mission, $155; Fairfield, $1,000; First, $7,000; Metropolitan, $7,200; James Bay, $200; Japanese, $200; Oak Bay, $1,200; Indian, $25; St. Aidan's, $250; Wilkinson Road, $305; East Indian, $100. An increased use of the duplex envelope as a medium of giving and also of the increased interest of the young people's societies was reported. In view of the fact that the amount expended by the church as a whole upon the work on Vancouver Island in its various departments of Chinese, Japanese, East Indian, Indian and white work amounted to over $25,000, it was agreed that the presbytery should endeavor, within the coming year, to meet this amount and in this way attain self-support.

A pleasing interlude was given by the production of two phonograph records describing the work of the United Church as providing Christian services in 5,354 places, as many in number as the visible stars, of keeping up ninety hospitals and dispensaries, 700 schools and colleges, and redemptive homes which cared for 500 fresh inmates during the past year.

"Props," as Usual Is Man of Resource

(Canadian Press)

CHICAGO, Feb. 24.—Urban Johnson, property man for the Columbia Farm Network, recently appeared in the studio with an inflated inner tube draped around his neck. Accustomed as are radio attaches to the ways of property men, there were gasps of amazement. When the production was started, the mystery was solved. The radio play at hand was a dramatization of the invention of the air brake. Johnson, standing near the microphone, thrust a match stick against the valve stem. The escaping air sounded exactly like the applied brakes on a railway train.

MOTHERS' HOPES

What Chance Have They if Real Music Must Be Sacrificed to Machine-made Sound?

MOTHERS strive valiantly to give their children happiness—a chance to enjoy the richest, fullest lives. Contrary forces forever oppose Mother's hopes.

Today change—speed—unrest work to thwart her longing for contentment . . . The ruthless spirit of the Machine Age threatens to crowd out all humanizing culture. . . . Men and women whis heedlessly through life to the clatter of the eternal machine. . . . Now, the machine has entered the realm of the musical art. Is this the Song of Progress? No! Machine-made music can never provide a substitute for the mellowing cultural influence of Real Music. Those concerned for the future of the race will resent the strangling of the art of music by a mechanical substituts in the theatre. Yet the art will be strangled if this false economy is not halled by public demand. . . . Here is opportunity for Mother and all who share her hopes to cast a vote for preservation of Living Music. SIGN THE COUPON. Then mail it.

We don't know who said that, but in so far as the business man is concerned we dare anyone to deny the truth of it.

Whether one's product to be marketed be merchandise, a service, or a good reputation, its merits must be oft repeated or the world will soon forget and turn its attention to the man or firm whose name IS kept before them.

It is inevitable that orders and profits pursue the house which uses good printing persistently. If your product is worthy it is worth the cost of good printing to tell the trade about it.

"B.O." cheated Evelyn out of popularity . . .

until she discovered that perspiration need never offend

PRETTY, gay, marvelous dancer—Evelyn should have been the hit of any party. But she wasn't!

Why? Everybody knew—except Evelyn.

Luckily though, Evelyn's new sister-in-law was very frank. There's no "B. O."—no body odor—marring Evelyn's attractiveness now. She was told the easy way to keep perspiration odorless.

What a giveaway "B. O." is! Treacherous! Always betraying, but never warning the offender.

Don't be deceived. We can't tell when we are guilty because our sense of smell becomes deadened to an ever-present odor. But even when we don't seem to perspire, the pores give off as much as a quart of odor-causing waste daily.

Play safe—bathe with Lifebuoy. Its mild, antiseptic lather purifies pores deeply — prevents embarrassing odor. Even removes the smell of cigarettes from the fingers.

Skins, too, stay smooth, clearer with Lifebuoy. Health is safeguarded—it removes germs. You'll love Lifebuoy's pleasant extra-clean scent, which tells you it purifies, yet quickly vanishes as you rinse. Adopt Lifebuoy today.

Fashion Fancies

By Marie Belmont

Taffeta is flouncing about in a most astounding manner, and making a place for itself in any number of unexpected places. With its erstwhile bouffant mannerisms one would hardly think that taffeta would be able to influence the Princess silhouette, especially in a formal mood. That it has, however, you may see by a mere glance at the sketch above.

Here white taffeta is originating a model that many may expect to follow. The wide flounce is set on low about the hips, and the hemline is faced with deep green. The frock flirts very cleverly with bows and manages to keep two in their proper places, one on the yoke in front and the other on the skirt just below the knee.

"A regular jam," murmured another.

Announcement

Circulating Libraries

1001 Government Street Telephone 1744

Katherine Bowden begs to announce she has sold only the gift department connected with The Marionette Circulating Library. This was made necessary by the phenomenal increase in the business of the library, which demands all the time and attention of her assistants.

Miss Bailey will be glad to plan a course of reading for the members which will familiarize them with all the new authors.

She is assisted by Miss Douglas.

The success of the Marionette Circulating Library has been most gratifying. It opened in July, 1928, with a few hundred books, and now has thousands in circulation. This year branches will be opened on the Mainland, and we are optimistic enough to plan a chain of Marionette Circulating Libraries through to Winnipeg.

One day when the Spring had come Missie was allowed to go to the cemetery. Old Ishmael drove her up, and sat dozing in the sunshine while she worked over Stella's grave. There was a small white head-stone. It said: "Stella Colfax 1850-1892."

It surprised and touched her. They had not told her.

When she had finished, she sat on the bench and looked at it. Forty-two years! Would she live as long as that? How could she bear it if she did? At least, Stella had lived, had savored to the full this strange adventure called life; had laughed and cried, loved and suffered, passionately, with unction. For her, Missie, there would be only the husks of life; going on, drying up, perhaps like Adelaide finding her solace in little stolen meals, finally dying like that.

She clenched her hands.

She was still sitting there when she saw Mrs. Colfax's brother, old Archibald Kennedy, coming toward her, picking his way slowly among the graves. She had not seen him for months, and in the Spring sunlight she was shocked to see how old and how shabby he looked.

"That you, Missie?" he said, peering at her. "I broke my spectacles awhile back, and for a minute I thought it was your grandmother. You sit like her." He lowered himself onto the bench beside her, and she saw the handle of a trowel protruding from his pocket. He wiped his forehead. "Thought I'd do a little work on them today. They kinda sag through the Winter. But she's stayed pretty good, hasn't she? I suppose they graded when they set up the stone."

"I'm glad they've marked the grave."

"Well, whether they like it or not, she was a Colfax at the end. And the Colfaxes mark their graves. I'll bet—" he stopped and chuckled —"I'll bet she'll put a stone over me! And I haven't spoken to her for a long time. Not since you were born."

"Am I what you quarreled about?" she asked, astonished.

"Well, it wasn't only that, of course, but it didn't help any. You see, she'd doted on Bert. Adelaide —well, you know Adelaide; and as to Cecily—" He stopped, glanced sideways at her. "You mustn't sit like that, Missie. It's like her. Don't you get like her, Missie. Better get away, if that's happening to you."

"I couldn't hurt them, like that."

"Well, perhaps. And maybe you're safer where you are. It's a hard world for the poor, although the poor live, Missie. Don't forget that. The poor live."

"Mr. Kennedy, what about Cecily? They never speak of her."

He cleared his throat, hesitated, took off his wide hat and sat turning it in his hands. "I don't know that I ought to tell you. Still, you're almost a woman now. There's nothing wrong about Cecily; she's a good woman. Life played her a dirty trick; that's all. She ran away with a man, and he got killed before they were married. When her mother learned she was going to have a baby she turned her out."

"And the baby? Did it live?"

"Oh, it lived alright. Love children mostly do. They've got vitality. That's the great thing, Missie. Your mother had a lot of it. Yes, she lived. She's a grown woman by now."

He rambled on. Old William had been a hard father. He deserved what he got. Sarah now, Sarah would have been different, married to another man. But every man left his mark on his woman. Old William's mark was on Sarah. Old William was hard, used to lock Bert in at night, but Bert got out of a window and down a tree.

"That's what started Bert off," he said. "He was alright when he was little. Too much scolding and not enough living and loving in that house."

Before he went away, he stood before her, hat and stick in one hand, his imperishable dignity not impaired by the trowel in the other.

"You're a pretty girl," he said. "Not as handsome as your mother, but still—Don't you worry about things. Some man is going to want to marry you before long. Haven't you found anybody yet that you like?"

She hesitated, with that queer contraction at her heart. "No," she said slowly. "No. I never see anybody."

He turned away, turned back again.

"Tell me, does your grandmother still wash her hands every few minutes?"

"Yes, she does."

"Curious," he said. "Strange thing, that. She's done it ever since she put Cecily out of the house."

She smiled and waved at him as he went hobbling off, shabby, majestic old scapegrace that he was. When she drove away, she could see him once more stooping over his graves . . .

Things were not going too well in the household. During the next year the household was cut down, and there were long and anxious conferences about taxes. Now and then came letters from Lambert, and there was more pinching, more anxiety. One day Mrs. Colfax demanded to see Adelaide's savings bank-book, and Adelaide fled the house in terror and hid in the stable. Mrs. Colfax searched her bedroom systematically, washing her hands at frequent intervals. There was a deadly purpose about her, and a deadly certainty when she fould that slit in the carpet and a letter ready for Cecily under it. Without scruple she tore it open and read it. Then she went into her room and closed the door.

At twilight Adelaide, terrified of rats, came back to the kitchen.

"I'm afaid to go up, Missie. Did she find it?"

"She found a letter, yes. But why worry, Aunt Adelaide? You've done the right thing. She's wrong. She's always been wrong about Aunt Cecily."

"What do you know about Aunt Cecily?"

"All I need to know. And I'm proud of her. She went ahead and had her baby, and—"

"Hush! You don't know what you're saying," said Adelaide heavily, and went slowly up the back stairs.

There was, all that evening, a sense of impending drama in the house. Mrs. Colfax had her dinner on a tray and kept her door closed. Adelaide ate very little, although late that night Missie heard her as usual in the pantry. And then, as usual in life, too, nothing happened; nothing, that is, except that Adelaide sent no more money to Cecily.

The anaemia of the life was making its impression on Missie. She was growing silent, repressed. There was about her a sort of terrible patience. The three women were like spectators at a play. Along the street in increasing numbers went bicycles—Tommy was indeed prospering. Men drove tally-ho coaches and tandems, one horse hitched before another. There was even talk of a horseless carriage, a deadly and bourgeois contrivance which would never be practical. In New York an ingenious gentleman had made a list called the Four Hundred; Bohemia was a place—or a state of mind—where men drank beer and smoked cigars in the presence of ladies; depressed females confessed to having the blues, progressive euchre was the solace of the leisurely; political campaigns were marked by processions of gentlemen in tall white hats and cape overcoats, carrying torches smelling unpleasantly of paraffin; and a crazy man named Langley in the National Capital was claiming that some day men would fly in the air.

But none of this touched them.

One day the grocer told Missie that there was a new way to seal jelly-glasses with wax, but Adelaide snorted and sealed the jelly as she always had, with a small circular piece of paper dipped in old brandy before she tied on the paper cover.

Adelaide had changed very little. "I've taken off my woolens, Missie. Don't say anything, will you? They're in your closet." She was a little grayer, a trifle more bristly about the chin, a bit more uncertain with her hands, but that was all. And Harry Sloane had dropped out of Missie's life as though he had never been. Sometimes she thought she saw him on the street, and she would hurry on, breathless, to make sure. But it was never he.

Ellen had had her child, a girl, very blonde; and Tommy had bought a house. The bicycle had indeed swept the country, and Tommy now had a new vision.

"You wait!" he said to Missie. "These horseless carriages mean something. Some day they're going to be practical, and then watch me! You won't see me for dust."

Ellen laughed indulgently. She was not in love with Tommy; Missie was sure she never had been. But he had gratified her still modest ambitions. She had her own house, carpeted with imitation Oriental rugs, paneled with imitation mahogany. Her parlor set was of blue brocade with a self-rocker, and she had bought an upright piano on the installment plan.

"But you can't play it," said Missie.

"It furnishes," said Ellen complacently. "And when Clare is old enough she will have music lessons."

Missie faced her situation clearly. Neither Sarah nor Adelaide cared for her, or ever would. Such love as Sarah had in her withered breast was for her father, and Adelaide was secretly jealous of her; of her youth, of her slenderness, of her young eyes and her steady hands. Jealous of her when she served the arbitrary old woman in the cap who had never asked her to call her grandmother, jealous because she was Bert's daughter and sometimes looked like him.

But they needed her. She would always stay with them, never marry.

One day Adelaide and her mother had words. Not much, for Adelaide was easily silenced. And that night Sarah unexpectedly announced that she intended Missie to make her debut that Winter. Missie went pale. Adelaide's heavy face flushed a dark crimson with anger, and Cornelia MacDonald drew her shawl around her shoulders and twittered like a gaunt old bird.

Missie was miserable, and after the MacDonalds had gone she summoned all her courage:

"About coming out, Mrs. Colfax. I'd rather—I'd really rather not."

"Why not?" Sarah demanded tartly.

"I don't know anybody, and I can't dance. Oh, please, I'd rather not."

She was panic-stricken, her hands trembling, her body taut.

"You will have some dancing lessons. Don't be silly, Marcella. I have already written to your father."

(To Be Continued)

"My dear, that has QUITE gone out!"

"What, lipstick?"

"No, but lipstick that's always coming off!"

The modern woman, with her active, energetic life and pressing necessity always to look her best, cannot be bothered with lipstick that needs continual application, and, still worse, leaves tell-tale stains on everything her lips touch.

She uses Kissproof, the modern waterproof lipstick that, once on, stays on, until removed with cold cream at bedtime! Kissproof gives lips the rich, crimson glow that is youth's rightful dowry. Hot soup or tea make no difference to its lasting bloom. You can bathe and swim, and come out of the water knowing that your lips will look their loveliest.

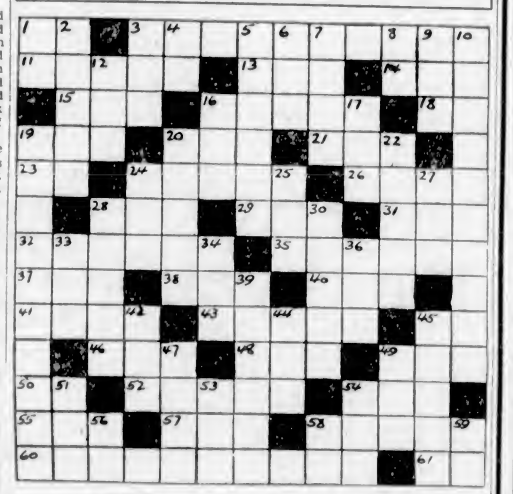

Every woman—whether she has used lipstick before or not—should try this totally different beauty aid —so lovely—so natural. At all toilet counters.

Kissproof

Let your eyes be beautiful, too!

Touch up the lashes and brows with Delica-Brow, making them appear longer, thicker—making your eyes sparkle with new life. Harmless. Waterproof. Black or brown, at all toilet counters.

GUIDE TO RIGHT WORK IS NEEDED

How to Select Best Vocation for Each Youth Is Theme of Address Heard by Kiwanians

At the Victoria Kiwanis Club luncheon in the Empress Hotel, yesterday, the principal speaker was Rev. N. A. Harkness, secretary of the British Columbia Bible Society, who took as his theme the guidance of youths to the vocations for which they are best fitted and which offer to them the best opportunities. There was, he said, a great gulf between the school and the business and commercial life of the adult world. How were boys to be enabled to choose the right career in each case, and how were they to be prepared for it?

Many lives were, to a great extent, wasted and unsuccessful because the youth or his parents had selected some profession or other vocation, not because he had shown particular natural adaptation for it, but because that particular profession or vocation appealed to their imagination as a good one to follow. Careful study should be made of the aptitudes and tendencies of the boy, as well as of the opportunities afforded in this or that occupation.

writes Mr. M. McArthur. Thousands say constipation, liver trouble, indigestion, gas and overnight with "Fruit-a-tives" Nerves quiet. Get "Fruit-a-tives" from druggist today.

WORTH SOLVING

The problem was not one that could be solved offhand or in a haphazard manner, said the speaker. It should be studied out thoroughly and in a scientific and systematic manner. The working out of a solution was an object well worth striving for, and in the meanwhile every step forward toward this solution would be most valuable.

In Vancouver, he said, members of the Kiwanis Club were addressing school children on their vocations, giving an idea of what they would need to fit themselves for careers. He suggested there was a wonderful field for community service among the members of such organizations to promote a movement for the official recognition of the need of vocational guidance.

Mr. Harkness was thanked for his address by President G. H. Stevens, who suggested the club might consider the question in its new programme of activities.

Archbishop Davidson, of the Regina Kiwanis Club, Rev. G. Osterhout, of Vancouver; and Rev. Henry Knox, Victoria, were guests at the luncheon.

The train was pulling out of the platform. The old gentleman was just settling down comfortably. Suddenly the door burst open, and a young man tumbled into the carriage and seated himself, panting and puffing, opposite the old gentleman.

The latter looked on with obvious disapproval.

"You must be very unfit, young man," he said, after a while. "Why, when I was young I never panted and got out of breath like that after a run."

"Perhaps not," returned the other, regaining his breath a little. "But I missed this train at the last station."

At The Playhouses

VARIETY THEATRE Raymond Toby Leitch is scoring a brilliant success at the Variety Theatre this week with that uproariously laughable, but grippingly dramatic play, "Gerry."

Cast in a typical "rustic" Toby part, the Variety star is a riot of fun. In his role of policeman of the City of Lisbon, Toby gives a hilariously mirthful performance. Rollon Parker is splendid as Gerry. Leone Weber turns in her usual splendid performance as Molly Bayne and, indeed, every member of the all-star cast shares in the honors for this excellent production.

COLUMBIA THEATRE If demand is any criterion of an actor's worth, then William Boyd, who plays the romantic young Karl von Arnim in D. W. Griffith's "Lady of the Pavements," now showing at the Columbia Theatre, should be more than ordinarily proud.

So marked was Boyd's success in "Two Arabian Knights" for which he was borrowed from Cecil B. DeMille that Mr. Griffith and United Artists again contracted for his services to play the leading role in "Lady of the Pavements."

ROYAL THEATRE The Gordon McLeod English Players opened their sixth week at the Royal Theatre on Monday, with the amusing comedy, "The Rotters." In this play there is something quite different from the usual style of comedy. James McGrath gives a fine and humorous rendering of the part of John Clugston, the father who is disillusioned about the respectability of his family, and also finds himself in a tangle. Lillian Christine and Margaret St. Barbe-West as his daughters, Roland Gillett as the son, Maude Blaye as the wife, and Claude Bailey as the chauffeur, all give clever performances in this most amusing play.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE In "Broadway Scandals," now showing at the Playhouse Theatre, a musical comedy, Columbia Pictures Corporation has turned out a very creditable picture. From the opening main title until the final fadeout it holds your attention. The dialogue is extremely funny, the dancing is novel and peppy and the tunes are sure song hits.

The leading roles are portrayed by Sally O'Neil and Jack Egan.

CAPITOL THEATRE Clive Brook, the delightful, suave, whimsical, dramatic actor of "Charming Sinners," "The Return of Sherlock Holmes," "Interference," "A Dangerous Woman," is seen in a powerful costarring role in "Slightly Scarlet," the current feature, showing for the last times today at the Capitol Theatre.

As in the popular hit, "Interference," Brook here plays opposite Evelyn Brent.

DOMINION THEATRE Ermine furniture and glass bathtubs are striking novelties offered by Cecil B. DeMille in "Dynamite," his first talking picture, and his first production for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, which shows for the last times today at the Dominion Theatre.

This boudoir is the scene of a strong scene between Kay Johnson and Charles Bickford when the latter breaks his way into its privacy. "Dynamite" is by Jeanie MacPherson.

LEGISLTAURE TO STAND ADJOURNED

Saskatchewan House Will Halt Business to Allow Cabinet to Talk Resources With Ottawa

REGINA, Sask., Feb. 25.—Adjournment of the Provincial Legislature will probably take place on Friday.

The purpose of the adjournment is to permit members of the Cabinet to journey to Ottawa for a conference with Premier King on the natural resources agreement. A telegraphic reply was received by Premier Anderson on Sunday, following the receipt by the Federal minister of the agreement proposed by Saskatchewan. The matter was discussed during the afternoon by the Legislative Executive Council at which time it was decided to move for an adjournment.

Premier Anderson declined to discuss the Prime Minister's reply to the Saskatchewan proposals. He has already indicated the contents of the reply to the members of the Government and it is anticipated that it will be further discussed in conference in the event of adjournment.

The duration of the recess has not been indicated but it is expected that it will be approximately two weeks. Sasktachewan's reply to the Federal Premier's memorandum on the Saskatchewan memorial indicated dissatisfaction with the proposed commission of the Federal Government but otherwise expressed satisfaction with the attitude of the Federal Cabinet.

The teacher had taught his class that the equator was an imaginary line running round the middle of the earth.

He was surprised to hear a few days later that one of the "dangers" of the tropics was the equator.

"What makes you say that, Willie?" he asked.

"You said it was a menagerie lion, an' if it's running all round the middle of the earth it must be dangerous, 'cos it's not caged up."

EXPENDITURE OF BUREAU PLANNED

Sum of $200 Voted for Return of Canoe of Captain Voss From England

Yesterday the publicity bureau, at its luncheon meeting in the Chamber of Commerce, voted the sum of $200 for the return of the historic canoe, Old Tillicum, which originally belonged to Captain Voss and is now lying at Gravesend, Eng. It is possible that the crating and dispatching of the canoe may cost more than this amount, but it is intended that the canoe shall become an object of interest in Beacon Hill Park if the work of transportation can be effected for the sum voted by the bureau.

The sum of $1,127 will be spent for the printing of 50,000 publicity folders. The J. Parker Buckle Printing Company, Limited, was granted the contract for this work. A further sum of $250 was voted for the purchase of a new film projector, it being felt by the directors that there was considerable advertising value in the showing of films.

Mr. David Leeming, president of the bureau, and Mr. George I. Warren, publicity commissioner, will take part in the Pacific Coast crusade from Portland to Los Angeles next April, the cars leaving Portland on April 14.

A suggestion was made by Mayor Anscomb that the local broadcasting station stage programmes similar to those which were given under the auspices of the Seattle bureau last year. At the end of the meeting Mr. Leeming expressed the regret of the bureau at the death of Br. George F. Watson.

SOUND AUCTION and CONTRACT
by WILBUR C. WHITEHEAD
The World's Greatest Authority

A Particular Type of Hand Calls for a Particular Type of Bid

Auction and Contract Bidding

	1st Rd.	2nd Rd.
South	Pass	Pass
West	4 ♠
North	Pass
East	Pass

SALIENT POINTS OF THE BIDDING

Auction and Contract: South passing, West bids four Spades, concluding the bidding.

THE PLAY

North opens the Two of Hearts, as the bidding gives no indication that his preferable initial lead should be the Ace of Clubs. The Dummy going down, West plays the Eight from Dummy, South the Jack and West the Ace. Three rounds of Spades suffice to exhaust the outstanding trumps. At this point West stops to consider the situation. He has but two possible losers—the Ace of Diamonds and the Ace of Clubs, and a good chance to reduce these two losers to one if North holds the Queen of Hearts. This gamble he decides to take, for, even though the finesse of the Nine of Hearts lose, he cannot lose his contract. West, therefore, leads the three of Hearts and finesses the Nine, which holds. He next proceeds to lay down his King of Hearts and discards thereon his Ten of Clubs. So played West makes a Small Slam.

It may be noted, however, that had a Small Slam been bid, it cannot be made, as in such case North would have laid down his Ace of Clubs, following which West must also lose the Ace of Diamonds.

Spades originally; and, in addition thereto, risks failure by partner to go to four Spades with but one supporting trick when such one trick, if held, is all that West needs for game.

An original five bid, to invite a Slam bid by partner should he hold a sure trick, while preferable to that of either two or three, risks the loss of a probable game at Spades for but a remote possible Slam. Fortunately the partner of the player who bid five Spades did not go to six Spades, as against a Slam contract. North would, or should, open his Ace of Clubs. If but four Spades be bid, North's normal opening is his fourth best Heart.

West's holding in the above deal calls for but one bid, that of four Spades, whether the game be Auction or Contract, yet in the Duplicate Contract game in which this deal arose, one West player opened the bidding with two Spades; another with three Spades and still another with five Spades.

West holds nine probable tricks with Spades the trump massed, except for the Ace of Hearts, wholly in one suit, and, hence, but one sure trick, the Ace of Hearts, in defense against an adverse suit trump.

This type of holding calls for but one type of bid, the pre-emptive or "shut out" bid of as many tricks as the probable trick content of the suit or suit and hand will justify; at least four if a Major suit, and at least five if a Minor suit.

An original two bid with West's hand not only deceives partner as to type of hand held, but risks letting in adverse bidding that may drive West to a bid he cannot make to prevent opponents from going game at their best bid.

An original three Spade bid also risks letting in an adverse four bid by an opponent who would not have bid five had West bid four

The Ghost Is Hungry

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

No ghost has ever need of meat;
You ne'er will see one that can eat.
—Blacky the Crow.

There was a ghost in the Old Orchard—a black ghost. Any one of the little people there would have told you that Blacky was dead; that he had been killed and eaten three days before by Hooty the Owl. Yet, sitting on one of the topmost branches of an apple tree there in the Old Orchard was the living image of Blacky the Crow. Of course, it couldn't be Blacky, so it must be his ghost. At least, that is what Peter Rabbit thought as he peeped out from the old stone wall, and Happy Jack Squirrel thought as he peered around the trunk of another tree, and Tommy Tit the Chickadee thought as he looked out of a bird-house, and Yank-Yank the Nuthatch and Drummer the Woodpecker thought, as they clung to the trunks of two other trees.

"Caw, Caw, Caw!" said the big, black fellow in the top of the apple tree. "Caw, Caw, Caw!" Then he looked this way and looked that way just as they had all seen Blacky the Crow do so many times. After this he flew down and began to pick up some pieces of bread that Mother Brown had thrown out a little while before. Each time he picked up a bit of bread and swallowed it, he paused to look around to be sure that all was well. The way that bread disappeared was proof enough that the black ghost was hungry.

Watching him eat, Peter Rabbit began to have doubts. Yes, sir, Peter began to have doubts. He poked his head out a little farther. Presently he climbed out and hopped along over the stone wall to where Blacky the Crow was eating.

"Are you real?" asked Peter politely.

The black ghost nearly choked on a piece of bread. "What?" he asked.

"Are you real?" repeated Peter in his most polite manner.

A funny expression appeared on the face of the black ghost. "Are you real yourself?" he inquired.

"Are you real?" asked Peter politely

"Of course I am real!" retorted Peter. "What a silly question!"

"No more silly than yours," replied the black ghost, reaching for another piece of bread.

"But you're not Blacky the Crow, while I am Peter the Rabbit," said Peter.

"If I'm not Blacky the Crow, who am I?" came the prompt retort.

"That's what I should like to know," replied Peter. "You see, Blacky the Crow is dead and eaten."

"Caw, Caw, Caw!" cried the black ghost. "I want to know! This is news indeed! Well, well, well, so I'm dead and eaten. Pray tell me when I died and who ate me. What is the matter with you, Peter Rabbit?"

Peter blinked. He blinked and blinked. A funny look came over his face. "I—I do believe you are Blacky," said he. "Where have you been for the last three days?"

"A long way from here," replied Blacky. "Mrs. Blacky and I and all our friends have been away down to Big River for a few days."

"Then whose feathers did Chatterer the Red Squirrel find under the tree where you old nest is?" demanded Peter.

"Oh," replied Blacky, "those were the feathers of a foolish young Crow who didn't have sense enough not to go too close to Hooty the Owl. There were two of the foolish young Crows who thought they knew it all. Hooty caught one and Mrs. Hooty caught the other. So you thought they caught me, did you? Well, well, well! I thought you had a better opinion of my smartness than that."

And so it was that the black ghost proved to be no ghost at all, but was really Blacky the Crow himself.

Woman Senator Heard for First Time in Chamber

(Canadian Press)

OTTAWA, Feb. 25.—Parliament heard its first woman senator today. Seconding the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne, Hon. Cairine Wilson, speaking in French, declared that she owed her appointment to the Upper Chamber to the bravery of the five pioneer women of Alberta who took the plea for admission to the Senate to the Privy Council. These pioneer women, Mrs. Wilson said, were Judge Emily F. Murphy, Mesdames Nellie F. McClung, Louise C. McKinny, Henrietta Edwards and Irene Parlby.

The whole pack joined in the bagheera jungle dance, being led by Acting Sixer Jack Kirk, the deer part being taken by Cub Instructor Will Gornall and Second Groff Murdoch. Akela Horsefield announced his plans for a Cub handicraft corner for the new headquarters. At the close of the meeting Acting Sixer Jack Kirk was presented with his second years' service star.

St. Paul's Pack—At the last meeting, at which there were twenty-one Cubs present, Myron Ashton received his team player's proficiency badge. Ralph Helnsy and John Manchton passed their ball-throwing and time-telling tests. Akela Slater, of the Third Victoria Pack, paid a very welcome visit to the pack during the meeting.

The following first star tests have been passed: Book balancing, Cubs Willie Wilkinson and Billie Steadman; reef knot, Cubs Dick Challoner, Willie Wilkinson, Billie Steadman and Clifford Howell; shee bend, Willie Wilkinson. Langslow Bishop, who was very interested in scouting in Calgary before coming to Victoria. A very hearty howl of welcome was given for Mr. Bishop, after which he spoke to the Cubs for a few minutes.

WOLF CUB NEWS

North Quadra—The meeting was started with the freeze game, Sixer L. Irving helped Acting Sixer Frost and Second Fox with their second star signalling. Sixer N. Myles took charge of the first star work and akela took charge of the recruits. After a good game of clear decks akela told the pack about Lord Baden-Powell and how his birthday anniversary and that of Lady Baden-Powell was celebrated nearly all over the world. A vote was taken for captain of the football team, and Acting Sixer Harry Frost was re-elected. At the end of the meeting Sixer L. Irving received his guide's badge. Stanley Bell and Teddy Waring then took their promise and were enrolled as Wolf Cubs. After the meeting the sixers' council chose the members of the football team and decided on their positions, after which they had a pow wow about various proficiency badges.

A new office boy had been sent to the post by his chief with two important letters.

"Did you catch the post with those letters?" asked his chief on his return.

"Yes, sir; just managed it," was the reply. "But you made a mistake—you put the twopence-halfpenny stamp on the Birmingham letter and the three-halfpenny on the one to Paris."

"How annoying! What did you do?"

"Oh, I made it all right, sir! I noticed it just in time, so I slipped into the postoffice and altered the addresses."

LEGION BRANCH HOLDS SOCIAL

PARKSVILLE SCENE OF ANNUAL GATHERING OF VETERANS' CONTINGENTS

Colonel Foster Gives Interesting Address on War Episodes—Programme Enjoyed

PARKSVILLE, Feb. 22. — The Mount Arrowsmith branch, Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., held its annual social in the Parish Hall, Parksville, on Friday night. The event drew a large attendance of members of the branch and auxiliary. There were also large contingents from the Nanaimo branch and the Qualicum Beach branch.

The speakers of the evening were Colonel W. W. Foster, D.S.O., provincial president, Canadian Legion and Comrade T. A. Barnard, first provincial vice-president and zone representative, also Comrades Samson and Cottle, past and present presidents of the Nanaimo branch.

The branch president, Comrade Maxwell, after welcoming the assembled guests, briefly outlined the progress and activities of the branch and stressed the need for all comrades to get behind the movement.

Comrade Samson also stressed the necessity of veterans lining up to strengthen the movement and achieve the aims and objects of the organization. He also mentioned that Jack Blair, a former president of the old Great War Veterans Association in Nanaimo and a very good friend of the returned men, is now in hospital in Vancouver.

Comrade Barnard spoke briefly in his usual breezy style along the same lines.

Comrade Colonel Foster, after a few remarks on the activities of the Canadian Legion, gave an extremely interesting address on "From Mons to the Marne and Back Again," which was interspersed with interesting incidents which occurred on the retreat and advance.

The musical end of the function was very ably rendered by the following singers: Mr. Sanders, Qualicum Beach; Mrs. Corder, Coombs; Mr. James, Qualicum Beach; Miss Griffin, district nurse; Mr. J. McColl, Mr. E. Husband, and Mr. J. Scales, all of Nanaimo. Mrs. Harry Rushton, Parksville, proved a very capable accompanist.

Refreshments were provided by the Womens' Auxiliary.

MISSIONS MAKE STEADY PROGRESS

United Church Activities on Vancouver Island Are Described

The erection of a church at Errington and of manses at Ganges and Qualicum were some of the encouraging items in the report of the home mission committee of the United Church Presbytery of Victoria as given by Rev. S. T. Galbraith, the convener of the home mission committee at the afternoon session in the First United Church.

The home mission work of the Presbytery was reviewed, including the work among Indians and Orientals, and grants were recommended to the home mission board which will meet next month in Toronto. The policy of the reduction of grants and the bringing of charges to self-support was being carried out as far as possible. Following up the report of a survey committee that was appointed two years ago some $4,000 was being saved yearly by various adjustments and combinations of fields. A hopeful condition was reported in most of the charges, a number of which were moving toward self-support.

In connection with the report dealing with the missions among Orientals, Dr. Osterhaut, superintendent of Oriental missions, stated arrangements had been completed for co-operation between the Church of England and the United Church in the mission work among the Chinese of Cumberland. Provision was made for the continuance of the services throughout the year among the Japanese of Cumberland, of Mr. K. Nomoto, an Arts student of the University of British Columbia. This will relieve the burden that has been upon Rev. Y. Ogura of this city, who has been ministering to all the Japanese population on the Island.

Application will be made to the City Council for the exemption from taxation on the property of the Japanese Mission at 657 Pandora Avenue, formerly known as the Bevan residence, but now occupied as the centre of the religious work among the local Japanese. It combines a chapel, school, and missionary's residence. It was pointed out that a similar property at 528 Fisgard Street, which is the headquarters of the Chinese missionary work of the United Church, had been exempt for several years. Mr. A. Lee was appointed to act for the Presbytery in the matter.

In the report on foreign missions as given by Dr. W. J. Sipprell, mention was made of courtesies that had been extended to missionaries en route to their work in the Orient.

TEACHES HOW TO PRUNE

QUALICUM BEACH, Feb. 25.—Mr. E. W. White, the district horticulturist, of Victoria, is spending three days in Qualicum Beach giving pruning lessons in various orchards and on Monday night in the Farmers' Institute Hall, gave an address on pruning with illustrations with the natural branches of various fruit trees. Those who attended were much interested; pros and cons were brought up and well discussed.

NORTH SAANICH SERVICE CLUB HOLDS SOCIAL

NORTH SAANICH, Feb. 25.—The weekly meeting of the North Saanich Service Club was held in the clubrooms, School Crossroads, on Saturday evening, and was attended by a large and very merry gathering of members, with their friends, and a number of visitors were welcomed. The time passed pleasantly at progressive five hundred, which was played at fifteen tables, and at the conclusion of a keenly-contested game, the prizes were presented to Miss Charlebois, and Mr. Reg. Beswick.

The supper committee then served the dainty refreshments, a number of the batchelor members pouring coffee.

The hall was then cleared for dancing, a number of the younger members arriving to join in, and was enthusiastically continued until midnight, the music being supplied by the Wilson Jazz Trio.

SOUTH SAANICH FARMERS' INSTITUTE HEARS MR. W. DOWNES

Plans Are Made for Annual Crop and Ploughing Competitions

KEATING, Feb. 25.—An interesting meeting was held by the South Saanich Farmer's Institute in Temperance Hall on Thursday evening, when Mr. W. Downes, provincial entomologist, assisted by Mr. Huston, gave a talk and motion pictures on "Useful Insects.'

Mr. Downes explained the more common of the useful insects which gain distinction by destroying harmful insects. The motion picture which followed showed the work carried on by the entomologists at the Government laboratory at Chatham, Ontario, in breeding insects and flies which prey upon the terrible pest, the corn borer.

This was followed by a talk on "Herd Improvement" by the same speaker, who told of the importance of a cow testing association in a district, and the little cost and trouble of weeding out and building up a herd. Further moving pictures followed. The speaker and Mr. Huston, who operated the camera, were heartily thanked at the close.

There followed a business period, presided over by Mr. W. D. Micheil. During this the annual crop and garden competitions were discussed, and as it was decided to hold them again this year; several announced their intention of entering. The ploughing match will be held in the near future, the date to be announced later.

Mr. J. N. Woods reported on the Rotary seed-growing competition, and said that he had been appointed to inform the children in Keating and Saanichton schools of the competition.

The members are invited to attend a pruning class which will be conducted on Monday morning, March 3, commencing at Mr. Rhodes' farm, Central Saanich Road, and will go from there to Messrs. Mosher, Gliddon's and Stewart's farms.

An entertainment for the South Saanich Women's Institute was discussed, and the directors were appointed to arrange it.

Following the meeting refreshments were served by the ladies.

Mrs. A. H. Turner was elected corresponding secretary.

Following the business session, a social time was held, refreshments were served and a hearty vote of thanks tendered the hostess for her hospitality. The meeting adjourned to meet at the home of Mrs. William Harris, Townsite, in March.

ASTRONOMICAL PROGRESS TOLD BY SCIENTIST

Mr. W. E. Harper, of Astrophysical Observatory, Tells of Advances Made in 1929

STAR KNOWLEDGE GROWING RAPIDLY

Addressing the members of the Royal Astronomical Society on "Astronomical Progress During 1929," Mr. W. E. Harper, of the Dominion Astrophysical Obeservatory, dealt with the subject under two headings: First, the solar system; second, the stellar universe. In the case of the sun, the cause of the sunspots which were at a maximum in 1928, is not even yet understood, but is believed to be deep-seated within the sun itself.

The auroral displays which are most numerous at sunspot maxima have hitherto been considered to be due to electrified particles shot out from the sun at such times and which bombard our upper atmosphere. A theory advanced the past year ascribes the cause to the ultra-violet radiation which escapes from the sun where a great hole is thus torn in its surface. This ultra-violet light ionizes the nitrogen and oxygen atoms in the upper air which then make their way along the lines of magnetic force to the vicinity of the magnetic pole, where recombination takes place and the resulting energy is given off in auroral light.

For many years it has been known that the moon is not exactly in the position that it should be from time to time on the assumption of ordinary revolution about the earth. Sometimes it is a second or so fast, at other times it is slow to that same extent. The cause has now been traced to our earth which is variable in its rate of rotation by these small amounts.

The idea that Jupiter gave out heat of its own has had to be abandoned, as it is found that its surface temperature is 150 degrees below zero, centigrade.

Knowledge of the motions, distances and physical conditions of the stars grows apace, said the speaker, citing the number of stars described by scientists of the great observatories.

Delicate electrical thermometers have been devised to measure the heat radiations reaching us from the stars. Such a delicate instrument has been used upon the planets to obtain the temperatures of their surfaces. Mars, with a sparse atmosphere, varies greatly with the time of day; but at noonday its temperature may be likened to a cool Autumn day upon the earth.

Studies at Mount Wilson of the variable stars in the great Andromeda nebula place its distance at 900,000 light years. The fainter of these spiral nebulae are believed by Hubble to be correspondingly more remote, and some have been assigned distances of 140,000,000 light years.

"Yeast is used constantly in my clinic... its results are Astonishing"

...says world authority on nutrition, PROFESSOR DR. CARL VON NOORDEN, GEHEIMRAT

A MAGICAL NAME in medicine—Dr. Carl von Noorden...founder of Europe's most exclusive clinic, at Frankfort, Germany . . . physician to royalty . . . bearer of titles from all the governments of Europe! Each year hundreds of persons go thousands of miles for his advice. He says:

"Yeast is used constantly in my clinic. Its results are astonishing. Its regular use can in a short time bring about normal functioning of the bowels. It increases secretion of the digestive juices, improves appetite. For over thirty years it has been used, with surprising results, to cure certain diseases of the skin.

"No other food—and yeast is a food—is richer in vitamin B. When 'irradiated,' it contains great quantities of the 'sunshine' vitamin D.

"Vitamin D strengthens endurance, fortifies against colds and disease. In those of growing age it builds strong bones and teeth. In expectant and nursing mothers it aids in preventing the softening of bones and teeth so common at these periods and protects the unborn or nursing child against rickets.

"Yeast has an extraordinary tonic effect on the whole system."

Learn for yourself the joy of new energy, health! Eat 3 cakes daily of Fleischmann's Yeast. Each cake is rich in two precious vitamins—B and D. At grocers', restaurants, drug stores, soda fountains. Directions on label.

(Left) "How I dreaded those terrible colds and winter sicknesses!" writes MRS. R. F. FINNERAN of Columbus, Ohio. "I felt sluggish, listless—due perhaps to staying indoors too much . . . After eating yeast, my sluggishness disappeared. I had worlds of new pep. And I found I could go through a whole winter without a cold."

(Right) "Besides being a cartoonist, I go in for baseball," writes W. BRAND of Vancouver, B. C. "I suffered from constipation, which interfered with my activities considerably. A friend told me to try Fleischmann's Yeast. Results were astonishing. It gave me more pep and vitality than I ever anticipated."

Fleischmann's Yeast is made in Canada by Canadians

Famous Specialists give simple health rule . . .

Europe's greatest stomach specialist, DR. MAURICE DELORT, says: "Yeast stimulates secretion of digestive juices and encourages the working of stomach and intestines."

Dean of Stockholm's skin specialists, PROFESSOR DR. JOHAN ALMKVIST, says: "For twenty-five years I have successfully used yeast for skin troubles such as acne and boils."

Austria's great internal specialist, HOFRAT PROFESSOR DR. GUSTAV SINGER, declares: "Yeast is the best intestinal purifier known. Its action causes constipation to disappear."

400 Yards Just a Putt for Babe

By AL DEMAREE

(Former Pitcher New York Giants)

Shires is probably the most colorful player since Ruth became famous. And speaking of the Babe he takes his golf seriously and never remembers any rounds that he shot over "eighty." He prides himself on his tee shot and refuses to take a back seat for Bob MacDonald, Bobby Jones, Sarazen or any of the long hitters off the tee.

I was playing with him one day on the Clearwater, Florida, course and on the second hole there is a small winding stream of water at least four hundred yards from the tee.

"How far is that creek from the tee, 'Eight-ball'?" he asked his colored caddy.

"Don't worry about dat creek, Mistah Ruth," said the caddy. "You'll never reach it. Give it everything yoh got."

"Boloney!" answered Babe. "That's what they told me about a lot of the fences in the ball park.

Capt. Manu Swam Twenty Miles Across a Shark-Infested Channel—This suggestion won first prize in the Hawaiian "Believe It or Not" Contest. On February 28, 1911, at 8:30 p.m., Capt. Manu's little ship was rammed and sunk while crossing the Molekai Channel, Hawaii. He was thrown into the water, not noticed by the other ship, and realizing his plight started to swim to Lania, a distance of over twenty miles through water infested with sharks. Manu reached Kaena Point, on the Island of Lanai, shortly before noon the next day. Manu's feat, considering his advanced age of seventy-seven years, is one of the greatest endurance tests and displays of grit and courage ever recorded in the history of the Pacific.

Candidates for British Walker Cup Team Chosen

Sixteen Picked to Battle for Eight Places in Match Against United States, Starting May 15—Final Selection to Be Made Soon

LONDON, Feb. 25. — The championship committee of the Royal and Ancient Golf Club of St. Andrews announces that the following players have been asked to hold themselves in readiness to play in the Walker Cup match, starting May 15.

T. A. Bourn (Sunningdale), W. Campbell (Cambuslang), R. Harris (Royal and Ancient), R. W. Hartley (Sunningdale), Major C. O. Hezlet (Royal Portrush), Sir E. W. E. Holderness (Walton Heath), J. A. Lang (Erskine), S. L. McKinlay (Alexandra), R. H. Oppenheimer (Royal and Ancient), J. N. Smith (Earlsferry Thistle), J. A. Stout (Bridlington), C. J. H. Tolley (Royal and Ancient), T. A. Torrance (Sandy Lodge), Dr. W. Tweddell (Stourbridge), R. H. Wethered (Worplesdon), and J. Wilson (Prestwick St. Nicholas).

The final selection will be made in about two weeks.

Of the sixteen players warned only eight will play against the United States at Sandwich, and of them eight have already represented their country in the Walker Cup competition. The inclusion of Robert Harris is shrewd, for what he does not know of Royal St. George's is not worth knowing, and Scotland missed his services in the international match there last year. Hartley, Holderness, Hezlet, Wethered, Torrance and the amateur champion select themselves. The inclusion of Bourn is sound, for could he only gain a little certainty on the greens he might win a championship any year, for he is a beautiful player. Campbell, Lang and McKinlay are all fine players, and J. N. Smith gave proof of what was in him in the final of the amateur championship last year. Of the sixteen warned players, seven are Scottish, one Irish, and of the English players six are Southern players, one hails from the Midlands and one from the North.

FIELDING TO BE IN GOOD SHAPE

Local Fighter Training Hard for Saturday's Mix With Eddie Herman—Has Changed Tactics

When Tommy Fielding, Victoria lightweight, climbs over the ropes at the Tillicum gymnasium Saturday night to battle Eddie Herman, flashy Seattle fighter, in a return bout, he will be in the pink of condition. Fielding has been working out nightly at the gymnasium and looks good. He has more socking power and in training sessions keeps his chin covered up. Fans who saw him in action against Herman at the Crystal Garden a few months ago remember him for the way he stuck out his unprotected chin to the fast throwing punches of Herman, much to their disappointment. It will be a different Fielding in action Saturday night.

Tickets, which went on sale yesterday, are moving steadily and it begins to look as if the fans were sincere when they asked that Fielding and Herman be rematched. Pasteboards may be secured at F. B. Richardson's, 736 Yates Street; Empire Cigar Stand, Douglas Street, and Two Jacks Dope, Government Street.

Victorian Is Much Fancied to Win Agua Caliente Handicap

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—It is still a month until the class of the Winter thoroughbreds thunders over the Agua Caliente turf in quest of $100,000, but the future bookmakers are wagering that Victorian will be out in front at the end of the rich mile-and-a-quarter jaunt known as the Agua Caliente Handicap.

So confident are the bookies that the great son of Whisk Broom II will lead the field down the picturesque Mexican track on March 23 that they are laying odds of 4 to 1 on the play-or-pay basis. The hero of the 1928 Preakness, once the ace of Harry Payne Whitney's stable, will race under the colors of the Warm stable, owned by Silas Mason and W. A. Hangar, New York railroad constructors and bridge builders.

CLAPPER HEADS INDIVIDUAL LIST

MONTREAL, Feb. 25.—Substantial scoring throughout last week's National Hockey League campaign saw all the leaders increasing their point totals, and no changes of consequence resulting, according to figures issued last night covering the games up to and including February 23.

Frankie Boucher, of the New York Rangers, holds the leadership of the entire league in point making. The agile center has scored twenty-six goals, and is credited with the remarkable total of thirty-three assists, in itself a league record.

The actual scoring leader continues to be "Dit" Clapper, of Boston Bruins. Clapper has notched thirty-five goals, and is closely pursued for actual scoring honors by Nels Stewart, centre ice star of Montreal Maroons. Stewart has scored thirty-four goals and with twelve assists, also leads the Canadian section in the matter of points with forty-six. This gives him a margin of three over Hec Kilrea. Normie Himes, New York Americans, moved into third place in the point makers of the Canadian section.

Frankie Boucher is trailed in the American section by stars of the contending clubs. "Cooney" Weiland, the Boston Bruin centre, is only two points behind Boucher, having had thirty-one goals and twenty-six assists, while Bill Cook, the elusive Ranger right wing, has had twenty-five goals and twenty-eight assists.

MAGNOLIA TO HAVE CHARGE OF MIAMI GO

Official Will Be Sole Arbiter in Stopping Bout for Any Reason He Thinks Best

STATEMENT CLEARS VARYING REPORTS

MIAMI, Feb. 25.—The Miami Boxing Commission issued a statement today saying Lou Magnolia would be the sole arbiter in stopping the bout between Jack Sharkey and Phil Scott, Thursday night, because of a knockout, a foul or for any other reason.

The statement was prompted by a belief prevailing here it would be necessary for the referee to consult the chief second of either fighter before making a decision as to whether the boxer, if in distress, could continue. Magnolia will make all decisions independently and on his own judgment, except that between rounds, as is customary, he may inquire of the second concerning the condition of either fighter and his ability to continue, the statement said.

Up-Islanders Defeat "Y" by Single Point In Two-Game Series

Final Score Is 46-45—Shell Oil Juniors Defeat Royals in Overtime — Red Birds Capture Women's "B" Honors

Visiting Duncan cage teams won two of the Lower Island championships, concluded at the Victoria High School gymnasium last night, while a third title went to Bill Erickson's Red Birds. Shell Oil juniors were defeated 23-21 by the Royals, of this city, after five minutes of overtime, but as the visitors won the first game played at Duncan by a 24-20 score, they copped the home-and-home series by a 45-43 count. Y.M.C.A. men's "B" team faced a twelve-point handicap when they took the floor against Duncan, and, although they turned back the visitors under a 24-13 count, their total fell one short of their opponents. Red Birds, women's "B" cagers, who defeated Duncan 22-21 in the first tussle Up-Island, turned in a 22-12 victory last night and won the series, 44-21.

BIRDS TO MEET NANAIMO

The Birds will battle Nanaimo in games for the Island title at the Victoria High School gymnasium Friday night. On the same evening Victoria Capitals will oppose Nanaimo's men's "A" team in the same series.

Taking the floor with a 33-21 score gained at Duncan against them, the Y.M.C.A. put up a great fight before admitting defeat. Perhaps even yet, had the scorekeeper been onto his job, the "Y" gang would still be in the fight for Island honors. When the final whistle sounded the score board read 25-13 in the favor of the Y.M.C.A., but on a checkup the story revealed that somewhere an extra point had been added to the score. It was a rude awakening for the Y.M.C.A. and a big surprise packet for the visiting Duncan cagers. Two seconds from full-time Johnny Craig, diminutive forward of the "Y," had a foul shot which he missed. This break cost the local team the game, and gave Duncan a much coveted victory.

Turning in a fast game, Y.M.C.A. outscored Duncan in both halves only to fall short of their total by a lone point and pass out of the Island championships. The "Y" held a thirteen to nine lead at the rest interval. Shortly after the resumption of play, Engleson, centre for the locals, was chased from the floor with four personals. Rowland soon followed his teammate to the sideline with a like number of infractions of the basketball rules opposite his name.

Victoria, like Duncan, were using all kinds of tactics, some more suitable for a Rugby game than that of basketball, and Allan LeMarquand, the official referee, had a job on his hands. However, LeMarquand knows his cage game and he kept the tussle well under control at all times.

Evens Score

Ten minutes through the second half "Shavvy" Patterson, who replaced Engleson, sunk the basket to bring the score to twenty-one to nine for the "Y" and put the teams on an even basis, as Duncan was holding a twelve point lead which they gained on their home floor.

H. Talbot was doing most of the damage in this half for Duncan, and but for his timely baskets the Up-Islanders would have been out of the series right now. Talbot dropped home eight points in the second half, enough to keep his team in the running.

Johnny Craig, speedy forward for the "Y," kept them in the fight in the dying stages by sinking the leather from almost centre, with shots that were bordering on sensationalism.

Allan LeMarquand refereed and the teams were:

Duncan—McDonald (2), McNicol, L. Talbot, H. Talbot (8), Flecher, McEwan, A. Dirome (2), Kyle and S. Dirome.

Y.M.C.A.—Acres (6), Lawson (1), Patterson (2), Craig (9), Engleson (4), Bagley, Rowlands (2) and Rutan.

RED BIRDS WIN

Playing a brand of ball all of their own, Red Birds waltzed through a 22-12 victory over Duncan in the second game. Taking the lead in the first quarter when Torie Rennie and Jessie Edwards sank the leather for field baskets the Birds were never headed. This pair of sharpshooters each added four points before full time, while three field baskets by Berta Peden had something to do with the Birds' victory. The team turned in a splendid exhibition and were by far the better team on the evening's play.

Tommy Forbes refereed and the teams were:

Red Birds—T. Rennie (6), B. Peden (6), M. Wilson, K. Wellburn (2), M. Motson, J. Edwards (6), D. Lea, B. Boyce (2) and C. Atherton.

Duncan—R. Weeks (3), R. McNicol (3), U. Fletcher (2), I. Castley (2), J. Weeks (2) and A. Colk.

OVERTIME STRUGGLE

Royals, junior champions of the Sunday School Basketball League, forced Shell Oil juniors into five minutes of overtime play before finally admitting defeat. At the end of the regular playing time the score stood 21-17 in favor of the locals, and this taking into consideration the four-point lead gained by Duncan at home evened the series at 41-all. Oliver Goldsmith, curly-headed guard of the Royals, kept them in the fight in the dying moments by sinking two of the prettiest field baskets seen here for many a day. "Goldie" literally shot the leather from out of the clouds and through the hoop.

Two minutes of the overtime session was history when Pitt dropped the leather home for Duncan giving them a two-point lead. Graves followed and gave the visitors a four-point advantage. In the dying moments Royals fought back but their best effort was another basket by Goldsmith.

Bob Whyte refereed and the teams were:

Shell Oil—Pitt (6), Evans (4), Mottishaw (6), Smythe (1), Dickie and Baker (4).

Royals—Goldsmith (13), Cadell, Bradley (4), Clarke (2), Taylor, Roberts and Preston (4).

SAILORS FACING TOUGH STRUGGLE

Undefeated Leaders of Midweek Soccer League to Battle Hudson's Bay—United to Play Batchelor's

Percy Shrimpton, veteran net minder and captain of the Hudson's Bay midweek soccer eleven, will lead his team to battle tomorrow at Beacon Hill against the undefeated Navy squad. In their last meeting the sailors gained a 4-3 victory, but the boys of green and gold have visions of reversing this verdict today. The other match scheduled will see Batchelor's Food Stores meeting Saanich United at the Royal Athletic Park. Both games will start at 2:45 o'clock. The teams:

Hudson's Bay will be selected from Shrimpton, Haggen, Gardiner, Oakman, Woodley, Cull, Newell, Fish, Armstrong, Small, Davis and Atkinson.

Garden Refuses to Let Miami Scuffle Be Put on the Air

All Efforts of Broadcasters to Get Hookup at Ring Fail—Sharkey Four to One Favorite to Win by Early Knockout

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 25.—Although the strongest kind of pressure has been brought to bear, the Madison Square Garden Corporation today apparently had resisted all efforts to bring about a reversal on its decision not to broadcast the Sharkey-Scott and Campolo-Risko show Thursday night.

Great Britain, represented by Phil Scott, and Argentina, by Victorio Campolo, in the two main bouts of the evening, especially have been anxious to arrange for the blow-by-blow returns by radio.

However, William F. Carey, president and spokesman for the Garden directorate, flatly said that there would be no broadcast.

The second Battle of the Palms is only three days off, with the box office making a gallant struggle to get the enterprise "out of the red" and the principal combatants through with intensive training, going through the motions to keep in shape until the gong sends them into action.

Nothing has happened thus far to alter the one-aided aspect of the Anglo-American main event. Betting has been conspicuous by its absence. Roughly, the odds today were at four to one that Sharkey wins by a knockout inside four rounds.

SAILORS SEE SCOTT

Canadian and British sailors were landed in substantial detachments today from the men o' war anchored in Biscayne Bay, but as it turned out, it was not necessary to call upon them to settle a renewal of a controversy between Phil Scott's camp and the Miami Boxing Commission over the issue of procedure in the ring by Referee Lou Magnolia Thursday night, when the British heavyweight will fight Jack Sharkey.

Playing a lone hand in his attempt to break up the peaceful serenity of fight preparations, Scott's manager, Jimmy Johnston, tossed defiance at all orthodox ring regulations in a demand that he first be consulted by the referee before any possible action is taken to stop the bout because of Scott's condition. Johnston insisted that if anything happened to Phil he wanted it to be the count of ten, not any technicality of ruling or judgment on the part of the referee.

Not satisfied with a flat rebuff this morning from the commission and going so far as to threaten to call off the fight unless his demands were met, Johnston argued the issue out again this afternoon at another conference with the boxing authorities and Referee Magnolia.

So far as the commission is concerned, the whole matter was disposed of with this flat statement:

MAGNOLIA SOLE ARBITER

"Lou Magnolia is to have entire responsibility in refereeing the Jack Sharkey and Phil Scott boxing contest with no interference by any other person whatsoever."

At the same time a novel touch was added by the informal sanction of a "gentlemen's agreement" in the form of a concession to Johnston's position. This agreement is that Magnolia, on his own discretion and depending upon the circumstances, may cast an inquiring look towards Scott's corner if the Briton is in distress. Otherwise, Magnolia will use his own judgment and confine any consultations with the handlers in either corner to the interval between rounds.

Offhand, in no previous fight that can be recalled has any "gentlemen's agreement" existed between the referee and a fight manager of this sort.

The only other important point in the final agreement is this:

"If Magnolia believes either one of the contestants so badly injured that said injury might be serious to either of the boxers, he has the privilege of calling into the ring between rounds (during the rest period) a physician to examine either boxer injured with the chief second or other boxer present during the examination. If the physician finds that either boxer is badly injured and it would be dangerous to continue the contest, he must report his findings to the referee and he (the referee) must act as judge in deciding if the boxer should resume or not."

SCOTT MAKES SPEECH

British sailors, about 300 of them, crowded into the American Legion Arena to see Scott indulge in a light workout. Their presence not only seemed a tonic to the lanky British boxer's morale, but prompted him to deliver a short speech, expressing confidence he would uphold the best of British traditions in the ring and voicing the hope that the next time he met them he would be their world's champion.

Sharkey, his glove work completed, confined his activities today to a round of golf and six rounds of shadow boxing. He will do no work tomorrow or Thursday, for his trainer has pronounced him fit in every respect to justify the long odds in his favor.

Cock Wrists at Top of Swing

By SOL METZGER

The big idea for cutting down one's golf score is to hit through with the hands. "Keep the blooming body behind the hands as you hit through," is the way Ted Ray used to express it. To do this visualize the action of the hands. Then practise to make them function correctly. The body will take care of itself when that is done.

They are cocked at the wrists. This cocking of the hands is the final movement of the backswing. In other words, it puts one's hands in a position to sling the clubhead through the ball. Let us see how a great player like Johnny Farrell actually swings.

Start the club down slowly with the straight left arm, the left hand pulling it straight down the right side. The hands remain cocked as at the top. What Farrell is doing is merely getting the clubhead under way and gradually increasing its speed so that the final sling through the ball, the uncocking of the hands, will be made without jerk or loss of balance and at maximum speed. Somewhere past the half-way mark down, Johnny uncocks his wrists, an act that is done by finally letting the powerful right hand and arm get into the stroke by hitting through the ball. It's all a hand movement. The braces needed to balance will be shown tomorrow.

VANCOUVER AFTER OLYMPIC TRIALS

Terminal City to Start Campaign in Attempt to Get Eliminations to 1932 Meet

VANCOUVER, Feb. 25.—Vancouver will try to get the Canadian Olympic trials in June, 1932, Mayor W. H. Malkin stated today. The 1932 games will be held in Los Angeles, California.

"We have everything in our favor," the mayor said to a group of newspapermen. "We are near Los Angeles. We have a perfect climate. We are the largest city on the Canadian Pacific Coast. All we need is an organization which will stimulate sport to white heat between now and 1932.

"Public interest in the idea must be aroused, though, if it is to succeed," the mayor declared.

"We need not worry about the money," he continued. "The City Council has already earmarked $15,000 to put the oval at Hastings Park into shape. Any more money which is needed for publicity, for engaging a coach, and for primary events leading up to the trials will be subscribed without difficulty."

WESTERN RUGBY HEAD UPHOLDS FORWARD PASS

President W. L. Ross Will Recommend That Rule Be Continued by Unions West of Winnipeg

SAYS PLAY BEST FEATURE OF GAME

(Canadian Press)

CALGARY, Alta., Feb. 25.—W. L. Ross, president of the Western Canada Rugby Union, has thrown his hat into the ring and stands ready to defend the forward pass, "the game's greatest feature in the West last Fall." Abolition of the new play by the Canadian Rugby Association at its annual meeting in Toronto Saturday, today drew this retort from the Prairie proxy: "It is hard to believe that a body of men placed in important positions as dictators of the rules of the C.R.F.U. should so entirely disregard the views of the unions which have been playing with the on-side pass rule. If some of those men had their own way, we would still be playing under the old scrimmage style and the throw in from the touch line."

Mr. Ross said he would ask for a mail vote of the four Western Rugby Unions — Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia. Personally, he would recommend to the Western Union that the rule stand in the West, regardless of the parent body's action.

The president said he was in favor of putting the forward pass in force from goal to goal line, as it is in American football. The pass would have to be completed or brought back to the scrimmage with the loss of a down and five yards.

TURNESA, COOPER OUT IN FRONT

Pair Shatters Par in Central Florida Open to Top Field — Horton Smith Second

ORLANDO, Fla., Feb. 25.—The smooth par-shattering golf of Mike Turnesa, Elmsford, N.Y., and the fast finish of "Lighthorse" Harry Cooper, Los Angeles, gave them 68 to lead the pack of sixty-three golfers half way in the $2,000 Central Florida thirty-six-hole open tournament here today.

Turnesa scored two 34's, each one stroke under the mark. Cooper developed par golf in the outbound nine with a 35, but scurried back to the clubhouse with a 33 to tie for first place.

Horton Smith, debonnair shot maker from Detroit, semed headed for a triple tie for first honors as he came to the ninth green, but a tiny tuft of grass forced an extra putt for a 69.

Al Watrous, Detroit, who played with Smith and Johnny Farrell, former National Open champion, had a 35 and 34, but after play was completed, the judges gave Watrous a penalty stroke, running his score up to 70.

PROTEST OF HOCKEY GAME NOT ALLOWED

Frank Patrick Backs Mickey Ion in Turning Down Appeal of Esks Against Bucks

VANCOUVER, Feb. 25.—Frank Patrick, president of the Pacific Coast Hockey League, will not entertain Seattle's protest of a game at Portland in which the Seattle officials said rulings of Mickey Ion, referee, caused them to lose a 3-to-1 decision.

"Some time ago," said Mr. Patrick, "I instructed Ion to impose heavier penalties whenever, in his opinion, a contest reached a stage of feverishness where play became unduly rough or injury to players might ensue.

"In the past, moreover, Ion has, at times, given minor penalties when the rules actually called for major punishment. I feel that Ion's action in Portland was, no doubt, justified by the circumstances and I will not sustain Seattle's appeal.

"They, of course, can appeal this ruling to the league board of governors if they wish."

Soccer in Victoria

Article 1

By DISAPPOINTED FAN

There are undoubtedly some interested parties who will declare that soccer in Victoria is in a healthy state; people who will brand these articles as of the alarmist type and the writer as a Jeremiah. To them I would tender the advice that they consult the fans and the players as to the state of health of the game compared with what it was, say four years ago, in this district, and what it is today in other parts of the world. "There is something rotten in the State of Denmark."

It is high time that we face facts, search out our weaknesses, and if possible, prescribe a remedy so that next season the Ruggers will have no grounds for asserting, as they have done, that theirs holds the undisputed supremacy in the field of Winter games in Victoria. In these articles the writer will in all humility endeavour to put into words those things which are in the minds of all of us lovers of the grandest of all British games.

HAS GAME DETERIORATED?

If we are to give an honest answer to the query why we fans have dwindled so in numbers and fallen off in enthusiasm we must own that the game of late has not been of the same high standard as that to which we are accustomed here in Victoria. Interest has lagged and a gate of 200 or 300 today is a rarity. On many and many a fine Saturday afternoon the Royal Athletic Park has flung open wide its gates to admit, whom? a couple of teams, a couple of linesmen, a referee, and two or three dozen spectators! Better showings have, I admit, been made up at Beacon Hill, but even there the crowd has been so quiet and bored that the passerby would scarce credit that they were watching a football match; they are certainly much more subdued than a cricket crowd and not much more excited than a bunch of fans at an outdoor checker game.

THE LEAGUE

There is no doubt whatever in our minds that at the present time there are not enough players of first division calibre to go round for six teams. In every game played so far this season one could count at least six or seven players who would be doing very much better for themselves learning the elements of the game on a second division team. With a four-team league each club could put in the field a well-balanced team, the games would in consequence be more evenly matched, fought with greater keenness, and much more enjoyable to players and fans alike; and the standard of football played would be greatly improved. It is a matter of common notice that a few weak spots in any team spoils the game for everybody. With only four first division teams in the district we should not so often be fooled by teams turning out short-handed.

How these four clubs should be selected, whether by age, by achievement, or by ballot, is a matter that could be safely left to the authorities to decide in the proper manner.

THE SECOND DIVISION

We would then have two other teams at present called seniors together with four or five clubs at present miscalled juniors forming a strong second division of the league.

At present the only league competition is for the leaders. Too often in Victoria leadership has been decided definitely early on in the season and the competition as such has died an early death. With two divisions and the usually accepted method of promotion and demotion, each team has to fight to the last ditch to keep its place in the first division, while those in the second division have the further incentive of gaining the honor of being elected to, or playing for, a berth in the higher group. At present our sports writers are hard put to find suitable words to describe our games. They have already overworked "listless," "dull," "slow," "uninteresting" and others, and still we have over three months of football ahead of us.

REP. GAMES

The officials must give us more inter-city games. One can judge by the experience of the rugger people how valuable such games are. It is well known that in the past the managers of our teams savagely opposed such games, but perhaps by now they are convinced not only of their attractiveness, but of their necessity.

Before concluding this article I would like to agree with my critics that it is easy to declare that "there is something rotten in the State of Denmark" that at time it is easy to prove that statement, but that it is another matter to offer remedies. I do not acknowledge that any proof is necessary, but I own that none should grouse who have nothing to offer, so if The Colonist is long suffering enough I propose to inflict upon it a further treatise on the subject.

Fluctuations Are Many at N.Y. but Range in Prices Remains on Moderate Scale

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—Stock price churned about without getting anywhere today as speculative attention converged upon the spectacular gyrations in the commodity markets. Trading on the share market was a little more active than yesterday, sales totaling 21,632,910 shares, but gains and losses were evenly distributed at the close, and the price index of ninety leading shares showed negligible change.

Rather active liquidation appeared at times, but a hasty covering movement in the last hour was prompted by the sharp rebound in wheat. Renewed pressure appeared in the last few minutes of trading, however, and the market was flipping when the closing gong sounded. Rails were conspicuously heavy.

Credit conditions were fairly firm with call money at 4 1-2 per cent all day.

Eastman Kodak and American Can were strong points. Kodak rose nearly 9 points to $213 3-4, a new top for 1930, and closed at $211. American Can closed more than 3 points higher.

Packard sold up close to $20 into new high ground for the year.

In the rails, Atchinson dropped 6 points, and Chesapeake & Ohio, New York Central and Northern Pacific, 2. Boston and Maine, inactive for several days, sold at $100 1-2, off 9, evidently in profit taking on the dividend announcement.

Foreign exchanges were steady to firm, with the exception of the Canadian dollar, which slipped below 99 1-2 cents. Sterling cables held up at $4.86 1-4, and the Italian lira rose to 5.23 3-4 cents, a new high for the year.

Bond prices steadied a little in a narrow market today. At times it seemed as though the list was improving, but buying inquiry proved to be shallow and the recent dullness maintained the upper hand.

HEAVY SHORT COVERING IN CHICAGO MART

Commission House Sentiment Shows Change With Bearish Tendencies Discounted for Present

CORN MAKES SHARP RECOVERY AT CLOSE

(B.C. Bond Corporation, Ltd.)

CHICAGO, Feb. 25.—Heavy short covering developed in all grains towards the last, with considerable change noticeable in commission house sentiment, the feeling being that the break had discounted all bearish developments for the time being. Wheat advanced over 5 cents from the low point carrying values back to above the finish.

Liquidation was on early in wheat, with prices declining to new low figures on the crop. Support was lacking except for a brief period early, but the market was honeycombed with stop loss orders when decline got under way. The break was helped along by the refusal of co-operative buyers to purchase wheat to arrive, which was loaded after midnight except when shipper was a co-operative.

There was a lack of aggressive export demand, with sales of 400,000 bushels reported in all positions. Official exports of wheat from the United States from July 1 to January 31, were officially estimated at 107,000,000 bushels against 111,000,000 bushels for the same period last year. The basis at Gulf was easier, with No. 2 hard quoted at 1 cent under Chicago. May crop reports generally were favorable.

Deliveries of corn sold at a new low early on the crop on general commission house selling, the break being the dominating influence. Recovery was sharp on the close.

Liquidation was on in oats and rye early, with all months declining sharply to a new low for the season, with stop loss orders uncovered on the way down, but the market reacted at finish.

How to figure a bond's actual yield.

The actual yield of a bond often differs from the coupon rate.

Although the matter of determining the actual yield from a bond is simple enough, many inexperienced investors are constantly perplexed by it.

To figure the yield of a bond, you must take account of the difference between the price paid for it and the price it will pay you at maturity. For example, suppose that a $1,000 bond paying a 5 per cent coupon rate, and maturing in ten years, was purchased at 95. The investor pays for the bond $950 plus accrued interest. However, he receives 5 per cent on $1,000, the face value of the bond, or $50 a year, also a profit of $50 when bond is called for payment. Thus his rate of yield is at the rate of 5.63 per cent on his original investment.

On the other hand, if the bond were bought at 105, his yield would be lowered, although the coupon rate would still be 5 per cent. The illustration shows that the net return on his investment would then be only 4.30 per cent.

Consortium Of Bankers Now at End

(Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

The career of the Banking Consortium, which began on October 24 when the break in stock prices first assumed serious proportions, has come to an end. J. P. Morgan & Co., leader of the group, announced yesterday that the consortium sold in the open market last week the last share of stock bought for its joint account.

The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Co. yesterday withdrew its year-old application to unify a fourth trunk line in eastern territory supposedly to pave the way for filing a new application to consolidate the major systems allocated to it in the Interstate Commerce Commission rail plan.

One of the most encouraging features in the present phase of the New York stock market is the reappearance of English and European demand for high-grade American issues. Looking back over the past, it is readily to be seen that such purchases played no small part in supporting the tremendous bull market recently witnessed. Some authorities claim that it was the withdrawal of this support, following the Hatry fiasco in London, that furnished the real impetus for the break here.

The daily average production of crude oil in United States, week ended February 22, totaled 2,699,096 barrels.

Canadian Pacific gross third week of February, $2,933,000, against $3,387,000 in like 1929 week. For period January 1 to February 21, gross $21,157,000, against $25,738,000.

Federal Reserve Board's condition statement for week ended February 19 shows decrease of $74,000,000 in loans, increase of $38,000,000 in investments, and decreases of $12,000,000 in net demand deposits and $5,000,000 in time deposits.

WHEAT MARKET AT WINNIPEG DEMORALIZED

More Severe Price Losses Sustained—No Outside Interest — Early Demand Quickly Filled

COARSE GRAINS ALL ARE SHARPLY LOWER

(Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

WINNIPEG, Feb. 25.—The wheat market continued demoralized and prices again suffered severe losses. The local market opened about one cent higher and the May future advanced another cent during the first ten minutes, reaching 113⅛ with shorts covering and a little commission house buying with offerings much lighter, all of which was apparently based on the fact that Liverpool was a little stronger than due, as export sales were again very disappointing and no outside interest was shown.

The early demand however was quickly filled and prices commenced slipping away, finally hitting the toboggan slide for a break of 5¾ cents from the early high mark and getting almost 4 cents under the close last night, with very heavy selling going on which was believed to be largely liquidation by the country and public, while many farmers cars of cash wheat were thrown overboard. During this period the Chicago market also broke to 5¾ cents the March month getting down to 98¾ cents. From these low points, both markets had a good recovery, Chicago taking the lead, but there did not appear to be much behind the rally outside of short covering and buying by locals, as the break did not bring in any new export that was noticeable. The report that the farmers grain corporation had announced that they will not buy any more wheat except for co-operatives that are members of their association was what led to the heavy selling and drastic break in prices.

There was very little being done in the cash market with buyers somewhat indifferent and holders mostly looking on. There was nothing of any significance in exports over night; there is a little business passing both in export and domestic circles, but the volume is quite moderate. It is possible that the liquidation may have run its course for the time being, but a much broader foreign demand will be required or damaging crop reports if any material bulge is to be held. The short interest in this market is believed to be small.

Coarse grain markets were all sharply lower during most of the day, but closed little changed from last night, oats have recovered about two cents and barley and rye 1% from the low. There was not much doing in these markets, and the demand for all cash grains continues very light outside of the eastern demand for the low grade oats.

Further Liquidation at Vancouver Send Values Down to Still Lower Levels of Year

SELLING CENTRES IN LEADING OILS

VANCOUVER, Feb. 25. — Increased liquidation forced prices still lower during today's session of the Vancouver Stock Exchange. Selling was again centred in the oils, with the mining list generally continuing at a dull pace.

Active leaders in the oil group included A.P. Consolidated, which dropped 17 to $1.35. C. & E. Corporation, which was off 18 at $1.38, and Calmont, which eased 8 to $1.05. Home Oil entered the market as an active factor today and on a heavy turnover dropped another 50 cents to $7.15 at one time during the day. Home touched $6.90.

Losses ranging from 6 to 15 cents per share were suffered by Dalhousie, Mayland, Southwest Pete., Vancouver-Alberta, Hargal, Eastcrest and Baltac. Associated dropped 17 to 85 on a small turnover, while McLeod, which was fairly active, was off 20 to $1.90.

Among the mines, Big Missouri, George Copper and Pend Oreille led the downward trend. Pend Oreille was the active group leader and lost 20 to $2.70. Big Missouri dropped 10 to 50, while George Copper eased 5 to $2.05.

Egg Quotations Decrease Seven Cents Per Dozen

OWING to the large surplus stocks, eggs dropped seven cents a dozen on all grades yesterday morning on the wholesale market. Although the decline was expected by the dealers it was not expected to be so large. The inability to ship their supplies owing to the lower demand in the East is one of the indirect causes of the drop.

Wholesalers are now quoting the following prices: Fresh extras, 35c a dozen; firsts, 33c; pullet extras, 31c. The reduction will not seriously affect the retailers as corresponding decreases are expected during the week.

Improvement To Continue Says Whitney

(Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—Whitney of Wall Street says: A fair rally was all that was expected would be produced by today's market, and that much was accomplished, so that, to the extent that developments are normal, the session must be classified as satisfactory, particularly in view of the additional drastic break which was recorded in the wheat market. It is anticipated, in view of the exceptionally sharp rally in wheat, that there will be an attempt made to sell wheat down again tomorrow, and, anticipating that the stock market will take its cue from the wheat market, it is to be expected that we shall have at least one selling movement during the course of the day.

On this selling movement stock should be bought, as indications point to the fact that this selling movement will constitute the bottom of the current reaction, that it will be completed before the end of the day and that this turn will mark the inauguration of another forward move in the market. It is not to be expected that money rates will work other than fractionally lower between now and the first few days of March. Thereafter, the trend will again be definitely towards lower levels.

Without endeavoring to express any opinion on the future course of the wheat market, present indications point to approximate bottoms having been established in the market in the course of today's session. Consequently, and as expected, the resumption of advance in the stock market will not have to contend with an unsatisfactory performance in the commodity markets, a factor which undoubtedly cuts short the forward swing which culminated a week or so ago and the secondary phase of which is now in the making.

The utility group is still the group which promises the first crop of new high record for the year 1930. Such a performance was recorded by Public Service in the course of yesterday's market. Continue to hold those previously recommended utilities which are maintained close to their best prices, and buy those which have had any five or six point reactions. Look for the inauguration of an advance in Radio tomorrow. I believe that the whole speculative community knows and that therefore the market has discounted the earnings statement for 1929, which, it is expected, will show not less than $1.50 nor more than $1.75 per share earned.

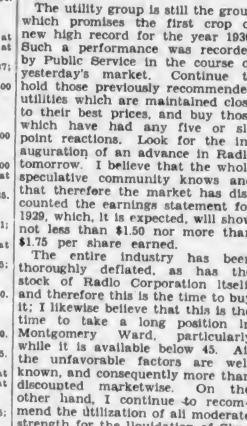

The entire industry has been thoroughly deflated, as has the stock of Radio Corporation itself, and therefore this is the time to buy it; I likewise believe that this is the time to take a long position in Montgomery Ward, particularly while it is available below 45. All the unfavorable factors are well known, and consequently more than discounted marketwise. On the other hand, I continue to recommend the utilization of all moderate strength for the liquidation of Simmons Company and International Telephone & Telegraph. The new advance will undoubtedly be a mixed advance, reflecting an industrial situation of a similar nature.

In Court: "I was slightly injured in the collision, but when I saw my lawyer I found that I was injured internally."

LIGHT CAR FAVORITE

"The modern car purchaser now turns to lighter, lower-priced models, which proven fact we are meeting by increased production of a smaller car," was the statement made by Mr. D. R. Grossman, vice-president and general manager of the Studebaker Corporation, Canada, Limited, of Walkerville, Ont., who left Victoria, after a short visit, last night.

"January set a new high record of sales volume," continued Mr. Grossman, "to which the advent of the Erskine six largely contributed. We find the President model maintains a steady volume, but throughout the automobile business as a whole there has been a marked declension in the sale of high-priced cars."

The purpose of Mr. Grossman's trip to the Coast has been to make a survey of the outlook in the business as it affects commercial cars.

While in Victoria Mr. Grossman entered into conference with Mr. Robert J. Jameson, of Jameson Motors Limited, local distributors for the Studebaker Corporation.

This is Mr. Grossman's first visit to Victoria since the occasion when he was accompanied by Mr. Hector Phillips, Calgary representative, and Mr. Russell T. Kelly, advisory counsel, of Hamilton, Ont., some three years ago. He left last night for Calgary, where he will address the Alberta Dealers' Association. Mr. Grossman was accompanied by Mr. Phillips.

MARKET STEADIES AFTER WEAKNESS

Stocks Close in Line With Previous Day's, Though Wheat Stays Weak

(Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—The market today opened a point or less off, but, with the appearance of firmer commodity quotations in the early trading, the list steadied itself, and attained in the forenoon highs of a point or so over yesterday's close. However, subsequent weakness in the wheat market started fresh selling in stocks which brought the leading issues down 2 to 3 points below the day's high.

Although wheat continued weak, the stock market in the last hour recovered and closed about in line with yesterday's final prices. Exceptions were had in Kennecott, General Electric and Packard, which gained about a point each. The last named was probably stimulated by the success of the army tests of its airplane engine. American Can also netted a gain, the mount being about 2 points. On the other hand, Consolidated Gas lost about 2 1-2 points and United States Steel a fractional amount. We are inclined to think that too much bearish capital is being made of the commodity situation and we reiterate the opinion quoted in Saturday's letter that the accentuated weakness in commodities in general has passed or is about to do so. Considering the wide fluctuations experienced during today's session, we believe the closing of the market with but scattered losses, is a strong commentary on the constructive side, underlying the market. We believe that the market's action reflects the existence of a rather completely sold out condition and accordingly would be prepared to benefit from a sizeable upturn, which appears to be imminent.

TO PRODUCE BY END OF CURRENT YEAR

Assurance Given in Statement by Officials of Sherritt Gordon Mine

(Meharey, Roe & Co., Ltd.)

Assurance that the Sherritt Gordon mine will be ready to go into production by the end of the current year is given by officials in their latest statement. It was understood formerly that Sherritt was only waiting for completion of the Hudson Bay smelter before shipping their concentrates. It is expected that some 1,500 tons of concentrates daily will be shipped.

Decision has been reached by the management of Duthie Mines to concentrate on underground development for the present, and to suspend mill operations pending an improvement in metal prices. The development work will be directed towards getting below the outcrop of the veins on the adjoining Humming Bird and Canary claims, where an ore body was disclosed by surface stripping. A report has been issued showing that from June 1, 1929, to December 31, 1929, production totaled $123,021.94.

THE WHEAT POOL

Sir,—The Daily Colonist of February 22, replying to a communication from the Canadian Wheat Pool, has the following to say:

"It (the Pool) speaks of Argentine wheat being 'dumped' on the Old Country market 'in bargain sale manner' and yet the Argentine growers are not doing so badly."

At the risk of being accused of repetition may I once more quote The New York Times. This paper says in a dispatch from Buenos Aires: "The Argentine is putting on a relief campaign and demanding cash loans, renewal of promissory notes, the writing off of accumulated debts, and in some cases, a subsistence allowance."

The Colonist proceeds: "The facts that are inescapable are that up to date many important industries have suffered through the diminution of grain exports and the banks have enormous sums of money tied up in financing the crop and those moneys could have been used for development purposes with more immediate turnovers and profits." There is a question here. In order that credit for other industries may not be tied up the Canadian Bank Act permits banks, if it is necessary, to issue increased currency for the specific purpose of financing Canadian grain. According to my reading of the act it would not be legal to lend this money for development purposes, and not good policy in banking practice, to lend any banking funds for development, as this should be financed by long term loans. I venture the opinion that the latter portion of the quotation from The Colonist is not well considered. And further, the president of the Canadian Bankers' Association is responsible for the statement that other industries have not had credit restricted on account of advances to the Pool.

One more quotation from The Colonist is necessary here. "It must be admitted, even by the Wheat Pool, that long time storing of grain in the elevators must tend to reduce proportionally the return from that portion of the crop still unsold." I cannot see the sense here as it is necessary to store somewhere and the logical place is where the cheapest storage consistent with the preservation of wheat is to be had. It has been admitted by The Colonist that up to the present Europe and all other countries where wheat could be sold have had all the wheat they require. Perhaps The Colonist does not know that the North American Continent is the only place storage is available. It may, perhaps, be admitted, that had it been possible to sell wheat in competition with short rail haul Argentine wheat without depressing prices unduly that the Pool and the grain trade would have done so. They did so and if they had pressed an already saturated market prices would be worse than they are and only speculators could have profited.

Just here is a good place to ask The Colonist why money was spent in erecting a cold storage plant in this city? Does The Colonist advocate that this cold storage plant be emptied at once? Should the berry growers or fishermen have sold the berries when they were plucked or the fish when they were caught? Is an ore body was disclosed by surface stripping. A report has been issued showing that from June 1, 1929, to December 31, 1929, production totaled $123,021.94 better to wait for a time when the price was better, or will be better; and where is the newspaper on the prairies trying to influence or knock this experiment or gamble, if you like? It would be just as logical for The Colonist to advocate the dumping of berries and fish as the dumping of wheat under present or past conditions.

The conditions in the wheat market for year 1929-1930 as shown by statistics is almost identical with the 1923-24 year, but in the latter the farmer took from 75c to 80c for wheat and the speculator sold the same wheat for $1.35 to $1.55.

Now let us look at conditions as seen through the eyes of Andrew Law, of Crawford & Law, Glasgow. "The Canadian Wheat Pool has vindicated its right to exist by what it has accomplished on behalf of its members. A surplus of wheat of indifferent quality left over from heavy crop of 1928 might have overtaxed its powers, but the 1929 crop was light in volume and high in quality, so that its refusal to sell when the rush of new wheat was at its highest point has proved itself to be sound judgment. The Spring wheat crop of 1930 is still seven months away, so by careful marketing in the interval between now and then Canadian wheat ought to command an increasing premium as compared with superabundant soft types of wheat, irrespective altogether of the general up and down movement of the market."

In support of the opinion that present conditions in the wheat market are not normal and in defence of the Pool policy I will quote R. Hugh Tennant, chairman of Westminster Bank. Dealing with agricultural conditions in Great Britain he said: "A satisfactory cereal harvest brought less than its due share of benefit to the farmer by reason of low market prices. The entry into this country of supplies from abroad under conditions which in some cases could by no stretch of imagination be regarded as normal or legitimate, accentuated his difficulties."

If Mr. Tennant's remarks need any emphasis, it will be sufficient to say that yield in Great Britain per acre was almost five times the Canadian yield per acre and the wheat had an advantage of being forty-five cents nearer the consumer than Canadian wheat at Port William.

The Colonist notes the loyalty of the contract signers to the Pool. The signers are the Pool and is it astonishing that they should be loyal to themselves, especially when it is considered that the average contractor knows more about wheat marketing than the average editor and that the knowledge has been gained in the school of hard experience and is by no means academic.

On one point I can agree with The Colonist. "Gambling in necessaries of life never was and never is likely to prove a healthy pursuit." That is exactly why I advocated to the best of my ability the formation of the Pool, because it was quite evident to me it would prevent to some small extent gambling in wheat or at least counteract some of the evils. My conclusions may have been wrong, but in case they are not accepted it will be necessary to quote editorial opinion, this time from The Scottish Farmer: "The Canadian Wheat Pool is for the first time in its existence really on trial. At August 31, 1929, as a result largely of the Pool holding the surplus of the bumper crop of 1928, there was in sight a world supply of wheat of twenty-six million quarters. This year the Canadian wheat crop is short as the 1928 crop was abundant. At the moment, therefore, there is no panic in the wheat market; the Pool is regulating the outflow of the surplus; the bakers are getting flour not under panic conditions according as the speculators on the Chicago and other gambling exchanges might be pleased to permit, but according to the world's legitimate demands. The problem at the moment is whether the Pool is strong enough financially to hold out against the wrath of the speculators who find their usual channels of grain closed. If it is, the growers of Canada and the consumers of Europe will have reason to bless the Pool. The indications are that the Pool has sufficient resources to put up and maintain a defensive war. Success to the Pool." Which reminds me that a prophet has no honor in his own country.

"NAVAL DISPARITY"

Sir,—Your leading article upon "Naval Disparity" in today's issue provides food for much thought to all thinking men. Is Great Britain, in her honest gesture for the reduction of armaments, going so far as to allow herself to exist only upon sufferance? Most of us recall the period when the "Two Power" standard was looked upon as the basis of our national security, and by no process of sane reasoning (sentimental or practical) can that status be reversed to the position of inferiority to any one power without jeopardizing her very national existence.

I know that we are cultivating the very laudable sentiment that a war between the two branches of English-speaking people is "unthinkable" and is plously voiced on both sides of the Atlantic, yet, so is a war with any European nation after the lessons received by both victors and vanquished, and if this get-together at the present naval conference results in the establishment of any sin, the power in anything approaching superiority on or under the sea, or (what to some think of even greater importance) in the air, then (unless that power be Great Britain herself) as an empire we are premeditating a position which leaves the way open for national suicide.

Now, sir, it is obvious to the most casual student of international affairs (which very few of us even are) that our Empire, scattered over the seven seas and its island heart dependent upon sea borne essentials of actual life, is more vulnerable to an enemy, or possible combination, than any nation on earth, and surely this will be fully appreciated by all delegates at the conference when confronted with the very delicate question of parity. Visualizing the position of our friends to the south, we find practically a self-supporting people and happily remote from trouble outside, and in that comfortable feeling of immunity from aggression, free to still further develop their wonderful heritage.

But let us not anticipate the findings of the court now sitting. Yet, as Britons, we should feel dire misgiving were the outcome to disclose a situation which left us impotent to protect ourselves, and surrender meekly what our great forbears so vallantly achieved.

"Parity," consistent with requirements, is one thing we opine, but "parity" meaning gun for gun, or ton for ton, quite another, and we must be pardoned if we express the conviction that a disproportionate reduction of the navy and auxiliary forces through the medium of self-sacrifice on the altar of idealism would inevitably defeat its own ends and prove a menace to peace, progress and existing civilization.

COCOS ISLAND TREASURE

Sir,—In that interesting book "The Venturesome Voyages of Captain Voss," second edition, published in London, 1926, there is a mention of Rear Admiral Henry St. Ledger Bury Palliser making a trip to Cocos Island in H.M.S. Imperieuse (Capt. C. H. Adair) in search of treasure under the guidance of a Mr. Haffner.

Can anyone tell me in what issue of The Daily Colonist will be found a mention of the sailing of the flagship and of her return after the trip?

The Navy List gives the following dates: Rear Admiral Palliser assumed command of the ships on the Pacific Station on June 19, 1896, and was succeeded by Rear Admiral Lewis Anthony Beaumont on June 22, 1899.

Many hours have already been spent in searching the old files of The Daily Colonist, so far without any result.

ADVERSE base metal prices and recent declines in the silver market have brought about depressed conditions in the lead-zinc-silver industry. This situation cannot continue indefinitely as there is a steady demand by world industry for these metals. Curtailed production will bring about decreased supply and the law of demand and supply will swing the pendulum the other way. Meantime stock levels are affected. Shrewd buyers are accumulating good lead-zinc-silver stocks at current deflated prices.

BRITISH Columbia mineral production for 1929 was $70,030,974, which total is $6,658,393 in excess of 1928 production.

Excellent progress has been made in Calmont No. 1 well since the whipstock was cemented in place. Drilling has recommenced and on February 18 the bit had gone 42 feet past the whipstock and steadily pounding down to the limestone, where production is being secured in Turner Valley. This well formerly came in with 3,000,000 cubic feet of gas, but serious cavings spoiled the bottom of the hole and new hole is now being drilled.

TOURING THE WEST

Mr. E. E. Price has included a few days in Victoria in the programme of his tour through the principal cities of the West. In speaking of business conditions generally, Mr. Price stated that despite the recent severe weather conditions the volume of business done by his company has steadily increased. He was especially warm in his praise of the work done by the British Columbia representatives, McLennan, McFeely & Prior, Ltd. The last two months are a decided improvement over the records set for the corresponding period of last year. The new $500,000 U.S.L. Battery plant, he stated, is taxed to its full capacity to keep pace with the demand.

PEACE PACT COPIES WANTED

UNITED CHURCH PRESBYTERY WILL APPROACH DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION

The United Church Presbytery of Victoria will approach the Department of Education with the request that it would favorably consider the offer of the Rt. Hon. W. L. M. King, the Dominion Prime Minister, to provide a copy of the Peace Pact to every school in any province where it was requested by the provincial authorities. It was stated at yesterday's afternoon session that this offer had been made by him at a meeting at Ocean Falls, B.C., at which a request to this effect had been presented by the leaders of the United Church there. At the suggestion of the Presbytery's committee on social service and evangelism, it was resolved that a copy of the historic document should also be placed in the churches and Sunday schools of the Presbytery.

ROUND TABLE CONFERENCE

In order to bring before the constituency the deliverance of the General Council upon the church and industrial relations, committees of laymen will make arrangements for round table conferences upon the questions therein presented, to be held in Victoria and Nanaimo at an early date. Among the principles to which the United Church had committed itself were those of co-operation between employer and employee, of the right of representative bargaining, the eight-hour day, one day's rest in the week, a minimum wage and the study of unemployment and the means of preventing it.

The presence of Dr. Ernest Thomas, of Toronto, who will give several addresses in connection with the coming teachers' training institute, will be taken advantage of by the Presbytery. Arrangements will be made for a series of conferences to be led by him in the afternoons during his stay, which bear more particularly upon the nineteen hundredth anniversary of Pentecost.

The value of the booklet, "The Fellowship of Prayer," was stressed by Dr. W. J. Sipprell, who said that the revival of prayer in the home was one of the most urgent needs of the church. The Presbytery also expressed appreciation of the address given at the afternoon session by Rev. W. L. Macrae, of Vancouver, on the call to humiliation and repentance, which he said was the first step toward any advanced movement. This was further emphasized by Rev. Arthur Barner, who led the devotions at the evening meeting.

A conference upon the manhood organizations of the church resulted in the appointment of the presidents of the seven men's clubs in the Presbytery as a committee to promote the organization of such groups in all the congregations. Reports were given by Rev. W. F. Burns, of Duncan; Rev. Dr. W. G. Wilson and Mr. J. Strang, of First, Victoria; Rev. Dr. W. J. Sipprell and Mr. Pullbrook, of Metropolitan; Rev. W. A. Guy, of Oak Bay; Rev. Hugh Nixon, of Fairfield, and Rev. G. Pringle, of Centennial, of the work of the men's groups in their respective congregations. It is expected that a federation of these societies will be one result of the committee's activities.

Speaking on behalf of the young people's societies of the Presbytery, Mr. Cecil Davis, of James Bay, stated that the Young People's Council which was representative of seventeen societies, was arranging for the annual conference to be held on Good Friday, probably at Duncan. At this gathering the devotional side of the young people's life will be emphasized.

The Presbytery will meet at 9:30 o'clock this morning, when the reports on religious education and statistics will be discussed. It is expected that the afternoon's session will be required to complete the business on hand.

CASE OPENS FOR OAK BAY FRANCHISE

portation Company, Limited; Mr. H. J. Davis is appearing on behalf of Oak Bay Council, and Mr. Harold B. Robertson, K.C., of Vancouver, and Mr. Atwell D. King are representing the B.C. Electric Railway Company.

EXTENT OF BUSINESS

Mr. Maclean addressed the committee at some length, reviewing the steps which led up to the agreement between Oak Bay and the Veterans' Company with respect to operation of motor buses. He said that the Veterans' Company had carried over 1,000,000 passengers on the Haultain bus route since 1928, when it initiated a service refused by the B.C. Electric.

"The Veterans' Company is fulfilling a public duty by providing transportation facilities to large areas not served by other companies. The B.C. Electric has jumped in on the Haultain route, and put on buses with the avowed intention of cutting the throats of those who have been giving a satisfactory service. If the Veterans' Company had not come to the rescue of those living in the outlying portions of Oak Bay, and given them a service with motor buses, the B.C. Electric would not have started this war on the Haultain route against the Veterans," Mr. Maclean stated.

The speaker said that the application to the Legislature for ratification of the bus agreement was being made "in fact and substance by the inhabitants of Oak Bay," and was heartily approved by the municipal council.

NO EXTENSIONS SINCE 1913

The B.C. Electric had not since 1913 made any extension of its lines in Oak Bay, notwithstanding the pleas, petitions and prayers of the residents and official representatives of the municipality. As far back as 1921, people living in the Shoal Bay district had asked for extensions to that part of the municipality, but Mr. A. T. Goward, vice-president of the B.C. Electric, had replied that extensions were unlikely as the company was considering "trackless trolleys." Mr. Maclean cited other instances of the B.C. Electric being approached to provide service to the outlying portions of Oak Bay, but no action had resulted on the part of the company.

Mr. Maclean told the committee that Mr. Goward, in April, 1929, told the Oak Bay Council that the B.C. Electric had no intention of going into the bus business. The council, in October last, made an agreement with the Veterans' Company for service to the larger area refused transportation by the B.C. Electric. He recalled that this franchise had been preceded by a tentative service validated by two municipal by-laws which had been "sort of a franchise."

This was followed, the speaker continued, by the B.C. Electric launching court proceedings to quash the by-laws, "using every possible argument they could rake and scrape."

The municipality got on its war paint and it seemed as though a scrap would be the result, but the B.C. Electric withdrew its actions. He pointed out that the attack could be renewed at any time unless the Legislature, by a private act, granted security to the service.

THE PLEBISCITE

Mr. Maclean told the committee that the Oak Bay Council had referred the agreement with the Veterans' Company to the electors of Oak Bay, with the result that 701 recorded their support of the agreement and 488 votes were registered against it.

"The people of Oak Bay have said that they want the Veterans to continue giving the motor bus service to the municipality, and I ask, why should the B.C. Electric come in here at the private bills committee meeting and oppose the expressed wishes of the people of Oak Bay, especially after the people went down on their knees to the B.C. Electric and all the satisfaction the company gave them was that 'we are considering trackless trollies'? The B.C. Electric is here to try and prevent another company doing what it would not do itself," Mr. Maclean contended.

Reeve E. C. Hayward stated that he was appearing in support of the bill because of the mandate given by the Oak Bay electors at the polls. He covered much of the ground touched on by Mr. Maclean, emphasizing the many fruitless attempts to get the B.C. Electric to give a service to the outlying districts in the municipality.

FAVORABLE TO DISTRICT

The speaker recalled that the Veterans' Company last September started to operate experimentally in Oak Bay, and had given good satisfaction with their motor bus service. He said that the agreement with the Veterans' Company was very favorable to Oak Bay, as the Municipal Council had complete control over fares, routes and services.

"The people of Oak Bay want the present service continued and the fares now charged being maintained," he said. "The service which the Veterans' Company is giving in Oak Bay is much appreciated by the residents."

Reeve Hayward said that "if this franchise to the Veterans' Company is refused, I do not know what we shall do. The B.C. Electric might offer a service, but the Oak Bay Council would have no control over the service, fares or routes."

Councillor A. D. Crease, of Oak Bay, stated that the B.C. Electric Company had given good service to Oak Bay, "but the company has not progressed as the district has." He said it was the council's strongest wish that the B.C Electric give a service to the outlying areas, but the company refused to do so, and therefore the council had to look elsewhere and made an agreement with the Veterans' Company to give the transportation that was desired.

"The people have found that a bus service is more businesslike, more convenient, more comfortable, more elastic and much quicker," he declared.

Mr. H. J. Davis, municipal solicitor of Oak Bay, said that the Oak Bay Council asked the private bills committee to recommend to the Legislature approval of the bill, for the council felt that the Veterans' Company should not be deprived of the fruits of its initiative, that the municipality had valuable and material rights and interests to conserve, and that the people of Oak Bay had expressed themselves as being heartily in support of the agreement.

"The council feels that the B.C. Electric Company had its opportunity, but did not take advantage of it," he said.

Mr. David Armour, living on Oliver Street, Oak Bay, was called to the stand by Mr. Maclean to tell of the character of the service which the Veterans' Company motor buses were providing. He said he lived near Shoal Bay, and was one mile from the Oak Bay street car line and the same distance from the Foul Bay car line. He had resided there for eleven years, during which time, he said, applications for transportation service to Shoal Bay district had been turned down many times. He asserted that residents were very well satisfied with the service being given by the Veterans' Company, and that it had benefited "us very greatly in that district."

B.C. TEACHERS TO MEET IN APRIL

Mr. H. Charlesworth, Federation Secretary, Announces Programme of Convention

Mr. H. Charlesworth, general secretary of the British Columbia Teachers' Federation, who arrived in the city yesterday for a short visit connected with his office, brought details of the eleventh annual convention of the federation, to be held in Vancouver, April 21 to 23, inclusive, and the annual general meeting, to be held on April 24.

The outstanding figure at this convention will be Sir John Adams, who has proved a singularly popular guest of a previous convention. Sir John, a native of Glasgow, and who graduated with M.A. and B.Sc. degrees from Glasgow University, is one of the outstanding educationists of the Empire, his educational services to the nation winning for him the honor of knighthood a few years ago. Among the many distinguished posts which he has occupied is that of Professor of Education in the University of London, in which he was the first appointee, the position carrying with it the principalship of the London Day Training College. In 1902 he was brought out to Canada by McGill University to report on the Protestant schools in the Province of Quebec. In 1911 he received the honorary degree of LL.D. from the University of St. Andrews. For some years he has been engaged as special lecturer at Harvard, University of California, University of Southern California, and other leading educational institutions of this continent.

Sir John is to give five addresses at the convention, the subjects to be "The Extending Span of Education," "The Death Knell of Class Teaching," "The Solidarity of the Teaching Craft," "The Teacher as Stimulater," and "The Educational Engineer."

Other speakers at the general sessions will be Hon. J. Hinchliffe, Minister of Education; Dr. S. J. Willis, superintendent of education; Dr. G. Sedgwick, Mr. P. H. Sheffield and Mr. B. C. Nicholas.

Addresses of welcome and greetings are being brought to the convention by Mr. W. H. Malkin, Mayor of Vancouver; Mr. W. J. Baird, chairman of the Vancouver School Board; Mr. C. B. L. Lefroy, president of the British Columbia Trustees' Association; Mrs. E. Mahon, president of the Provincial Parent-Teacher Federation. Mr. Ira Dilworth, vice-president of the British Columbia Teachers' Federation, will reply to the address of welcome.

Sectional speakers will include Miss M. McNiven, Prof. J. F. Day, Prof. F. H. Soward, Mr. Ira Dilworth (Victoria), Mr. W. R. Smith, Dr. A. F. B. Clark, Miss C. N. Burridge (Victoria), Mr. J. F. Macedo (Vancouver), Mrs. St. Clair Johnston (Prince Rupert), Miss H. W. Hamilton (Victoria), Mr. S. McEwan (Vancouver), Mr. A. H. Hutchinson (University of British Columbia), Mr. J. R. Mitchell (West Vancouver), Mr. G. S. Eldridge, Mr. H. A. Jones (Vancouver).

Under the chairmanship of Miss C. Black, of Kitsilano Junior High School, a section on home economics will be conducted, the speakers to include Mrs. D. S. Lewis, of the Washington State Board of Vocational Education, and Miss Mabel Allan, of King Edward High School, Vancouver.

The junior high school section is to be under the chairmanship of Mr. John Sanford and among the speakers will be Mr. A. C. Hinton, Mr. A. M. Howard and Mrs. E. S. Sims.

Elementary school sections are also being provided for, and in that devoted to rural schools the name of Mr. Thomas W. Hall, a former principal of Sir James Douglas School and now provincial inspector, Kamloops, is mentioned.

A Tiresome Cough Was Left By A Severe Cold

Mrs. Chas. Eldershaw, Morrell, P.E.I., writes: "Some time ago I was seized with a severe cold that left me with a bad, tiresome cough.

"After trying different cough medicines, to no avail, my husband brought me home a bottle of which I started to take at once, and before I had taken several doses I noticed a change, and when I had finished the bottle my cough was completely gone."

U.S. Government Will Buy Wheat Only From Pools

OMAHA, Neb., Feb. 25.—The United States Government, after today, will buy grain at the guaranteed price of $1.15 and $1.13 only from co-operatives or members of the national pool, and not from independent elevators or dealers, it was announced today in a telegram received by the National Grain Corporation, the Government agency.

BILL WITHDRAWN

LONDON, Feb. 25.—A bill aiming to prevent criminal proceedings for so-called religious blasphemy, heresy and atheism, has been withdrawn by its sponsors as a result of the Government insisting on a safeguarding clause as the price of its support.

PREMIER OF FRANCE SOON REPUDIATED

accept the Premiership in any Government, though willing to take the post of Minister of Foreign Affairs.

Former Premier Tardieu therefore appears to have an excellent chance of going back as Premier before the Chamber that defeated him by five votes a week ago.

SEETHING EXCITEMENT

The voting took place amid great excitement, both inside and outside the Palais-Bourbon where the Chamber sits.

The balloting was carefully checked for nearly an hour, while the Chamber and the lobbies seethed with excitement.

Several thousand persons lined the embankments of the Seine in front of the Palais-Bourbon to await the vote. When Premier Chautemps and his ministers emerged from the building, on their way to give their resignations to President Doumergue, the crowd shouted "Vive Tardieu"—"Long Live Tardieu."

All the members of the Cabinet called at the Elysees Palace a little before 10 p.m. and handed in their resignations. On leaving President Doumergue, M. Chautemps told waiting newspapermen, "I am leaving with rancor and bitterness toward none. I have seen grouped around me in a democratic fervor that promised victory in the near future, all the best elements of the real Republican France."

M. TARDIEU POPULAR

The entire Center and the Right remained solidly behind former Premier Tardieu, who yesterday persuaded his group of sixty-four deputies not to give their confidence to the new Government.

The tone of discussion was acrid in the Chamber. When M. Chautemps asked for support in order to see a French delegation back to London, the Opposition shouted him down with jibes in retort, "What about Tardieu? He was there before you stabbed him in the back." The Chautemps Cabinet was one of the shortest lived in French parliamentary history, lasting only five days.

palities and use a part of it on these arterial highways. He also objected to the large control which was being taken of the highways by the Government.

THE DARDANELLES

Resuming the debate in the second reading of the bill Mr. Pattullo referred to the important part motor traffic was now playing in connection with civilization. He referred to the Dardanelles on Fort Street, Victoria, as exemplifying the results of an early following of a cow trail and which was a condition that should be rectified in future planning of highways.

In passing the Leader of the Opposition took exception to the practice of the Government in doing things it had no power to do and now coming and asking for validation thereof.

The bill, he said, was closely associated with the budget whenever that came in, as much as it provided for the liberation of money for constructing highways. The minister was taking powers to create any kind of a road an arterial highway. The Government was taking away from the municipalities the money and putting it on the roads.

He contended that under the Motor Vehicle Act two-thirds of the licences was being taken from the municipalities, but placing it in consolidated revenues.

SEEK BLANKET ORDER

Through the raising of more money from bus lines also money was being taken from the municipalities. The municipalities were going to get less money and the province more. The Government was asking a blanket order to do as it saw fit.

He commended the Minister of Public Works for trying to solve the subject of road building in the province. If he had more confidence in the Government he would not be so afraid of the bill.

The Government was taking the power to control the stage lines over there arterial highways. He feared there might be a lot of "Stevenses" arise in this connection.

Questioned as to what he meant, the Leader of the Opposition referred to a brother of Hon. H. H. Stevens getting a grant of public land at Stewart.

The bill passed its second reading.

Labelle, who urged religious freedom and racial equality in the Prairie Provinces. Mr. Bourassa declared against the practice of hiding the date of an election until a Government felt it might obtain an advantage over its opponents, and then revealing it. He preferred the United States method of holding elections on fixed dates.

From the Progressive benches, Mr. John Evans, of Rosetown, attacked the policy of protection. He believed the tariff killed agriculture. He also took the ground that the Government must shoulder some of the blame for the wheat situation.

The last two speakers, one from the East and the other from the Far West, were both Conservatives. Mr. R. K. Smith, of Cumberland, informed the House that certain recommendations of the Duncan Commission remained unfilled. He referred more particularly to those which applied to coal and steel tariffs. Mr. Barber made a plea on behalf of the returned soldier who is trying to earn a living from the land. His view was that the soldier settler is entitled to every assistance.

MR. KING "EXPLAINS"

Before the debate on the address was resumed, Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, brought up the statement made by the Prime Minister yesterday respecting a report which had appeared in The London Times. The London Times dispatch, he said, did not quote "a Tory paper," as intimated by Mr. King. It quoted The Toronto Star.

Mr. King pointed out that his referring to the "Tory paper" had no connection with The London Times despatch.

COMPROMISE FOR DRUGLESS MEN EXPECTED

the drugless leaders were carrying their claims in person to the head of the Government.

It was announced in their behalf by Alderman E. S. Woodward, their legislative agent, after their interview with Premier Tolmie, that the bill was dead but that an agreement was probable that "would satisfy us and hurt nobody." A compromise based on the Ontario act is quite likely, Alderman Woodward said.

In asking the Premier for appointment of a new committee to discuss their proposals with representatives of the healers and the Medical Liberty League, said Alderman Woodward, he had pointed out that Mr. H. D. Twigg and other members of the private bills committee were satisfied some compromise could be reached.

Meantime more opposition was massing against Dr. L. E. Borden's bill to restrict the use of the title "doctor" to registered members of the medical profession. Possibility that the measure would conflict with their right brought Christian Scientists to the fore with an amendment to be offered by Mr. J. W. Cornett, Conservative, South Vancouver. This provides that "nothing in the act shall apply to those who practise the religious tenets of their church without pretending a knowledge of medicine or surgery, provided that the laws relating to contagious diseases and sanitary matters are not violated."

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 25.—Mrs. W. H. Malkin, wife of the Mayor of Vancouver, today revealed a narraw escape of herself, daughter and chauffeur in an automobile accident on Saturday while traveling southward toward San Francisco on a journey which was to take them into Southern California.

The car, a large sedan, rolled from the highway and landed upsidedown against stumps, midway in a one hundred foot descent to a ravine. The daughter, Lila, today was still nursing a bruised eye, at the Cliff Hotel here, the only injury received.

Mrs. Malkin explained the chauffeur obeyed road signs which read: "Keep to the Right." Apparently, she said, he drove too far to the right, the soft dirt at the edge of the road giving way and tipping their car. The car was pulled back to the road and driven to San Francisco for repairs. They will continue into Southern California when repairs are completed.

Christianizing of industry. The church, he contended, should set the example of service and sacrifice, and it would accord with the example of the early church in the period immediately following Pentecost. There was too great a disparity between the minimum salary of $1,800 and salaries of $4,000, $6,000 and even $9,000, which some ministers received.

The address of the mover of the motion was favorably received by the members of the Presbytery, but it was decided to pass it on without endorsement or comment to the British Columbia Conference of the United Church, which meets in Vancouver in May, for discussion by that body. Rev. A. McLean, of Alberni, was the seconder of the main resolution.

CONFERENCE IS WELL ATTENDED

A.Y.P.A. Gathering in Vancouver Gives Stimulus to Young People's Work

The Anglican Young People's Association Conference held in Vancouver last Saturday and Sunday was very well attended by young people from Vancouver, New Westminster, Nanaimo and Victoria, from where a contingent of seventy-four made the trip to confer with fellow members from Up-Island and the Lower Mainland on Anglican Young People's Association matters of a provincial nature.

As soon as the Victoria delegation was settled in its hotel, members attended a banquet given in honor of the visitors when over 150 were present. This affair was followed by a dance at the Women's Building, at which the visitors were also the guests of the Vancouver Anglican Young People's Association. Some 200 were present at the dance which lasted until midnight. During the dance, a presentation was made to Mr. W. A. Rundle, Honorary President of the Vancouver Local Council, as a wedding present, as he is to marry Miss Innis shortly.

On the Sunday, at 8:30 a.m., the A.Y.P.A. attended Corporate Communion at Christ Church Cathedral, following which breakfast was served in the Sunday school of the cathedral. At the 11 o'clock service in the cathedral, Archbishop De Pencier preached a special sermon in commemoration of the fiftieth anniversary of the birth of the Diocese of New Westminster.

At this service Mr. S. C. Hawkins, honorary president of the Victoria Local Council, A.P.A., read the first lesson, while Mr. Ben Drew, president of the Greater Vancouver Local Council, read the second lesson. At 2:30 p.m., all the visitors, together with the Vancouver members, met in conference, which lasted until 5:45 p.m. At this conference it was decided to recommend to the Dominion executive that the 1931 Dominion Conference be held in Regina.

In years past this has been held in Ontario, but now that the West has a membership of well over fifty branches, with a total of more than 1,000 members in British Columbia alone, it was felt that the Dominion Conference should be made more easy of access to everybody.

It was also decided to hold Pacific Coast conferences twice a year, one being held in Victoria in the Fall, and the other to take place in Vancouver in the Spring, it being felt that such conferences encouraged a greater spirit of fellowship and helped the association progress. During the conference great enthusiasm was displayed by all delegates when the discussions arose regarding the relations of the A.Y.P.A. to the church, and from it was gathered the impression that the young people of today

THE TREATMENT OF INFANTILE PARALYSIS

The spinal cord is really an extension of the brain, and the brain or cord cannot withstand for very long an inflammatory process, or it will become weakened and scarred by the ordeal. The difficulty is that brain or nerve tissue once destroyed does not reproduce itself, but other nerve centres must be trained to take over the functions of the dead centres, and this is naturally a slow, tedious trial in some cases. It is principally a matter of re-educating the muscles and nerves, which can be done by passive exercising and taking different kinds of electrical treatments.

The exercising given should be of slow controlled movements. For example, if the arm is affected, the child should be taught to play checkers with the hands. It is a good training simply to move the checkers about on the board, trying to place them from one spot to another, starting and stopping the movement until accuracy is developed. The leg muscles may be exercised in a similar manner, that is, the affected foot can be moved about to touch various places on the floor which have been marked with chalk. The physician should make a special effort to find out exactly which muscles are affected so that these may receive most of the attention in exercising. At first, the child may not be able to move the muscles without help, and the limbs should be moved for him, but he should nevertheless be taught to concentrate and make an effort to move in the same direction as the movement.

It is usually a good plan to precede the exercising with hot applications or massage of the muscles to stimulate the circulation. It is also a good plan for the parent to obtain the services of a physician who understands electrotherapy and can treat the affected muscles and nerves with the use of the sinusoidal and galvanic currents. It will be up to the parent, however, to do most of the actual exercising and muscle training of the child, as no one else would probably have enough interest, patience, and be able to secure the confidence of the child.

The United States Government has prepared a pamphlet on the treatment of infantile paralysis which outlines a very complete set of exercises which may be taken and taught to the child. I would advise every parent of one suffering from the affliction to write to the United States Health Service, Washington, D.C., and obtain the pamphlet on "Muscle Training in the Treatment of Infantile Paralysis." It is called Reprint No. 1197.

It is usually best not be begin the exercises too soon, but to wait until the patient's limbs can be moved without pain. This is usually about three weeks after the initial attack. If the exercises are begun too soon, the maximum recovery may be retarded. Since the muscles are so weak, it is also a good plan during and immediately after an acute attack to arrange the blankets so that no weight falls on the limbs, and to support the feet with pillows or sandbags at the side so that they will be approximately in the proper position. Otherwise, a toe drop or toeing out, or sagging shoulder, etc., may result. The patient should not be permitted to walk too early, at least not until all of the soreness has disappeared. Be persistent in the exercises, even if it takes a year in some serious cases. Do not use the exercises long enough to fatigue the patient. The exercises cannot be left to the patient alone, as usually stimulation of speech and encouragement are necessary because of the patient's weakened condition.

Owners of Dogs May Be Fined If No 1930 Licence

A new departure has been made this year by the city in the collection of the road tax, the poll tax, and other lesser sources of revenue. Mr. N. H. Lord, city collector, is making a house to house tour for the purpose of obtaining a complete census of all persons from whom such taxes are due and at the same time making it possible to pay without a visit to the City Hall.

In this connection it is pointed out that a great many people are keeping dogs without having a 1930 licence. January 1 is the date set for taking out these licences, but it has been customary to allow one month's grace, thus extending the time to February 1. That date passed three weeks ago but there are still several hundred people who are keeping one or more dogs and who have not taken out a licence to do so. All of them are liable to prosecution and fine, and at present are running an increasing risk each further day they neglect to take out the required licence. This is necessary, it may be mentioned, in the case of lap dogs and "toy dogs" generally, as well as in the case of animals of the larger breeds.

B.C. FISHERIES RULES INCUR CRITICISM

Major Hardinge Terms Regulations as "Partial, Inequitable and Uneconomical"

ALLOTMENT OF GEAR DISCUSSED

Firm objection to the proposed fishing regulations of the Commissioner of Fisheries was taken by Major J. B. Hardinge, managing director of the Island Packing Company, Victoria, at the session of the fisheries committee of the Provincial Legislature yesterday.

Major Hardinge said that the Island Packing Company, which operates reduction plants and salteries on the West Coast, and was interested in frozen fresh fish in Victoria, was against the suggested regulations because it was of the opinion that they were "partial, inequitable and uneconomical."

The speaker contended that there was partiality all through the proposed regulations, which he claimed, created a monopoly.

"The limitation of canneries question will automatically adjust itself," Major Hardinge thought. "People are not going into the business unless they can make money. Any industry that cannot stand on its own feet should be out of business. I maintain that the fishing industry can stand on its own feet."

The season was too late for drastic changes to be made, he continued, expressing the view that the Provincial Government was not sufficiently experienced in fishing to make new regulations at the present time. The proposed regulations, he charged, favored the large concerns to the detriment of the smaller men, and were partial to some, and detrimental to very many.

CRASH OF 1927

Major Hardinge said that a great deal had been mentioned concerning the crash in 1927 in the fishing industry. He stated that the actual amount of fish caught in 1927 was not so much smaller than those caught in former years. The cause of the disaster, he asserted, was due to "the short-sighted policies of the companies in paying excessively for equipment, gears, etc." The result of the crash was that three of the main packing companies amalgamated, and this was followed by the canners' agreement coming into being. He maintained that anyone interested in the fishing industry should be allowed to enter any branch of fishing that he desired. Only selines should be allocated to actual operating canneries. He considered there was nothing to support the contention that fish should not be taken from one area to another.

Discussing the matter of conservation, the speaker felt that conservation would be assisted if the existing areas were limited as far as the number of seines were allowed to fish in them. It should be determined how many seines the areas could stand. He would not recommend that no more cannery licences be issued.

The speaker said "we feel that there should be no restrictions as far as the pilchard operations are concerned. To restrict the number of seines in pilchard fishing, to my mind, would be a step backward."

SEINE BOAT OPERATORS

Mr. H. J. Bradbury, of Prince Rupert, speaking on behalf of the independent seine boat owners, told the committee that there were 180 independent seine boats operating on the British Columbia coast, each boat having six or seven men on it. The independent seine fishermen owned their own boats and gear, and had an investment in such equipment totaling $1,800,000.

"We fishermen need protection just as much as the canners. The independent fishermen have made the industry what it is today, and we have brought in the white men," he claimed. "We ask for no favors, but just a square deal."

The speaker said that the seining season was usually about four months. He urged that fishermen be allowed to fish where they like, as long as they don't break any laws. "If we have to stay in only one area, then we will only be able to get in six weeks' fishing."

Mr. Bradbury told the committee that while the canneries could pack from Prince Rupert to Vancouver, the fishermen, by the proposed regulations, would be unable to take fish from one area to another. He strongly favored the elimination of the Oriental fishermen from the industry.

Purse seiners, he said, were satisfied with the open policy of granting licences to those desiring and able to purse seine.

Mr. W. Johnson, of the Glen Rose Packing Company, on the Fraser River, accused the three big companies represented on the packers' committee of eight of favoring themselves in allotment of gear under the suggested regulations. He said the Fraser River plants faced the danger of extinction because the northern canners were demanding privileges to which they were not entitled.

OBJECTION RAISED

Mr. Richard Bell-Irving, assistant manager of the Anglo-British Columbia Packing Company, strenuously objected against any such accusations against himself or any other members of the committee of eight, and stated that the whole question had been delved into very exhaustively by the committee, whose findings were based solely upon "a fair and equitable division of the ratings, special consideration being given to the independent operators."

"I feel certain that your objection is well taken," said Colonel Nelson Spencer, chairman of the fisheries committee, "and I feel satisfied that we all appreciate that the committee of eight viewed the situation in that spirit only."

Mr. Johnson stated: "We want the right as British citizens to process any fish independent of any restrictions put on by a canners' association. We want the right to put up a good pack and not be closed into one area."

Representatives of independent fishermen stated that it was up to the packers to keep out of the industry bank clerks, college boys, policemen on vacation and others who offered competition during the holiday time. If the canners did not supply them with gear, these individuals could not fish in competition with the regular fishermen, it was pointed out.

The fisheries committee of the Legislature will hold another session at 9 o'clock this morning at the Parliament Buildings.

Canadian Air Mail Will Not Cross Rockies

VANCOUVER, Feb. 25.—Air mail will not cross the Rockies this year, the City Council has been informed in a letter from Hon. P. J. Veniot, Postmaster-General of the Dominion.

Emergency landing fields, beacons for night flying, and airports must be developed before regular mail flights over the mountains can be established, the minister pointed out.

The Government is going ahead with surveys of the route as rapidly as possible, however, he said.

The council passed a resolution, to be forwarded to Ottawa, pressing for action as soon as possible and asking for an appropriation in the 1930 budget to cover the cost of surveys.

Ice Causes Etobicoke River to Leave Course

ICE blocked in the Etobicoke River, Ontario, has caused the water to back up and flood the banks on either side. Large cakes of ice and slush water swirled about the cottages in the flats, rising to the windows in some places, but doing little actual damage south of the Toronto-Hamilton highway. North of the highway the ice and water submerged the Etobicoke tourist camp, overturning some of the small cabins. Damage of several thousand dollars may result to two large greenhouses situated near the camp. They were flooded to a depth of two feet, extinguishing the fire in the firebox. Thousands of sweet pea and snapdragon blooms in one of the houses may be lost. The photograph above shows the flooded tourist camp, with the greenhouses in the background.

Railroads Plan To Join Forces Under New Name

PERMISSION has been granted by the United States Interstate Commerce Commission for the Great Northern Railway to merge with the Northern Pacific under the name of Great Northern Pacific Railway, according to word received here yesterday.

Under the order, the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railway, now owned jointly by the two railways but assigned by the commission into the consolidation plan as head of a trunk line system of its own, would be divorced from unification of the two railways. This plan so far has met with opposition.

Mr. E. E. Blackwood is agent here for the Northern Pacific, and Mr. Alfred H. Hebb for the Great Northern. When the merger is completed there will be only one representative in the city.

TACOMA TUG HAS SUBMARINE PLANT

Andrew Foss Brings Lumber for Canadian Planter at Ogden Point

In command of Captain James M. Barr, the Foss Launch and Tug Company's towboat, Andrew Foss, arrived in the inner harbor at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon after having brought a scowload of lumber from Tacoma to Ogden Point for the Canadian Planter.

Built at Seattle in 1905, the Andrew Foss is 97.4 feet long, 22.9 feet in beam, 9 feet deep, of 125 tons gross and seventy-eight tons net. She is a two-masted craft with a crew of five men.

The craft's engine developing 400 indicated horsepower, is a rebuilt two-cycle, semi-Diesel plant taken out of a United States submarine.

OLD IRON TUG IS SOLD TO SEATTLE

GRAVE CHARGE OUT OF WRECK

Capt. Charles C. Graham Is Accused of Negligence in Case of Ss. Admiral Benson

INVESTIGATION IS HELD AT PORTLAND

(Associated Press)

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 25.—Charged with negligence as a result of an investigation into the stranding of the coastal steamer Admiral Benson, February 15, on Peacock Spit at the mouth of the Columbia River, Captain Charles C. Graham, master of the ill-fated vessel, will plead tomorrow before United States steamboat inspectors, F. K. Edthofer and John E. Wynn.

Captain Graham was formally charged by the inspectors late today following an all-day hearing, at which he explained the grounding under the intensive questioning of the two Government men. In case his plea tomorrow is guilty, he probably will be sentenced after the inspectors have reviewed today's testimony. If he pleads not guilty he will be tried on a charge of negligence, the inspectors sitting as a court.

In response to Inspector Edthofer's query at today's hearing as to "what was the cause of putting the ship on the north shore," Captain Graham answered, "misjudgment." He explained that, besides holding a master's licence, he is a pilot for Alaskan waters, Puget Sound and California ports, but not for the entrance to the Columbia River.

The captain testified it was his second trip on the Admiral Benson as master, and that he had entered the Columbia River once before, about twenty years ago. Replying to a question as to why he had not applied for a licence as pilot in the Columbia River, he said, "I thought I did not have the necessary qualifications."

"Then why," Edthofer asked, "if you could not qualify, did you attempt to bring a ship with 104 people aboard in?"

"I did not realize I was taking chances," Graham answered.

The steamboat inspectors explained the fact that the captain had no Columbia River pilot's licence did not enter into the charge because the accident occurred outside the mouth of the river.

Mr. D. G. Flint, third officer of the Admiral Benson, who was the first witness today, testified as to events preceding and following the grounding. He advanced no explanation of the accident, but said currents were strong and the fog heavy.

Mr. J. B. Edwards, first officer, also was a witness.

New Mission Boat Planned On West Coast

Provisional arrangements were made by the United Church Presbytery, in session here yesterday, for the placing of a new mission boat on the West Coast of Vancouver Island, which will operate out of Bamfield, and will if possible, be in charge of a medical missionary.

It was stated that at the peak of the season some 3,000 men were employed in the various canneries and other centres for which the nearest hospital service was at Port Alberni.

The boat is now being built under the supervision of Captain Oliver and will be about the same size as the well-known "Thomas Crosby," which has operated for some years in the Northern waters. The superintendent of home missions, Dr. George A. Wilson, spoke of the desirability of a hospital at some point on the West Coast, and that the matter should be considered by the United Church.

IN DRYDOCK HERE

For tank top riveting, the Japanese freighter Columbia Maru, Captain M. Imamura, was placed in the Esquimalt drydock at 7:30 o'clock yesterday morning. She will leave port some time this afternoon, according to King Brothers, agents for Mitsubishi Shoji Kaisha, the vessel's owners.

Arizona in Today

From Shanghai, Moji, Kobe, Osaka and Yokohama, the Osaka Shosen Kaisha liner, Arizona Maru, is expected at William Head quarantine station at noon today, according to Mr. Albert E. Shanks. She will reach Rithet piers shortly after 1 o'clock.

NOTICE TO MARINERS

SEEK JUSTICE

Whatever else you cast aside,
Impatient of beliefs outgrown,
Though youth's bright fabies may have died,
Its fancies flown,
Keep still this faith—that justice reigns
In all events, the great, the small.
That in each pattern life contains
Its touch must fail.
And when your puzzled soul rebels
Because of sorrows you must see,
Search out the secret that dispels
Each mystery.
Seek justice. You will find it moves
In every being's daily lot,
And by its final action proves
Divine, the plot.
